British Embassy Burned In Jakarta, Indonesia

Rioters Protest Support Given New Malaysia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Thousands of Indonesian rioters sacked and burned the British Embassy and attacked other British property Wednesday to protest Britain's support of Malaysia, an anti-Communist nation formed of four former colonies.

Britain reacted with a quick demand that President Sukarno's government immediately stop "such uncivilized behavior." Foreign Secretary Lord Home called in Indonesia's ambassador to London, Burhanudin Mopamad Diah, to deliver that demand.

The modern, three-story embassy building was a burned out shell. Its lawn was littered with the ashes of bonfires from looted papers and furnishings.

A grim methodical mob of more than 10,000 vented its wrath Malaysia!" and "Crush the British!"

Fire trucks that sought to reach the embassy were halted by the rioters. The mob commandered two of the trucks and used their ladders in tearing the British flag and the British emblem from the building.

Indonesian police made no move to block the destruction of property, but ferried British embassy officials to safety.

Witnesses said a group of 23, including women, was threatened at one point by rioters brandishing broken bottles. Three men and a woman, the pregnant wife of an embassy official, were reported cut and bruised.

British Ambassador Andrew G. Gilchrist escaped harm. Gilchrist's family found shelter at the nearby home of U.S. Ambassador Howard P.Jones.

Perhaps in response to Britain's demand, troops of the Jakarta garrison spread out across the smoky city after sundown to curb disorders.

Guard posts were established at various points in the first show of force since the outbreak of the rioting, a violent aftermath to stoning of the British and Malaysian embassies here Monday. In the interval, Malays had attacked the Indonesian Embassy in Kuala Lumpur, the Malaysian cpital.

President Takes Issue To People

Says Reduction Can Help End Unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, appearing Wednesday night for national support of an $11-billion tax cut, promised that "no wasteful, inefficient or unnecessary government activity will be tolerated" to supplement any economy-boosting tax reduction.

In a nationally televised and radio broadcast address, Kennedy tackled one of the principal arguments against his tax proposals—that lower tax revenues coupled with increasing federal spending might add up to a mounting deficit.

"We are pledged to a course of true fiscal responsibility, leading to a balanced budget in a balanced full-employment economy," he said.

It was in this connection that Kennedy said he favors tax reduction instead of deficit federal spending "as the principal means of boosting our economy."

Kennedy said Americans should "not be petty or partisan on matters such as this." Then he added:

"We are not talking politics—we are talking about more jobs and fewer recessions. We are talking about the future of our country, about its strength and growth and stability."

Debate Starts Tuesday

The tax reduction bill, which would reduce individual and corporation taxes by approximately $11 billion in two stages starting next Jan. 1, was cleared by the House Rules Committee Wednesday for floor debate starting next Tuesday.

No action has yet been taken by the Senate. The chance of a filibuster over civil rights legislation has raised the possibility that the Senate will not get around to the bill this year.

The President said the measure "is in danger of being weakened or deferred."

Appeals To People

Appealing directly to his listeners, Kennedy said the bill now pending in the House "needs your help, your voice."

"As the Congress prepared to vote on this issue, I strongly urge you to support this bill for your family's sake and for your country's sake," he said in concluding his talk.

Summing up reasons for approving what he termed "a sound bill" which the House will debate next week, Kennedy said:

—"A tax cut means new protection against another tragic recession." He said that without lower taxes, there is risk that the current prosperity may run out of gas.

—"A tax cut means more jobs for American workers" by increasing the buying power of consumers and investors. He said the new jobs, in turn, will effectively

Senate Treaty Vote Is Slated Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate agreed Wednesday to vote next Tuesday on ratification of the limited nuclear test ban treaty. President Kennedy declared it will be a "crucial" decision for peace.

The chief executive took the occasion of his nationally broadcast radio-television talk Wednesday night on tax legislation to make another appeal to the Senate for overwhelming approval of the pact.

"I have no doubt that the nuclear test ban treaty will be approved by the Senate by a margin large enough to show the world that the American people want a just peace," Kennedy said.

The agreement to outlaw all nuclear testing except that underground, Kennedy said, "is the first concrete limitation on the nuclear arms race since the bomb was first invented.

"It affords us a small sign of hope that war can be averted, that the terrible destructive power of nuclear weapons can be abolished before they abolish us, that our children can inhabit the world in which freedom is secure and the air is pure."

The Senate set 10:30 a.m., EDT, Tuesday for voting on ratification. It agreed to a talk-restricting timetable for Monday.

Under the unanimous agreement, the Senate will take up reservations, understandings and similar motions on Monday. Debate will be limited to one hour on each. Several have been proposed.

The agreement provides for six hours of general debate on the treaty itself. In effect, this means additional time may be parceled out for debate on individual reservations or understandings.

With the debate in its eighth day, most of the more vocal advocates and foes of the pact to ban all nuclear tests except underground have been heard at least once. But many other senators still want to have their say.

So far 81 senators have declared themselves in favor of the treaty or leaning toward it. If all 100 senators vote, it will take 67 affirmative votes for ratification.

Search Planes Seek Winged Spacecraft

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Search planes and ships went over a 20-mile patch of the Atlantic for the first U.S. winged spacecraft, which earlier Wednesday took a scorching rocket ride.

Air Force project officials hoped the delta-wing vehicle did not sink, but as the hours passed fear grew that perhaps it did.

Recovery of the 1,100-pound, 6-foot craft was considered essential in determining how well the vehicle withstood the jarring 20-minute journey in which a Thor rocket hurled it more than 35 miles high and sent it screaming back through the atmosphere at about 9,000 miles an hour.

The flight was the first in Project Asset, purpose of which is studying techniques and materials for developing manned spacecraft with wings — such as the Dyna-Soar orbiting glider and the Aerospace plane, which would go into orbit without rocket assist.

An Air Force spokesman said the hunt is concentrated in an area about 1,000 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral and 250 miles northeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

A radio beacon failed to send signals as intended when the Asset struck the water. This led to speculation that the craft may have sunk.

Floods Follow Cindy's Path

Thousands Flee Homes As Rain Tops 15 Inches

By CHARLES GREEN

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Thousands fled their homes Wednesday because of high water from cloudbursts triggered by sluggish Hurricane Cindy.

Cindy, now no more than a tropical storm, hovered north of Houston. Its circulating winds drew more rain over land from the Gulf of Mexico.

A late count showed 3,500 or more sheltered by relief agencies. Countless others sought refuge with relatives and friends.

A State Agriculture Department expert estimated losses to rice farmers might hit $1.8 million.

Heaviest reported rain was two feet at Deweyville, north of Orange. Deweyville suffered little as the water ran easily into the Sabine River.

Other late rain reports included nearly 20 inches at Orange and more than 15 inches at Beaumont.

Rain began tapering off around noon, but scattered showers still fell with the Weather Bureau predicting possibly 5 to 8 additional inches.

Some of the worst hit cities and towns reported water slowly receding.

Generally the water was not deep but where it was in homes it caused damage. Each passing truck or boat set up waves that caused still more damage.

Negro, White Pupils Battle At Jackson

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—A fight erupted Wednesday among several hundred white and Negro students at a new high school over the beating of a white youth.

A witness said one group of Negro students threw rocks at police and knocked at least one patrolman to the ground.

No injuries were reported.

Police said 10 Negro youths were arrested on disorderly conduct charges.

Ron Stratton, news director of radio station WIBM, who was at the scene, said police, tipped of possible after-school trouble, moved into a mob of several hundred white and Negro students when a number of girls began pushing each other.

Stratton said police followed a group of about 100 Negroes who began hurling stones at the officers and at homes and passing cars.

When one youth was seized, Stratton said, a number of his companions attacked several policemen.

Some 30 policemen finally dispersed the students.

Final Rites Held For 3 Bomb Victims

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Birmingham's Negro Community paid a solemn final tribute Wednesday to three of the four girls killed in last Sunday's church bombing.

Shortly before the services President Kennedy agreed to sit down with seven Negro leaders to discuss the city's tense racial situation.

One of the leaders voiced a new demand for federal troops, and said he would pass along the request Thursday to Kennedy.

The services for the three young girls — Denise McNair, 11, Cynthia Wesley, 14, and Addie May Collins, 14—began with an old revival hymn, "Shall We Meet."

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and the nation's top integration leader, delivered a tribute midway in the services between the singing of the hymn "He Leadeth Me," and "Beautiful Garden of Prayer."

Several thousand mourners crowded into the Sixth Avenue Baptist Church for the services.

The caskets containing the bodies of the three young victims were brought into the church well in advance of the ceremony.

Packed With Mourners

The main section of the church, the balcony and the streets around the building all were packed with mourners.

The three caskets were rested in the front of the church, one of them slightly forward of the other two.

Sunday school classmates served as flower bearers for the three young victims. The fourth child killed in the blast, Carol Robertson, was buried Tuesday.

In attendance at the funeral Wednesday was Roy Wilkins of New York, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

It was Wilkins' second trip to the South in three months to attend funerals of Negroes killed in the desegregation struggle.

Wilkins also was on hand for the funeral of Mississippi integration leader Medgar Evers last June 15 in Jackson, Miss. Evers

Kilmer Oak Is Gently Cut Down

By DAVID MAZZARELLA

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) —The famed Kilmer Oak, bare and rain-soaked under a steel gray sky, was gently cut down Wednesday amid praise of its inspirational qualities as a symbol of nature.

And it was found to be more than 100 years younger than had been believed; it succumbed at age 160 instead of 275.

Workmen sawed each twisted bough separately and lowered most to the ground with ropes. They paused for a half-hour ceremony eulogizing the tree and the poet Joyce Kilmer, believed to have been inspired by it.

When the day-long process was over, a massive stump was left. A plaque will be mounted on it in memory of Kilmer and his 12-line poem, "Trees."

The white oak died of old age despite long efforts to save it by agriculturalists at Rutgers University, which owns the land on which it stood.

The tree's estimated age was found to be far off by Richard F. West, professor of forestry. West counted the rings of the trunk.

He said the university has been overwhelmed with letters and most writers asked for pieces of the tree for mementos. The wood will be stored in a university building until officials decide what to do with all of it.

The ceremony ncluded recital of the poem, which opens:

"I think that I shall never see

Honduran Planes Bomb Guerrillas

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI)—President Ramon Villeda Morales told the foreign diplomatic corps Wednesday that Honduran air force planes have bombed "various" guerrilla encampments in the heavily wooded area of the Patuca River region.

The bombardments were carried out with undisclosed results early Tuesday after ground troops found abandoned guerrilla encampments, Villeda Morales said. He said Honduran aircraft were circling the region demanding by loudspeakers that rebel bands surrender.

Villeda Morales told foreign diplomats that the government has known for some time of the presence of "Communist" guerrilla bands in the interior, apparently awaiting an opportunity to invade Nicaragua.

Some Like Caramel, Others Peppermint

COMMACK, N.Y. (AP) — A month ago the Town Board decided to change the name of Caramel Road to Peppermint Road so that both ends of a winding street here would be named the same.

But Caramel residents bitterly complained they would have to change deeds, insurance papers, auto registrations and the like.

And residents of Candy Lane and Marshmallow Drive—which cross Peppermint, or Caramel, in a confusing confectionery of streets—protested that they couldn't very well tell delivery men that they live between Peppermint and Peppermint.

So the board sweetly changed things back.

Fischer Quints Out Of Danger Of Lung Membrane Ailment

ABERDEEN, S. D. (UPI) — The Fischer quintuplets' doctor said Wednesday the 4-day-old babies were out of danger of contracting the lung membrane ailment that claimed the life of President Kennedy's premature son.

Dr. James Berbos said, however, that the quints still suffer from weakness and general immaturity.

"But they are all doing fine—the same as yesterday," he said, "and they were much improved yesterday."

mother, Mrs. Mary Ann Fischer, 30, was well enough to be sent home Wednesday so far as her physical condition was concerned. But he said she would be kept in St. Luke's Hospital until the end of the week.

The physician implied that Mrs. Fischer was being kept within the seclusion of the hospital longer than medically necessary to protect her from the furore that the quintuplets' birth stirred up in this normally placid plains city.

Asked why she was not being released sooner, he said: "Well, it's not a medical reason." Then he looked at reporters, smiled and asked:

"When are you people going to go home?"

One of the fears voiced by medical experts had been that the four girls and one boy born early Saturday would succumb to the lung disease, common to premature babies, that caused the death of Patrick Bouvier Kennedy last month.

Berbos said the quintuplets' cent — "supersaturated," the doc-

Berbos indicated he believed this danger period was past.

The doctor said he had increased the food intake of James Andrew, the lone boy, and Mary Catherine, the girl born immediately before James Andrew.

"Mary Catherine and James Andrew cry louder and get hungrier than the rest," he said. "They are stronger and healthier."

The boy now is fed seven cc's of artificial milk formula every two hours. Mary Catherine gets six cc's. The three other girls receive five. All also are given one cc of tap water after their feedings to wash out the plastic nose tubes through which they are fed.

Berbos said he had not made plans to weigh the quintuplets. He said he was sure they had gained no weight since birth and probably, like most babies, had lost some.

Berbos said the quints "roll around in the bed" and sleep in their isolette incubators in which the humidity is kept at 100 per tors called it — and the temperature is maintained at just under 90 degrees.

The doctor reported that a baby food company has offered to finance a nurse in the Fischer home.

"With five of them, it's going to take special care when they get home," he said. "Mrs. Fischer is going to have to get some help, there's no question about that.

"I hope the family can lead a normal life," he added. "That's what I'm worried about."

Search Planes Seek Winged Spacecraft

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Search planes and ships went over a 20-mile patch of the Atlantic for the first U.S. winged spacecraft, which earlier Wednesday took a scorching rocket ride.

Air Force project officials hoped the delta-wing vehicle did not sink, but as the hours passed fear grew that perhaps it did.

Recovery of the 1,100-pound, 6-foot craft was considered essential in determining how well the vehicle withstood the jarring 20-minute journey in which a Thor rocket hurled it more than 35 miles high and sent it screaming back through the atmosphere at about 9,000 miles an hour.

The flight was the first in Project Asset, purpose of which is studying techniques and materials for developing manned spacecraft with wings — such as the Dyna-Soar orbiting glider and the Aerospace plane, which would go into orbit without rocket assist.

An Air Force spokesman said the hunt is concentrated in an area about 1,000 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral and 250 miles northeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

A radio beacon failed to send signals as intended when the Asset struck the water. This led to speculation that the craft may have sunk.

Thousands Flee Homes As Rain Tops 15 Inches

By CHARLES GREEN

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—Thousands fled their homes Wednesday because of high water from cloudbursts triggered by sluggish Hurricane Cindy.

Cindy, now no more than a tropical storm, hovered north of Houston. Its circulating winds drew more rain over land from the Gulf of Mexico.

A late count showed 3,500 or more sheltered by relief agencies. Countless others sought refuge with relatives and friends.

A State Agriculture Department expert estimated losses to rice farmers might hit $1.8 million.

Heaviest reported rain was two feet at Deweyville, north of Orange. Deweyville suffered little as the water ran easily into the Sabine River.

Other late rain reports included nearly 20 inches at Orange and more than 15 inches at Beaumont.

Rain began tapering off around noon, but scattered showers still fell with the Weather Bureau predicting possibly 5 to 8 additional inches.

Some of the worst hit cities and towns reported water slowly receding.

Generally the water was not deep but where it was in homes it caused damage. Each passing truck or boat set up waves that caused still more damage.

Negro, White Pupils Battle At Jackson

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—A fight erupted Wednesday among several hundred white and Negro students at a new high school over the beating of a white youth.

A witness said one group of Negro students threw rocks at police and knocked at least one patrolman to the ground.

No injuries were reported.

Police said 10 Negro youths were arrested on disorderly conduct charges.

Ron Stratton, news director of radio station WIBM, who was at the scene, said police, tipped of possible after-school trouble, moved into a mob of several hundred white and Negro students when a number of girls began pushing each other.

Stratton said police followed a group of about 100 Negroes who began hurling stones at the officers and at homes and passing cars.

When one youth was seized, Stratton said, a number of his companions attacked several policemen.

Some 30 policemen finally dispersed the students.

Fischer Quints Out Of Danger Of Lung Membrane Ailment

ABERDEEN, S. D. (UPI) — The Fischer quintuplets' doctor said Wednesday the 4-day-old babies were out of danger of contracting the lung membrane ailment that claimed the life of President Kennedy's premature son.

Dr. James Berbos said, however, that the quints still suffer from weakness and general immaturity.

"But they are all doing fine—the same as yesterday," he said, "and they were much improved yesterday."

mother, Mrs. Mary Ann Fischer, 30, was well enough to be sent home Wednesday so far as her physical condition was concerned. But he said she would be kept in St. Luke's Hospital until the end of the week.

The physician implied that Mrs. Fischer was being kept within the seclusion of the hospital longer than medically necessary to protect her from the furore that the quintuplets' birth stirred up in this normally placid plains city.

Asked why she was not being released sooner, he said: "Well, it's not a medical reason." Then he looked at reporters, smiled and asked:

"When are you people going to go home?"

One of the fears voiced by medical experts had been that the four girls and one boy born early Saturday would succumb to the lung disease, common to premature babies, that caused the death of Patrick Bouvier Kennedy last month.

Berbos said the quintuplets' cent — "supersaturated," the doc-

Berbos indicated he believed this danger period was past.

The doctor said he had increased the food intake of James Andrew, the lone boy, and Mary Catherine, the girl born immediately before James Andrew.

"Mary Catherine and James Andrew cry louder and get hungrier than the rest," he said. "They are stronger and healthier."

The boy now is fed seven cc's of artificial milk formula every two hours. Mary Catherine gets six cc's. The three other girls receive five. All also are given one cc of tap water after their feedings to wash out the plastic nose tubes through which they are fed.

Berbos said he had not made plans to weigh the quintuplets. He said he was sure they had gained no weight since birth and probably, like most babies, had lost some.

Berbos said the quints "roll around in the bed" and sleep in their isolette incubators in which the humidity is kept at 100 per tors called it — and the temperature is maintained at just under 90 degrees.

The doctor reported that a baby food company has offered to finance a nurse in the Fischer home.

"With five of them, it's going to take special care when they get home," he said. "Mrs. Fischer is going to have to get some help, there's no question about that.

"I hope the family can lead a normal life," he added. "That's what I'm worried about."

Bitter Debates Foreseen During Next Three Months

By MILTON BESSER

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) —The U.N.'s 21-nation Steering Committee recommended Wednesday a wide range of issues for debate in the General Assembly, including treatment of Buddhists in South Viet Nam and U. N. membership for Communist China.

It was apparent that despite the hopes for harmony stemming from the signature of the limited nuclear test ban treaty the assembly was heading into some bitter debate in the three months ahead.

All told the committee recommended 82 items for consideration by the assembly.

In an initial skirmish the committee refused to hear the views of South Viet Nam on consideration of the Buddhist issue.

Most members opposed the request on the grounds South Viet Nam's U.N. observer status did not entitle it to be heard.

There was no opposition to hearing from South Viet Nam when the issue comes up for debate either in the assembly or one of its committees under the heading of violation of human rights.

By a vote of 12 to 1 with 8 abstentions the committee recommended that the assembly take up the China representation issue as requested by Communist Albania Nationalist China cast the lone negative vote.

U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost said he would not object to debate in the assembly although the United States deemed it useless. Similar proposals on Red China went down to defeat in the past two years, and the outcome is not expected to be different this year.

Other issues recommended for assembly consideration include:

Racial policies of South Africa—The Soviet Union is sure to line up with Asian-African demands for expulsion of South Africa from the United Nations. The United States, while opposing South Africa's racial policies, is against such extreme measures.

Korea — Over Soviet objections the committee decided to recommend unification of Korea for the assembly agenda. This perennial issue has touched off bitter East-West exchanges.

—"A tax cut means new markets for American business" because Americans spend the great bulk of after-tax income.

Sees Balanced Budget

—"A tax cut means higher family incomes, higher business profits and a balanced federal budget." He argued that a rising national income would produce added tax revenues and that "prosperity will balance our budget."

Several hours earlier, Kennedy had endorsed the idea that the federal government should not spend heavily in an attempt to spur the economy if Congress does approve the substantial tax cut he has recommended.

Republicans Critical

Republican congressional leaders have been critical of the proposal as one which would, as House GOP Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana put it Wednesday, "cut taxes on borrowed money while increasing spending by the federal government."

"Obviously," Halleck said at a joint news conference with Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, "the President feels his personal appeal is necessary because of the established opposition of the American people to cutting atxes without cutting spending proposals, and by constantly adding new programs."

Dirksen, taking up the theme, said:

"If Mr. Kennedy wants public support for a tax cut, if Mr. Kennedy wants congressional support for a tax cut, then the President should actively help to cut spending now and he will get a tax reduction bill this year by a landslide vote."

Counter-Argument

In an obvious attempt to counter such arguments, Kennedy publicly endorsed a weekend statement by Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee which drafted the tax bill awaiting House action.

Mills, discussing a declaration of intent which he wrote and which the committee put into the bill, termed it "a firm, positive assertion" that the country prefers to approach a bigger economy by the road of tax reduction and private activity and that it rejects the alternative of heavy "pump-priming" spending.

Four Surviving Dionne Quintuplets Describe Very Unhappy Childhood

NEW YORK (AP) — The four remaining Dionne quintuplets say that despite the fortune their births brought in, their father made them clean the bathrooms and gave them only $2 monthly spending money in college.

The story of their childhood appears in the current issue of McCall's Magazine. Three of the 29-year old quints are married and mothers. The fourth is in a convent.

The fifth, Emilie, died in 1954 after an epileptic attack.

Discussing their home, to which they returned after spending their first seven years in a special government nursery at Callendar, Ont., they said: "It was the saddest home we ever knew."

The epilepsy that Emilie soon developed was closely guarded, they said, and the family regarded it as a "shameful thing."

The quints were kept apart from the rest of the family, they said, and made to feel a sense of guilt.

"If love begets love, guilt begets guilt," the story said. "The air of the big house was thick with it. Mom and Dad behaved toward each other as though they had been partners in some unspoken crime in bringing us into the world. We were drenched with a sense of having sinned from the hour of our birth."

The house, a mansion with 10 bedrooms and 5 bathrooms, was built near the farm house in which the family originally lived. It cost $75,000, not counting the furniture, the quints said.

Telling how they rejoined the family after their father, Oliva Dionne, won a long legal battle with Dr. Allan Dafoe, who delivered them, they said: "Dad wanted us and the quintuplet funds in his own exclusive custody. In the beginning, he needed money for the sake of the other children. But afterward, his fortunes improved. . . . it made no difference. By then, it was a matter of self esteem that he should win. We were such a prize. . ."

"We were transferred into the big house like a conquered army," they said. "One group of five, huddling together as if for protection against the other six brothers and sisters."

"Other members of the family went out of the way to say wounding things about us, how they had all been happier before we came into their lives."

Their mother and two maids did most of the work at first, the quints said, but soon their father put the children to work.

"All the children worked in theory," they said, "but in practice most of the chores seemed to fall on us. He had hired hands working in the fields for a while. We had to serve them meals in the kitchen, bolting down our food in the 10 minutes allowed us, so the men could eat on time."

"We had to scrub floors and clean bathrooms, every item of plumbing in them. We milked the cows and fed the chickens, enjoying the hours outdoors for the most part, because it was a joy to escape from close supervision."

When they later went to college, they said, they were given $2 a month and believed the money came from their father's pocket.

They said they were puzzled when they mentioned their financial straits to a mother superior and she told them they were "rich enough to buy the whole college if you cared to."

The parents, who still live in Callender, were reported out of town and could not be reached for comment.

In Toronto, Marie described the McCall's story as "True, true, true."

She made the comment in a telephone interview with the Toronto Telegram from her home in a suburb of Montreal.

Her statement was echoed by the husband of Annette, Germain Allard of St. Bruno, Que., who said the magazine article is "correct in every detail."

The Telegram story quotes Allard, a finance company manager and spokesman for the quints, as saying they were not blaming anybody, but just "trying to set the record straight."

Allard said the quints were satisfied with their financial returns of nearly $1 million from the joint handling of their affairs by their father and the Ontario government, "but they don't know the value of money the way they were brought up."

He denied estrangement of the quints from their parents, but said "it must be two years" since they had seen one another.

The quints got their money when they turned 21 in 1955. The Ontario government, which had held the estate in trust, turned over about $250,000 to each of the four surviving sisters.

In advance of the funeral the White House announced that President Kennedy had agreed to a conference requested by King for the purpose of discussing Birmingham's racial situation. Six other Negro leaders, besides King will attend.

Bombings Brought Denunciations

The bombing stirred emotions around the world and brought denunciations from official Washington and from within the state of Alabama itself. Segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace offered a $5,000 reward for capture of the bombers.

King has said Wallace must shoulder part of the blame for the bombing because of his attitude toward desegregation matters, and there has been talk of a Negro march on the state capitol at Montgomery to present a black wreath to Wallace.

The Montgomery march was proposed at a Negro meeting in Birmingham Monday night. The idea quickly won approval of the 1,000 in attendance, but Negro leaders later were vague on when it actually would be staged.

Sen. Randolph Supports Test Ban Treaty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., said Wednesday that the nuclear test ban treaty may create "a new climate of understanding" between this nation and the Soviet Union.

Randolph said the treaty would be a "concrete step in the direction of a possible new destiny for mankind. He added that it is not required that we "trust" the Russian leaders, "only that we assume they are rational men not bent on self-destruction."

In a speech before the Senate he said, "this is the same assumption of rationality which guides our military strategy."

Randolph said ratification of the treaty "will signify for the first time since World War II that the interest in survival which we hold in common may, on occasion, override the issues which separate us.

"Perhaps this recognition of mutual self-interest in the test ban treaty can guide us toward other areas of accommodation in the future and thereby advance the realization of our desire for peace," he said.

Randolph said "the goal is worth the hazard because the overwhelming aspiration of the American people, of the Soviet people, and of most humanity, is for world peace.

"The proposed test ban treaty offers a slight but significant move in that direction," he said, "and for this reason I shall vote for ratification."

Randolph agreed "there are risks involved in the ratification of the test ban treaty than with the almost certain prospect of eventual nuclear holocaust if the present tendency is not altered," he added.

"I would rather live with the

Army Awards Design Contract To Build Nuclear Power Reactor For The Moon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army Engineers Wednesday awarded a $430,000 contract for designing a fuel-creating nuclear power reactor that can be sent to the moon.

The contract went to the Westinghouse astro-nuclear laboratory of Pittsburgh, Pa., which will first estimate the power needs of a manned lunar base and then design a rocket-transportable nuclear generator.

Previous studies have indicated that the moon may contain subsurface water which could be broken down into hydrogen and oxygen, one of the standard rocket fuel combinations. But the Army clearly had in mind also fuels that could be used for vehicles at a lunar base.

The entire power system will be designed for transport to the moon in a single Saturn V space craft of the type designed to carry three men to the moon by 1970 in the civilian space agency's Apollo program.

Bombings Brought Denunciations

The bombing stirred emotions around the world and brought denunciations from official Washington and from within the state of Alabama itself. Segregationist Gov. George C. Wallace offered a $5,000 reward for capture of the bombers.

King has said Wallace must shoulder part of the blame for the bombing because of his attitude toward desegregation matters, and there has been talk of a Negro march on the state capitol at Montgomery to present a black wreath to Wallace.

The Montgomery march was proposed at a Negro meeting in Birmingham Monday night. The idea quickly won approval of the 1,000 in attendance, but Negro leaders later were vague on when it actually would be staged.

Sen. Randolph Supports Test Ban Treaty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W. Va., said Wednesday that the nuclear test ban treaty may create "a new climate of understanding" between this nation and the Soviet Union.

Randolph said the treaty would be a "concrete step in the direction of a possible new destiny for mankind. He added that it is not required that we "trust" the Russian leaders, "only that we assume they are rational men not bent on self-destruction."

In a speech before the Senate he said, "this is the same assumption of rationality which guides our military strategy."

Randolph said ratification of the treaty "will signify for the first time since World War II that the interest in survival which we hold in common may, on occasion, override the issues which separate us.

"Perhaps this recognition of mutual self-interest in the test ban treaty can guide us toward other areas of accommodation in the future and thereby advance the realization of our desire for peace," he said.

Randolph said "the goal is worth the hazard because the overwhelming aspiration of the American people, of the Soviet people, and of most humanity, is for world peace.

"The proposed test ban treaty offers a slight but significant move in that direction," he said, "and for this reason I shall vote for ratification."

Randolph agreed "there are "I would rather live with the risks involved in the ratification of the test ban treaty than with the almost certain prospect of eventual nuclear holocaust if the present tendency is not altered," he added.

The father, Martin, 47, is an auto salesman.

Charles Cartwright, hospital administrator, said, "There will be no fees charged whatsoever."

Army Awards Design Contract To Build Nuclear Power Reactor For The Moon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army Engineers Wednesday awarded a $430,000 contract for designing a fuel-creating nuclear power reactor that can be sent to the moon.

The contract went to the Westinghouse astro-nuclear laboratory of Pittsburgh, Pa., which will first estimate the power needs of a manned lunar base and then design a rocket-transportable nuclear generator.

Previous studies have indicated that the moon may contain subsurface water which could be broken down into hydrogen and oxygen, one of the standard rocket fuel combinations. But the Army clearly had in mind also fuels that could be used for vehicles at a lunar base.

The entire power system will be designed for transport to the moon in a single Saturn V space craft of the type designed to carry three men to the moon by 1970 in the civilian space agency's Apollo program.

Sharp Earthquake Shakes Istanbul

ISTANBUL (AP) — A sharp earthquake struck Istanbul and most of western Turkey Wednesday, killing at least one person and injuring several others.

Firemen still were digging for other victims.

Many tourists at the Istanbul Hilton Hotel ran outside after the nine-story building began to sway.

Villages along the Black Sea and around the Sea of Maramara were reported hit hard, but there were no immediate reports of serious damage or casualties.

Western Electric Firm Employing Many Negroes

BALTIMORE (AP) — H. I. Romnes, president of Western Electric Co., said Wednesday his firm has added "many hundreds" of Negroes to its work force since signing an anti-discrimination pledge two years ago.

He said the firm had accomplished this without major incident, compromised work standards or loss of efficiency.

"To my mind, making equal opportunity come true is one of the most urgent tasks of management today," Romnes said in a speech to the Advertising Club of Baltimore.

He said the signing of the pledge with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, head of the President's Commission on Equal Employment Opportunity, "confirmed our established policies of hiring, training and advancing employes on the basis of qualifications alone."

But Romnes added there is still the problem of a shortage of Negro applicants with the skills and aptitudes for industrial employment. Business should help solve this problem, he said.

"What is needed — to help redress the effects of generations of economic, social and educational deprivation — is business leadership at the community level, men of good sense and good will," he said.

Businessmen should help find constructive solutions "to divisive situations," develop practical vocational training and placement procedures for each community's specific needs, and offer counsel to young people about to quit school "because they feel our economy has no particular use for them," he said.

State To Share In Fallout Funds

PIKESVILLE, Md. (AP)—Maryland would get about $2 million or more under the fall-out shelter bill passed by the House, the State Civil Defense Agency estimated Wednesday.

Agency officials said the estimate was based on distribution of funds on a population basis. If enacted by the Senate and signed by President Kennedy, the measure would provide $175 million to finance additional shelter space throughout the nation.

Local civil defense officials, working with assistance from the State agency, would prepare plans for use of the funds, then apply to the federal government for grants.

Maryland Briefs

BALTIMORE (AP) — If the powder stays dry, Fort McHenry will be bombarded again Sunday.

The mock bombardment commemorating repulsion of the British 149 years ago had to be postponed last Sunday because of rain.

A United States destroyer escort will represent the British Navy in its attempt to invade Baltimore during the War of 1812. A National Guard artillery battery will defend the fort, successfully again it is expected.

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Maryland's second institution for special treatment of delinquent children was dedicated Wednesday by Gov. Tawes.

The 40-bed facility is named after Thomas J. S. Waxter, late state director of welfare. The first center opened in 1959 in Baltimore County has 59 beds.

The centers make recommendations on children at the request of juvenile court judges. The children are detained in the centers while awaiting disposition of their cases.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Maryland congressman said Wednesday Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York has a lot of nerve to seek votes in Harford County, Md., while trying to raid its industries.

Rep. Clarence D. Long, D-Md., also had an unkind word for Harford County Republicans who have invited Rockefeller to Bel Air this fall.

"It ill behooves Mr. Rockefeller to bid for Harford County support for the Presidency when he is currently attempting a raid on Harford County industry," Long said.

The congressman said the governor leads the opposition to an army plan for a $2,147,000 nuclear reactor at Aberdeen (Md.) Proving Ground.

"Rockefeller, through the New York state atomic energy commission, has asked that the government lease a proposed New York facility which is less advanced than the Aberdeen reactor, but will cost the government $471,000 a year more than the Harford County facility."

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP) — Washington College has been awarded a $350,000 grant by the Longwood Foundation for its reconstruction and modernization program.

Dr. Daniel Z. Gibson, president of the college, said Wednesday the grant was the biggest yet received under the current campaign for its $10 million development program.

MARTINSBURG, W.Va. (AP) — Apple offerings are still fairly light but increasing in the four-State Appalachian belt, the field office of the Federal-State Market News Service reported Wednesday.

Maryland Traffic Toll Reaches 413

BALTIMORE (AP)—Vanessa V. Bland, 7, of Baltimore, was fatally injured Wednesday when she was struck by a car while crossing a street near her home.

The death increased the state's traffic toll for the year to 413, as compared with 402 on the same date a year ago.

Interfaith Group Urges Maryland's Congressmen To Support Civil Rights

BALTIMORE (AP) — An interfaith group of clergymen urged Maryland Congressmen Wednesday to support a strong civil rights bill because of the Birmingham Sunday school bombing.

"The rising racial tension makes it imperative that the bill be passed immediately," said the executive board of the Clergymen Interfaith Committee of Baltimore in a telegram to the congressmen.

The group — which includes Catholic, Protestant and Jewish clergymen — also called on all pastors and rabbis in the Baltimore area to lead their congregations in prayer "for the families of the (Birmingham) victims and all who are suffering as a result of the tragedy."

The clergymen's action was announced after Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin ordered city flags flown at half-mast Sunday and the Congress of Racial Equality said it would hold a commemorative march the same day.

"Like a massive shock treatment," McKeldin said in a press statement, "their (the Birmingham victims') deaths must jolt the national conscience and remain seared there as a vivid symbol of the inevitable effects of bigotry and intolerance."

A CORE official said the march would commemorate the four girls killed in the Sunday school bombing and William Moore, the Baltimore mailman slain in Alabama. Baltimore mailman slain in Alabama last spring during a hike to dramatize his plea for integration.

Accommodation Law Studied By Appeals Court

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The State Court of Appeals took under consideration Wednesday an appeal from a lower court ruling which knocked down a Baltimore City public accommodations ordinance.

Judge Edwin Harlan of Baltimore Superior Court ruled last January that the Baltimore ordinance was invalid because it conflicted with the state trespass law.

In a brief filed Wednesday with the Court of Appeals, the city asked that the lower court decision be reversed, contending that there is no conflict between the two laws.

There were no oral arguments before the court and no indication of when a decision might be handed down.

The Maryland Constitution provides that local laws cannot conflict with state law, and the decision of the high court could determine whether other Maryland cities can pass legislation requiring service to all races.

The question has never been ruled on by the Court of Appeals. However, Robert S. Bourbon, assistant attorney general, said he does not believe the two laws are in conflict. He said research into the problem indicated that the state trespass law and local public accommodations measures could both exist at the same time.

Pressman Dislikes Ice Cream Trucks

BALTIMORE (AP)—City Comptroller Hyman A. Pressman, irked because "ice cream trucks persist in ringing their bells after dark," called on police Wednesday to enforce a law against it.

Pressman, in a letter to Police Commissioner Bernard Schmidt, cited a Maryland law prohibiting, with certain exceptions, the installation of any siren, whistle or bell on motor vehicles. The exceptions involved emergency vehicles and theft-alarms.

"The bells on ice cream trucks are illegal and their use is illegal," Pressman told Schmidt.

Program, Announcements Mark BPW Club Dinner

In a keynote speech at the regular dinner meeting of the Cumberland Business and Professional Women's Club, Miss Margaret King stressed the challenge of change in today's living, the role of women in the changing picture, and importance of their becoming well informed to accept the "responsibility of full partnership," which is the national theme. The meeting was Tuesday evening at Central YMCA.

Speaking of the change in education, Miss Nell Hawkins mentioned the change in idea teaching to experimentation; the "nongraded" school, the 11-month school year; and the physical aspects of the new school buildings.

L. J. Hahn, supervisor of music for Allegany County schools, speaking of the challenge of change in music, pointed out the shift in public schools from orchestra to band emphasis, and indicated the new trend towards folk music. He pointed out how all people are affected by the influences of TV music, offices are experimenting with "work music," and now music is accepted as therapy for mental health. Mr. Hahn's conclusion was: "Truly, music is the humanities' safeguard."

Miss Gerardine Pritchard presented the 1963 scholarship winners, Miss Reta Keller, winner of the scholarship to Frostburg State College; and Miss Janice White, winner of the scholarship to Allegany Community College.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A friend of mine has an irritating habit. If you say her behavior is acceptable I will try to overlook it. Please reply in the paper because I know of others who wonder about this person, too.

She is forever turning over the china to see if it is the genuine stuff. She examines silver the same way. I've seen her fingering my table linen and my draperies to determine the quality of fabric. Most people can look at a picture and enjoy it but not her. She has to touch it to see if it's really done in oil.

I will admit the woman is cultured, refined and knowledgeable but this habit of hers raises my blood pressure. Will you please comment?—PLAIN FOLKS

DEAR FOLKS: I do not agree that the woman is cultured and refined. Cultured and refined people do not examine articles for hallmarks nor do they handle fabrics to test the quality while visiting in the homes of friends. And I don't agree that she is knowledgeable. If the woman knew her stuff she wouldn't have to touch and scrutinize everything. She'd know.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our seven-year-old son has been taking odds and ends from the homes of neighbors and friends. Sometimes he takes objects from the nearby novelty store or the drug store. He doesn't need, or even want, many of the items he takes. He just enjoys carrying things off without being caught. When he brings the stolen objects home he proudly presents them to me.

I have scolded him repeatedly and explained that it is wrong to steal. I always insist that he take each object back and leave it somewhere on the premises. After he has returned everything he tells me, and I then forgive him.

His father learned of this yesterday. Strangely enough the boy blurted out, "Let's tell daddy our secret." My husband was shocked and then furious. He says something must be done but we don't know what. It was his idea to write you. Can you help?

—TROUBLED HOUSE

DEAR TROUBLED: Without meaning to, you have encouraged the boy's stealing by making a game of it. He doesn't see anything wrong with sneaking things OUT so long as he is able to sneak them back in.

You must tell him that if he takes anything else he will have to hand it to the owner and confess that he stole it. Go along with him to make sure he does it.

If this does not cure him, the boy needs professional help. Youngsters who steal usually have deep-seated emotional problems.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Six months ago our office supervisor took up a collection to buy a gift for a girl who was getting married and leaving the office. The girl said the gift was too bulky to carry home on public transportation but she promised to drive in the following week and pick it up. The gift is still in the office and none of us have received a thank you note. It seems evident that this girl has no intention of picking up the gift and that she cares nothing for it.

It's too late to return the gift for a refund. We've asked the supervisor to please do something about the gift but still it sits here. If you have any suggestions we'd like to hear them—since everyone's money is involved.

—PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: The supervisor should phone the girl and tell her if she doesn't come for the gift within the week it will be auctioned off to the highest bidder. Then put it on the block.

Confidential to NO HORSE SENSE: Hundreds of readers have written to say there IS a book which can smarten you up on "horse-talk." It is "The Horseman's Encyclopedia" by Margaret Cabell Self. Your library has it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Elisabeth Michael Is Bride Of Joseph Daniels

Miss Elisabeth Ann Michael, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Michael, Carrollton, Mo., and granddaughter of Mrs. Benjamin L. Moreland, 407 Decatur Street, became the bride of Joseph Ames Daniels, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Daniels, Carrollton, September 1.

The ceremony was solemnized in the Southside Baptist Church, with the father of the bride officiating. Wrought iron screens, entwined with greenery, candelabra and tall baskets of white gladioli formed the background.

The bride had her sister, Miss Margaret Jane Michael, as her maid of honor; Miss Jane Ray Huddleston and Miss Carolyn Mertens, bridesmaids. William Dye, Kansas City, served as his cousin's best man. Martin Dye, Kansas City and Lynn Tatlow, Warrensburg were groomsmen. James Wilson and Gary Shull, ushers. Mrs. Lloyd Taylor played the organ and accompanied Rev. Harry Higgins of Slater, Mo., vocalist.

Given in marriage by her brother, John Paul Michael, the bride was attired in a white gown of silk organza over taffeta, fashioned with elongated bodice, with scooped neckline and elbow-length sleeves. The floor-length skirt was accented by motifs of organza rose petals. A crown of pearls and iridescent sequin held her veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of gardenias and white sweetheart roses. A string of pearls and matching earrings, gift of the bridegroom, completed her costume.

Her maid of honor wore a gown of twilight blue crystalline and the bridesmaids, bronzene crystalline, made complementary to the bride's. With them they wore beige slippers, pearl tiaras, and carried bouquets of tangerine carnations.

The reception followed in the friendship room. The table was covered with pale blue net over a blue cloth and encircled with lily of the valley. A miniature church of icing with bride and bridegroom adorned the four-tiered wedding cake, which was decorated in pale yellow and green.

After a trip to the Ozarks the couple will reside at 402 South College, Warrensburg, Mo.

Our Flag of Cumberland Council 100, Daughters of America, will meet at 8 tonight at the Junior Order hall. A games party will be held at 1:30 p. m. today in the IOOF hall, Virginia Avenue.

How Do You Bend?

A young grandmother writes: "Last week I stooped over to pick up some toys from the floor and couldn't get back up to standing position. I suffered for days! My husband said I should sort of sit when I lift up some object, but I always bend from the waist and try to keep my knees straight. Who is right?"

Muscular strain can give you excruciating pain and I am glad you had this discussion with your husband who suggested you write us. We can prevent a repetition of such unpleasantness and can help others with your painful experience.

The trick is to use your body as Nature planned you should and apply the rules of good posture to whatever you do. If you do, tirelessness and grace will attend you instead of pain, fatigue and awkwardness. Be sure to remember this each time you start to stoop or retrieve an object. The natural and logical way to take the stoop out of stooping it to stand with the feet a pace apart with the weight on the balls of the feet. Stand to one side of the object on the floor. Now bend the knees and sort of sit until you can easily grasp what you wish to pick up, then rise v-e-r-y slowly. The important thing, also, is to remember to keep the back and head erect throughout this entire motion.

Whether you're working around the house or at the office, the above technique will prevent backaches and that "get-a-derrick" effect. Just watch someone that plops over from the waist and see what a ludicrous spectacle they make of themselves. And, if they get a crook in their back, that's far from funny.

THE SCALE NEVER LIES . . . DARN IT! But what it says can be more pleasant if you start now on the idealizing program detailed in the handy pamphlet, "How Much Should You Weigh?" A copy of this program for figure-perfection can be yours for 10c when you enclose a stamped, return envelope along with your request addressed to John Robert Powers, c/o this newspaper.

Salon Operators Reminisce About 'Mr. Charles'

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Quick, now. What man ran his hands through the locks of Ina Claire, Barbara Hutton, Marie Dressler, Jean Harlowe and Grace Moore?

The same year females got the vote the man — French, of course — set up shop in a New York hotel.

The women who went to him for help led by an avant-garde contingent of famous females who made their livings "on the stage" —as it was called then.

The man: Charles Jundt. He operated a "beauty chamber" in the Ritz Carlton Hotel. He became known as Charles of the Ritz.

He felt that his salon, like a woman's boudoir, was private. Secrecy was absolute.

But not all Jundt's secrets passed into darkness with his passing back in '45. Today there are over a dozen operators in the New York salons originally hired by "Mr. Charles" himself 30 years ago. They remember.

They reminisce about Ina Claire, a beautiful comedienne known for her charm and great wit, who at the time was also known for her Marcel hairdo created by Charles of the Ritz.

Whenever a woman would complain about the discomfort a permanent or hair coloring entailed in those days, Mr. Charles would say soothingly in French:

"Ah, but to be beautiful, it is necessary to suffer a little."

Other glamorous clients included Maxine Elliot, Vilet Hamming, Marjorie Rambeau and the theatrical Bennets —Joan, Constance, Barbara and their mother, Mrs. Richard Bennet.

At the opening of his Boston salon, Mr. Charles styled Miss Eliabeth Arden's hair. The two overlords of beauty were great friends.

Mrs. Murray announced that all chairmen and committees will be selected at this meeting and plans will be made for the tournaments to be held this year.

Everyone is invited to attend this meeting and each women's bowling league at the Bowler, White Oak Lanes, Del's Bowling Lanes and the Potomac Valley Lanes, Keyser, is asked to have at least one representative there.

FIRST ENTRY IN HORSE SHOW—Brenan Nierman was the first entry in the Allegany Saddle Club Horse Show, which will be held at the Cumberland Fair grounds September 29, beginning at 1 p. m. He will take part in the second class, "Riders of Tomorrow," following the opening "Costume Class" for juniors. Brenan is shown on Buck, owned by the C. L. Riley Stables.

Opening lead: Jack of ♡

Declarer permitted a juicy plum to slip from his grasp when he failed to select the best line of play in today's slam contract.

The slam was reached on an aggressive but nevertheless reasonable sequence of bids. South's jump to three spades was based in part on the distributional fit with partner's clubs. Had North's original response been in South's void suit, hearts, a mere two spade rebid by the latter would be considered adequate.

North had an opening bid himself and, when South jumped on the second round, a slam try was in order. Since North had no feature bid available, his invitation took the form of a leap beyond game to five spades. Holding first round control of both unbid suits, South proceeded to slam.

The opening lead was the jack of hearts which declarer ruffed. It appeared to him that there was nothing more to the hand than trumping out his losing diamonds, so he proceeded to cash the king and ace of diamonds and ruff the third round in dummy. A heart ruff put him back in his hand to trump the last diamond. He now had to shorten himself a third time in hearts in order to come off dummy, and this left him with only three spades. When the trumps broke badly, South wound up a trick short of his goal.

Declared required a favorable division in both diamonds and spades in order to succeed. A better line of play would have been to establish the dummy's club suit. After ruffing the opening lead, South pulls trumps in four rounds. Now a club is led to the ace. When the queen falls from East's hand, declarer must proceed with caution. A small club is returned and the ten forces out West's jack. When South regains the lead, he takes the marked finesse thru West's nine of clubs to establish dummy's suit for two diamond discards.

Bible Class Discusses Anniversary Of Church

Gifts were made and socials were planned at the meeting of the Mary-Martha Bible Class of Grace Baptist Church held Tuesday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. Randolph Keefe, with Mrs. Thomas L. Rudd presiding. Mrs. Adelbert N. Billings had the devotional using the theme "The Art of Getting Into Trouble."

The class pledged $35 to the building fund for the church birthday offering. Gifts of clothing will be brought to the church to be sent to the Baptist Children's Aid of Baltimore. A love gift was given for Mrs. Roy D. Gresham, wife of the Maryland Baptist executive secretary. Another gift will be sent to the 16th Street Baptist Church of Birmingham, Ala. Committees were appointed to care for the sanctuary flower vases, flags, and class curtains. The class will also provide flowers for the 30th anniversary of the church on October 13, when Dr. F. Bredahl Petersen of Baltimore will be the speaker.

Salon Operators Reminisce About 'Mr. Charles'

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Quick, now. What man ran his hands through the locks of Ina Claire, Barbara Hutton, Marie Dressler, Jean Harlowe and Grace Moore?

The same year females got the vote the man — French, of course — set up shop in a New York hotel.

The women who went to him for help led by an avant-garde contingent of famous females who made their livings "on the stage" —as it was called then.

The man: Charles Jundt. He operated a "beauty chamber" in the Ritz Carlton Hotel. He became known as Charles of the Ritz.

He felt that his salon, like a woman's boudoir, was private. Secrecy was absolute.

But not all Jundt's secrets passed into darkness with his passing back in '45. Today there are over a dozen operators in the New York salons originally hired by "Mr. Charles" himself 30 years ago. They remember.

They reminisce about Ina Claire, a beautiful comedienne known for her charm and great wit, who at the time was also known for her Marcel hairdo created by Charles of the Ritz.

Whenever a woman would complain about the discomfort a permanent or hair coloring entailed in those days, Mr. Charles would say soothingly in French:

"Ah, but to be beautiful, it is necessary to suffer a little."

Other glamorous clients included Maxine Elliot, Vilet Hamming, Marjorie Rambeau and the theatrical Bennets —Joan, Constance, Barbara and their mother, Mrs. Richard Bennet.

At the opening of his Boston salon, Mr. Charles styled Miss Eliabeth Arden's hair. The two overlords of beauty were great friends.

Women Bowlers Meet Sunday

Mrs. Murray announced that all chairmen and committees will be selected at this meeting and plans will be made for the tournaments to be held this year.

Everyone is invited to attend this meeting and each women's bowling league at the Bowler, White Oak Lanes, Del's Bowling Lanes and the Potomac Valley Lanes, Keyser, is asked to have at least one representative there.

20 Children Enter Saddle Club Show

The Lead Line Class in the Allegany Saddle Club Horse Show September 29th, has been filled with twenty entries Mrs. Jean Vaughan, show chairman, reports. This is a class for riders six years or under, riding either a pony or horse which is led by an adult. Future show riders form this class. Every child participating will receive a trophy and ribbon.

Riders in this class will be: Laurene Fielding, John (Scooter) Meyers, Leslie Blackburn of Lonaconing; Kim McNemar, Rawlings; Debbie Sue Paddleford, Cresaptown; Mark and Cheryl Smith of Keyser, W. Va.; Kathleen Moran of Westernport; David and Carroll Hetrick of Grantsville; and Jane Cessna, Greg Benjack, Floyd W. Kaylor III, Brenan and Blaine Nierman, Jan Lynn and Lynn Marie Rice, Lana DeWitt and Warren Smith, all of Cumberland.

Other classes are filling rapidly and exhibitors are reminded to get their entries to Mrs. Phyllis Reed, show secretary, as soon as possible.

Max Kline of Cumberland has been selected to be the official photographer of the show and Mr. Mickey Welsh of Cumberland will be the organist and provide the show music necessary for a fast moving parade of horses.

Opening lead: Jack of ♡

Declarer permitted a juicy plum to slip from his grasp when he failed to select the best line of play in today's slam contract.

The slam was reached on an aggressive but nevertheless reasonable sequence of bids. South's jump to three spades was based in part on the distributional fit with partner's clubs. Had North's original response been in South's void suit, hearts, a mere two spade rebid by the latter would be considered adequate.

North had an opening bid himself and, when South jumped on the second round, a slam try was in order. Since North had no feature bid available, his invitation took the form of a leap beyond game to five spades. Holding first round control of both unbid suits, South proceeded to slam.

The opening lead was the jack of hearts which declarer ruffed. It appeared to him that there was nothing more to the hand than trumping out his losing diamonds, so he proceeded to cash the king and ace of diamonds and ruff the third round in dummy. A heart ruff put him back in his hand to trump the last diamond. He now had to shorten himself a third time in hearts in order to come off dummy, and this left him with only three spades. When the trumps broke badly, South wound up a trick short of his goal.

Declared required a favorable division in both diamonds and spades in order to succeed. A better line of play would have been to establish the dummy's club suit. After ruffing the opening lead, South pulls trumps in four rounds. Now a club is led to the ace. When the queen falls from East's hand, declarer must proceed with caution. A small club is returned and the ten forces out West's jack. When South regains the lead, he takes the marked finesse thru West's nine of clubs to establish dummy's suit for two diamond discards.

New Hampshire GOP Primary May Tip Rockefeller Scales

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The GOP looks like fertile territory now for a stop-Goldwater movement, but knowledgeable Republicans doubt that any will ripen until after the New Hampshire presidential primary next March.

By then, however, it could be too late to stop Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona from moving on to wrap up the presidential nomination.

Although neither of the candidates has announced his availability yet, the New Hampshire primary is expected to bring a collision between Goldwater and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Doubts Persist

Doubts persist inside the GOP that Rockefeller, the former pacesetter, can recover the ground he lost after his remarriage in May.

If the Rockefeller cause appears hopeless during the presidential primary season next spring, Gov. George Romney of Michigan now appears the most likely beneficiary of support from anti-Goldwater Republicans.

GOP leaders have been impressed with Romney's showing in public opinion polls. Without the buildup and publicity accorded to Goldwater, Romney has shown about the same strength as the Arizona senator in trial runs against President Kennedy.

The Rockefeller camp has passed the word to Republicans here that he is in the race to stay and will not bow out as he did in December, 1959, seven months before the 1960 convention.

Significant Primaries

Party leaders have been told that the New York governor is interested primarily in winning the first and last significant presidential primaries — New Hampshire in March and California in June.

These assurances have been accepted as sincere. But some Republicans wonder if Rockefeller would undertake a California campaign which might cost $750,000 unless his prospects improve meanwhile.

Despite the Goldwater surge this summer, there is a conspicuous tendency on the part of many Republicans to refrain from climbing on his bandwagon. They are waiting to see whether the Goldwater campaign may be derailed by some political blunder or by a strong movement to Rockefeller or another potential competitor.

Some also are waiting to see if former president Dwight D. Eisenhower or former vice-president Richard M. Nixon attempt a kingmaker move. Eisenhower is reported to be cool toward Rockefeller and to have irreconcilable differences with Goldwater over defense and foreign policy.

Gov. Scranton Approves Dam At Sunbury, Pa.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania gave his approval Tuesday to proposed construction of a collapsible dam on the Susquehanna River at Sunbury, Pa.

The dam is to provide a recreational site for that area.

The governor announced his decision at a brief meeting with Rep. Adam T. Bower, Northumberland County Republican.

"It (the dam project) is in line," the governor said, "with the administration's plans and desires for the full implementation of the river for the usefulness of the people in every respect."

Bower had no comment on the project.

The dam, costing an estimated $920,000, is to be financed with receipts from oil and gas leases to private industry on state-owned land.

Money probably won't be available until sometime next year but the forests and waters department will proceed with plans for the structure in the meantime.

Designed by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., the 2,100-foot-long dam will consist of rubberized balloon-like sections which can be inflated or deflated as needed.

Doubts Persist

Doubts persist inside the GOP that Rockefeller, the former pacesetter, can recover the ground he lost after his remarriage in May.

If the Rockefeller cause appears hopeless during the presidential primary season next spring, Gov. George Romney of Michigan now appears the most likely beneficiary of support from anti-Goldwater Republicans.

GOP leaders have been impressed with Romney's showing in public opinion polls. Without the buildup and publicity accorded to Goldwater, Romney has shown about the same strength as the Arizona senator in trial runs against President Kennedy.

The Rockefeller camp has passed the word to Republicans here that he is in the race to stay and will not bow out as he did in December, 1959, seven months before the 1960 convention.

Significant Primaries

Party leaders have been told that the New York governor is interested primarily in winning the first and last significant presidential primaries — New Hampshire in March and California in June.

These assurances have been accepted as sincere. But some Republicans wonder if Rockefeller would undertake a California campaign which might cost $750,000 unless his prospects improve meanwhile.

Despite the Goldwater surge this summer, there is a conspicuous tendency on the part of many Republicans to refrain from climbing on his bandwagon. They are waiting to see whether the Goldwater campaign may be derailed by some political blunder or by a strong movement to Rockefeller or another potential competitor.

Some also are waiting to see if former president Dwight D. Eisenhower or former vice-president Richard M. Nixon attempt a kingmaker move. Eisenhower is reported to be cool toward Rockefeller and to have irreconcilable differences with Goldwater over defense and foreign policy.

Gov. Scranton Approves Dam At Sunbury, Pa.

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania gave his approval Tuesday to proposed construction of a collapsible dam on the Susquehanna River at Sunbury, Pa.

The dam is to provide a recreational site for that area.

The governor announced his decision at a brief meeting with Rep. Adam T. Bower, Northumberland County Republican.

"It (the dam project) is in line," the governor said, "with the administration's plans and desires for the full implementation of the river for the usefulness of the people in every respect."

Bower had no comment on the project.

The dam, costing an estimated $920,000, is to be financed with receipts from oil and gas leases to private industry on state-owned land.

Money probably won't be available until sometime next year but the forests and waters department will proceed with plans for the structure in the meantime.

Designed by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., the 2,100-foot-long dam will consist of rubberized balloon-like sections which can be inflated or deflated as needed.

Long Trip Marks Russia-Japan Travel

By MURRAY J. BROWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you've been thinking of going to Japan via Soviet Siberia this year, forget it. You've missed the boat.

That's the sad news for tourists "who might like to venture to Japan across Russia," according to reports from one of the leading travel agencies.

The tourist can (or could have) made the journey in just 10 days under new travel arrangements which were announced by the Soviet government, Thomas Cook & Son said.

There are other and faster ways of getting to Japan from the United States — for instance it is about 12 hours by jet airliner from the West Coast if the traveler is in a hurry.

The Russians have commercial jetliners, too. But they do not operate direct flight services to Nippon. So the venturesome traveler must make the trip by plane, train and ship.

Under the arrangements worked out with the Soviet government, the agency said travelers "are required" to spend two nights in Moscow "in order to be permitted" to make the Trans-Siberian journey.

From the Soviet capital in Europe, the tourist who has qualified flies eastward across Asia to Khabarovskin Eastern Siberia. Khabarovsk, which lies on the right bank of the Amur River and is the industrial and transportation center for the Soviet Far East, is about 3,800 air miles from Moscow.

Another 24 hours is spent in Khabarovsk — named after a Russian explorer who established a fort there in 1652 — before the intrepid tourist boards the train for the trip overt he easternmost stretch of the Trans-Siberian railroad to the Pacific port of Nakhodka on the Sea of Japan. Nakhodka is about 400 miles south of Khabarovsk and the journey takes more than 24 hours.

At Nakhodka, the traveler embarks on the 4,870-ton Soviet vessel "Ordzhonikidze" for the last leg of the journey, a two-day voyage across the Sea of Japan to Yokohama.

But, the agency noted, the schedule operates only during the summer months and then only once every two weeks since it is geared to the sailing dates of the Ordzhonikidze.

And the last sailing date this year was scheduled for Sept. 4, with the service closing down for the winter.

Don't give up hope, however, if your heart was set on making the trip to Japan the long way round. Cook's says the routing probably will be reinstated in the spring of 1964 "to accommodate" travelers heading for the Olympic games in Japan.

If it is, you might make up some of the time by traveling on Japan's new Tokyo-Osaka express train, the "Dream Superspecial" which is said to be capable of up to 160 miles an hour.

The new streamliner is expected to go into regular service in time for the Olympic games which are scheduled to begin next fall, reports the American Automobile Association.

It says the "Dream Superspecial" will make the 320-mile run between Tokyo and Osaka in only three hours, including a stopover at Nagoya.

The train will operate over a completely new road bed — the first standard-gauge track in Japan — and there will be no grade crossings along the right-of-way between the two cities. The old line has 1,000 such crossings.

'Pershing' Tested

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Pershing missiles test-fired here are launched from tank-like tracked vehicles similar to those which will transport the weapon for Army troops in the field. Pershing is an artillery missile capable of hitting targets up to 300 miles away.

Ultimate In Hi-Fi Systems Can Record TV

By PRESTON MCGRAW

The ultimate in high fidelity reproducing systems is one with which musicians can be seen as well as heard over the full audio spectrum.

There now is such a system but it is not likely to be under many Christmas trees this year because it costs $30,000. It is the new Signature V system, developed by Ampex Corp. of Redwood City, Calif.

The Signature V can be used to record television programs from off the air. It also comes with a television camera so the well-heeled owner can make television tapes at home.

In addition, the owner can play records on an automatic turntable or listen to radio on an AM-FM multiplex tuner.

The owner of a Signature V system can record a musical program from TV and play it back, getting picture and sound. Of course, the audio portion of television broadcasts now is all on one channel.

But if such advanced playback equipment is available now, the time undoubtedly is not far off when pre-recorded television tapes with two-channel sound for the high fidelity listener (and looker) will be available.

If the owner of the Signature V wants to be out at the same time a favorite television show is on, a special timing mechanism permits the recorder to be pre-set to record the program for later playback.

The unit will record one television program at the same time another is watched on the monitor. The heart of the TV recording system is the VR-1500 portable videotape recorder.

Weighing less than 100 pounds, it was introduced last December for closed circuit use in fields other than broadcasting. It can record 90 minutes of off-the-air programs or home-made television programs on an eight-inch reel of tape.

It can play the tape back seconds later through a television receiver. All or part of the tape can be erased and reused indefinitely or recorded tape can be put up and preserved.

The Signature V is made up of components housed in a cabinet more than nine feet long. The following components are used:

Fisher R-200 tuner; Fisher 400-CX audio control center; Conrac ERL12A television tuner; Garrard AIIB automatic record turntable with ADC-2 cartridge; Ampex F-4452 four-track stereo tape recorder; Ampex VR-1500 portable Videotape recorder; automatic timer; Packard-Bell 21-inch color television receiver; Vidicon television camera and Electro-Voiec 636 microphones.

It uses a James B. Lansing LE14A-57 speaker system with an SE402 transistorized amplifier.

Ampex notes than "an elaborate instruction manual is also provided." Most people are likely to need it.

Saves Old Toys -For Herself

NEWARK, N. J. (AP) — Barnard Barenholtz never has to wonder what to give his wife for a birthday present—nothing pleases her more than a toy.

The only problem is the toys have to be 100 or so years old so she can add them to the family collection of over 500 toys, mostly dating from 1850 to 1890.

Many of them are mechanical and still in perfect working condition. The antique playthings include horsedrawn carriages, trolleys, paddle wheelers, fire engines and early steam locomotives.

More Harried Executives Visiting Turkish Baths

By N. L. BRAUN

NEW YORK (UPI) — More and more harried executives are enjoying being beaten with suction cups, swatted with oak leaves, doused with ice-cold water and roasted in 160-degree heat.

They pay money for it.

Purveyor of these physical "joys" is the traditional Turkish bath — on the decline in recent years but showing signs lately of picking up steam with some adroit jet-age innovations.

Man tension-racked businessmen are learning they can shed worries, quiet jangling nerves and get clean as a whistle to boot by enjoying the penetrating ministrations of dry heat, wet heat, pine-scented steam or just plain steam — all mixed with ice-cold showers and dips in a frigid pool.

This "therapy" costs less than $4 at most baths. For a little more, the tired executive can go whole hog and take the oak leaves and suction cup treatment or a plain massage.

Years ago, when inside plumbing was rare, thousands flocked to the Turkish baths — more to keep clean than for any therapeutic benefit.

But now the Turkish baths are stressing the health angle—"have your tensions and worries 'relaxed' away" — and the customers are knocking at the door once more.

"We now get up to 300 patrons a day," said Fred Epstein, treasurer of New York's Luxor Baths, which bills itself as the biggest in the country.

"They're mostly businessmen who get tied up in knots with their executive problems and want to unwind. "They come in as tense as violin strings. But the baths and treatments make new men of them; they leave as relaxed as facial tissue, their nerves quieted and worries washed away."

The first step is to sample the dry heat room, where the temperature is kept at a minimum 160 degrees. You have to cover the seat with a sheet or towel lest you singe some anatomy. An attendant feeds you ice water and puts ice packs on your head.

Then a dip in the frigid pool. If you can stand that, you're ready for the next step — a visit to the sauna or Finnish room, which actually is the old Russian bath treatment cloaked with a more exciting "alias" to attract more people.

The sauna is wet heat, a lot of it, generated by lukewarm water poured over heated slabs and stones. You can make it as hot as you like by climbing a grandstand-type bleacher — the top rung being the hottest.

The oak leaf treatment awaits the courageous few who reach the summit.

At that elevated stage, where the temperature is reported to be at least 180 degrees, it is said that the only touch bearable to the skin is that of soap-coated oak leaves. The special soap prevents burning. Attendants "flog" you with the leaves — and the sensation is invigorating.

The next step — another frigid shower and dip in the pool. Then the pine-scented steam room, which makes you feel like you are lost in a forest of Christmas trees.

Finally, the pounding of an iron-muscled masseur, who knows how to "revitalize" tired nerves.

For the more adventurous, there is the "bankas" treatment, glass suction cups pounded on the skin to stimulate circulation.

The full treatment makes the tired executive feel like a new man and strengthens him for the biggest ordeal ahead — going home to face all those domestic problems.

Books Live Longer With Proper Care

NEW YORK (UPI) — In proportion to the pleasure they give, books make few demands on the homemaker's time and energy. A minimum of care will protect their life and beauty, says the Cleanliness Bureau.

Start by filling each bookcase shelf just enough to prevent the books from leaning on each other, while avoiding friction from crowding. Arrange them according to height.

Books, like people, react to humidity. Too much dampness fosters mildew and overly dry air causes pages and covers to become brittle. If there is mildew, applying alcohol promptly will generally remove it.

To counteract dryness, keep a wet sponge in a copper bowl under the bookcase. Various lanolin-base oils can be used to keep a leather cover from drying.

Plain household grime also is an enemy of books. Simple but regular cleaning can prevent damage — destroyed texture and color.

The first step: dust a cloth or leather binding thoroughly.

Then sponge the cover quickly with thick "dry" soap or detergent suds. If necessary, sponge off individual pages the same way.

Rinse-wipe with a clean damp cloth, wipe with a dry cloth and stand the book on end until completely dry. Don't pile just washed books atop one another. Squeeze the sudsing cloth out of clear water often to avoid transplanting soil from one book to another.

When covers are thoroughly dry a thin coat of wax and brisk polishing with a soft cloth will add luster. A good lacquer, available at bookbinding supply houses, prevents cloth bindings from fading.

The "hot line" between Washington and Moscow has inspired a toy manufacturer to commemorate another famous chapter in world communications. The maker has created a model of the famed Great Eastern, largest sailing ship of its day, which laid the Atlantic cable between Newfoundland and Ireland in 1866. The model carries cable-laying equipment and cable-marking buoys. (Revell, Inc., Venice, Calif.).

A new hygenic toothbrush holder is designed to be attached to the wall by means of two self-adhering tabs. Two parts of it may be removed and used as a compact, hygenic traveling toothbrush container. The case can be dismantled easily for cleaning from the wall. (Limico Products, 4152 West Cermak Rd., Chicago, Ill.).

The manufacturer reports a new hair coloring and wave set, — all in-one — is the first temporary brightener. The lotion is applied from an applicator bottle after the hair has been shampooed and towel-dried. The color lasts from shampoo to shampoo, then washes out completely without any color build-up. The styling lotion or wave set gives body that holds a style firmly, but without stiffness. (Helene Curtis Industries, Inc., New York, N.Y.).

The newest sun peepers for youngsters are tight fitting and have face-molded frames, plus a hard-to-break lens. The manufacturer says the wrap-around specs can be worn safely by children at play. (Bachmann Bros., 1400 East Erie Ave., Philadelphia, Pa.).

A sun-glare filter that clips to an automobile visor can be pivoted to any angle from which brilliant sunlight bombards the motorist's vision. (Power Sales and Service, 9044 Terminal Ave., Skokie, Ill.).

A self-adhering bandage remains firmly in place without hooks or clips. The pressure with which it is originally applied remains constant, the manufacturer reports. The bandage holds comfortably in hard to bandage areas and will not slip, slide or bulge, the maker reports. (Becton, Dickinson and Co., Rutherford, N.Y.).

More Harried Executives Visiting Turkish Baths

By N. L. BRAUN

NEW YORK (UPI) — More and more harried executives are enjoying being beaten with suction cups, swatted with oak leaves, doused with ice-cold water and roasted in 160-degree heat.

They pay money for it.

Purveyor of these physical "joys" is the traditional Turkish bath — on the decline in recent years but showing signs lately of picking up steam with some adroit jet-age innovations.

Man tension-racked businessmen are learning they can shed worries, quiet jangling nerves and get clean as a whistle to boot by enjoying the penetrating ministrations of dry heat, wet heat, pine-scented steam or just plain steam — all mixed with ice-cold showers and dips in a frigid pool.

This "therapy" costs less than $4 at most baths. For a little more, the tired executive can go whole hog and take the oak leaves and suction cup treatment or a plain massage.

Years ago, when inside plumbing was rare, thousands flocked to the Turkish baths — more to keep clean than for any therapeutic benefit.

But now the Turkish baths are stressing the health angle—"have your tensions and worries 'relaxed' away" — and the customers are knocking at the door once more.

"We now get up to 300 patrons a day," said Fred Epstein, treasurer of New York's Luxor Baths, which bills itself as the biggest in the country.

"They're mostly businessmen who get tied up in knots with their executive problems and want to unwind. "They come in as tense as violin strings. But the baths and treatments make new men of them; they leave as relaxed as facial tissue, their nerves quieted and worries washed away."

The first step is to sample the dry heat room, where the temperature is kept at a minimum 160 degrees. You have to cover the seat with a sheet or towel lest you singe some anatomy. An attendant feeds you ice water and puts ice packs on your head.

Book Shows Americans Talk Different

By FRANK L. SPENCER

CHICAGO (UPI) — Maybe we are spending the same kind of currency and saluting the same flag, but how about fossnocks?

Fossnocks are what some Americans call nut cakes, olicooks or crullers. Perhaps you know them as doughnuts.

Then there's the coverlid situation. That's what some Americans call bed spreads, which others call coverlets or counterpanes.

Let's go into the keeping room and talk it over. Or do you call it the sitting room, the parlor, the front room or the living room?

The above examples of disagreement as to what to call things are contained in a book by Mrs. Jean Malstrom, an associate professor of English at Western Michigan University, and Mrs. Annabel Ashley, associated with the Portland, Ore., school system.

The book, published by the National Council of Teachers of English, sets forth that decades after the passing of the old frontier Americans still talk in different dialects. We still pronounce words in a variety of ways, use an assortment of grammar and don't even agree on what to call a creek.

Some Americans call a creek a brook. To others it is a binnekill, a run, a prong, a kill, a riverlet or a binacle.

Some American kids play on a seesaw. Others call the thing a teetering board, a dandle, a ridy-horse or a teeter-totter.

We eat johnny cake, hugh puppies, spoon bread, hoe cake or corn cakes and — according to the authors — it's all the same, as is Dutch cheese, smear case, pot cheese and cottage cheese.

Americans who eat too much get sick, to, at, in, on or of their stomachs. American children are liable to get a whipping, licking, smacking, skelping, skinning, blistering, thrashing, tanning or even a beating if they play hookey or truant or skip, bolt, hook, bag or skip school.

In their book, "Dialects USA," the authors say these differences "are created by the movements of people from one region of the country to another . . . the westward movement carried speech forms from Pennsylvania west to Ohio and from New York to Michigan."

"Migrations north up the Mississippi River to southeastern Minnesota spread Midland words" the authors say. "A small area in southeastern Nebraska has certain northern speech forms apparently brought there after the Civil War by a number of New York and Ohio families who migrated west into the east Platte River Valley."

Americans are still on the move and they bring their words with them. Nowadays, there's no telling where you might hear somebody order up a stack of fritters, flannel cakes, pancakes, flitters, hot cakes or flap jacks.

We may be influenced by the television and radio announcers but we've also picked up some word habits from our relatives, kinfolks, home folks, relations and kinnery.

It's a blame shame that all Americans don't talk good Missourian.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Topical satire will get a semi-regular airing on Ed Sullivan's CBS hour the first part of this season with a new segment called "What's Going on Here?" employing the talents of Britons Peter Cook and Jonathan Miller of Broadway's "Beyond the Fringe" and John Bird of "The Establishment." The first outing will be Oct. 6.

Garson Kanin ("Born Yesterday") has discovered television and is under contract to David Susskind of Talent Associates to provide two pilot scripts for prospective series for next fall. One is an hour show called "Mr. Broadway," about a press agent, and the other is a half-hour idea entitled "Missie," dealing with the adventures of a small-town girl in New York.

Herbie Faye is the only member of the old Sergeant Bilko army squad who is working with Phil Silvers on his CBS series, "The New Phil Silvers Show." Faye has been almost steadily with the star since "Top Banana" on the stage in 1950. They worked together years ago in burlesque and Silvers has said Faye "taught me everything I know about comedy." Faye was Corporal Fender in the Bilko series.

Norman Rosemont, manager for singer Robert Goulet and his partner in Rogo Productions, will supervise the firm's television of the Lerner - Loewe musical "Brigadoon", which CBS will air probably early in 1964. Goulet will be the leading man.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — After 20 years of research, Dr. William B. Bean says his left thumbnail is growing slower now than in 1942.

Bean, a member of the faculty at State University of Iowa, explained in the Archives of Internal Medicine that from 1942 to 1958 the nail took between 117 and 126 days to grow from cuticle to fingertip.

In 1961, he said, it took 138

Survey Shows Motorists Basically Good Samaritans

By JAMES STICKFORD

DETROIT (UPI) — The American motorist is basically a good Samaritan.

That was one of the facts learned in a two-year experiment conducted to determine the feasibility of freeway traffic control by television.

The project measured traffic flow on 3.2 miles of busy Detroit freeway by remote control television cameras.

The cameras flashed pictures of traffic conditions to 14 monitoring sets and trained observers made command decisions concerning speed and flow of traffic.

Traffic signs were posted over the lanes of the John Lodge Expressway that indicated the best speed, which lanes were blocked and which were open.

"We have proven through overhead control that we can increase freeway capacity and move more traffic at a steady rate," State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said.

Mackie said the television control system has been a tremendous research tool in such areas as driver behaviour and shoulder usage.

"Contrary to common belief," he said, "the American driver is a good Samaritan. When cars stall or pull to the shoulder it doesn't take too long until another motorist stops to offer help."

The project is financed through September and negotiations are in progress with the Bureau of Public Roads to extend the period of the experiment.

The government paid about 80 per cent of the original $400,000 outlay. The Michigan Highway Department and the Detroit Street and Traffic Department contributed money and personnel.

Operation of the system was simple. The 14 cameras were fixed at strategic points along the expressway. The traffic expert at the monitor was able to determine conditions the length of the route and he controlled the overhead signs.

The signs consisted of arrows lighted green for "go," X's lighted red for "stop" and nujbers that indicated the best speed for the lanes.

If an accident were to occur, the director could close one lane and slow down traffic in others to allow the orderly shift from lane-to-lane by drivers. He also could notify police, ambulances and wreckers so that the trouble could be remedied quickly.

Traffic engineer George Basmadjian of the Detroit Street and Traffic Department did much work on the project.

TV Notes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Topical satire will get a semi-regular airing on Ed Sullivan's CBS hour the first part of this season with a new segment called "What's Going on Here?" employing the talents of Britons Peter Cook and Jonathan Miller of Broadway's "Beyond the Fringe" and John Bird of "The Establishment." The first outing will be Oct. 6.

Garson Kanin ("Born Yesterday") has discovered television and is under contract to David Susskind of Talent Associates to provide two pilot scripts for prospective series for next fall. One is an hour show called "Mr. Broadway," about a press agent, and the other is a half-hour idea entitled "Missie," dealing with the adventures of a small-town girl in New York.

Herbie Faye is the only member of the old Sergeant Bilko army squad who is working with Phil Silvers on his CBS series, "The New Phil Silvers Show." Faye has been almost steadily with the star since "Top Banana" on the stage in 1950. They worked together years ago in burlesque and Silvers has said Faye "taught me everything I know about comedy." Faye was Corporal Fender in the Bilko series.

Norman Rosemont, manager for singer Robert Goulet and his partner in Rogo Productions, will supervise the firm's television of the Lerner - Loewe musical "Brigadoon", which CBS will air probably early in 1964. Goulet will be the leading man.

Thumbnail Sketch

Bean, a member of the faculty at State University of Iowa, explained in the Archives of Internal Medicine that from 1942 to 1958 the nail took between 117 and 126 days to grow from cuticle to fingertip.

In 1961, he said, it took 138 days.

Survey Shows Motorists Basically Good Samaritans

By JAMES STICKFORD

DETROIT (UPI) — The American motorist is basically a good Samaritan.

That was one of the facts learned in a two-year experiment conducted to determine the feasibility of freeway traffic control by television.

The project measured traffic flow on 3.2 miles of busy Detroit freeway by remote control television cameras.

The cameras flashed pictures of traffic conditions to 14 monitoring sets and trained observers made command decisions concerning speed and flow of traffic.

Traffic signs were posted over the lanes of the John Lodge Expressway that indicated the best speed, which lanes were blocked and which were open.

"We have proven through overhead control that we can increase freeway capacity and move more traffic at a steady rate," State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said.

Mackie said the television control system has been a tremendous research tool in such areas as driver behaviour and shoulder usage.

"Contrary to common belief," he said, "the American driver is a good Samaritan. When cars stall or pull to the shoulder it doesn't take too long until another motorist stops to offer help."

The project is financed through September and negotiations are in progress with the Bureau of Public Roads to extend the period of the experiment.

The government paid about 80 per cent of the original $400,000 outlay. The Michigan Highway Department and the Detroit Street and Traffic Department contributed money and personnel.

Operation of the system was simple. The 14 cameras were fixed at strategic points along the expressway. The traffic expert at the monitor was able to determine conditions the length of the route and he controlled the overhead signs.

The signs consisted of arrows lighted green for "go," X's lighted red for "stop" and nujbers that indicated the best speed for the lanes.

If an accident were to occur, the director could close one lane and slow down traffic in others to allow the orderly shift from lane-to-lane by drivers. He also could notify police, ambulances and wreckers so that the trouble could be remedied quickly.

Traffic engineer George Basmadjian of the Detroit Street and Traffic Department did much work on the project.

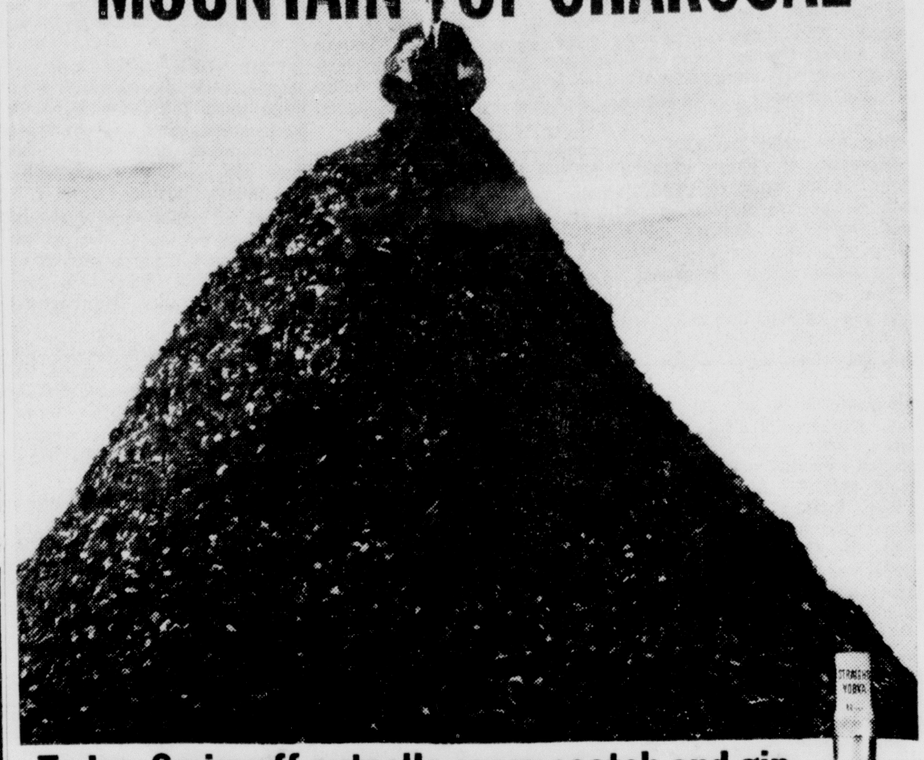
FILTERED THROUGH A "MOUNTAIN" OF CHARCOAL



Today, Smirnoff outsells every scotch and gin

Smirnoff is filtered and refined through 7 tons of activated charcoal, literally a "mountain" of charcoal. This "black magic" removes most of the congeners. No wonder Smirnoff is the world's finest liquor. It has no "bite," blends perfectly with fruit juices or soft drinks. Try breathless Smirnoff today, on-the-rocks or in a Martini, and find out why.

It leaves you breathless

Leasing Business Has Become Popular In Japan

By ROBERT METCALFE

TOKYO (UPI) — The Japanese have borrowed a North American idea that will let them keep up with the Suzukis without actually buying anything.

The Suzukis (the Joneses) suddenly sprout, say, a lush new car, furniture, power boat, swimming pool and a merry-go-round for the kids.

The Satos (the Smiths) now can bounce right back with the same —and more if they wish.

The Japan Lease International is the brainchild of Kiyoshi Ichimura, president of Ricoh Company, Ltd.

He has the Suzukis and Satos in mind — but his main targets are the Japanese businessman, manufacturer and contractor.

He hopefully looks to the day when the Japanese executive will rise from a rented bed to a blast from a rented alarm, down a breakfast off rented dishes, doff a rented kimono to get into a rented suit, kiss his unleased wife goodbye, leave his rented house in a rented car driven by a rented chauffeur, light a morning cigar by a rented lighter.

And, then enter his rented office, settle into a rented chair, lean on a rented desk and pick up a rented pen to perform his job as an executive who himself may be on lease.

Far-fetched? Not in Ichimura's scheme of things.

An idea of the scope of his plans can be had by a look at these for rent:

Living room furniture, stoves, refrigerators, room coolers, cash registers, electronic computers, cars, trucks, a helicopter, concrete mixers, cultivators, dredge boats, typewriters, bulldozers, elevators and escalators, yachts, water skis, boats, trolleys for children and jet coasters, and the complete facilities for manufacturing plants, supermarkets and bowling alleys.

He already has equipped the International Youth Center here with a bowling alley, a swimming pool, a movie theatre, a planetarium and billeting facilities for overseas travelers it will care for.

What got Ichimura into the leasing business?

A few years ago his Ricoh firm changed its administrative set-up, which meant employes had to be moved to new locations.

"We had to spend a lot of money to move their furniture," Ichimura said.

In his book, it would have been much simpler for an employe to move out of one rented house and its rented furniture and into another rented house and its rented furniture.

He financed his new leasing business with help from 41 Japanese business firms — auto makers, electrical and tool machine manufacturers, insurance companies — and a large leasing company in the United States.

Don't Write Off Wigs, Says IRS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has reminded the public that wigs are not deductive as medical expenses even if intended for "the preservation of general health or for the alleviation of physical and medical discomfort."

The only exception is when someone has lost his or her hair through disease, and the resulting condition has had "a marked effect upon mental health."

Don't Drawl, Y'All

MEMPHIS (AP) — As everyone knows, regional accents can cause misunderstandings.

A Memphis miss, who received flowers by wire from her absent sweetheart, was puzzled by the card. It was signed "with 11 kisses."

What he had said was, "with love and kisses."

Halloween Parade Is October 31

The South Cumberland Business and Civic Association is making elaborate plans for its annual Halloween celebration and parade in South End, Thursday, October 31, at 8 p.m.

From the standpoint of everything — number and amount of prizes and participants — this promises to be the largest ever staged in Cumberland, according to Quenton M. Rice, general chairman.

Invitations are being sent to bands and bugle corps, fire companies, military and other marching units, riding clubs, motorcycle and automobile groups, Boy and Girl Scouts and mummers.

So far, the prize list includes the following: First prize for band and drum and bugle corps, $300; second, $150; third, $100.

Horse riding, $25; motorcycles, $25; fire company, $50; Boy Scout troops, $25; Girl Scouts and Brownies, $25; Go-carts, $25; and military unit, $25.

Prizes for mummers and for a dancing contest will be awarded, 50 for each class, or a total of 100, according to Rice, who said that trinkets and prizes also will be distributed as the parade progresses along South End streets.

Merchants or others wishing to participate are being asked to contact committeemen of the various categories, Rice said.

Committee assignments announced to date are as follows: Joseph Footen and William B. Orndorff, bands and drum and bugle corps; Russell Carder and David Kirk, fire companies; Thomas Whalley and Thomas F. Conlon Sr., military units; F. G. Harper, police, Shrine, marching units; Harper and James Garland, go-carts; Robert Garner and Grace Hollar, Boy Scout troops; James S. Stafford, antique cars; C. Glenn Watson and Fannan Webreck, motorcycle clubs; Allen Shaw and Reatus Spiker, riding clubs (horses); Arnold A. ## Vatican Magazine Says Reds Take Note Of Catholic Church

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Vatican City magazine Osservatore Della Domenica said Wednesday the Communists are beginning to take note of the importance of the Catholic Church.

The magazine commented on a radio statement by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's son-in-law Alexei Adzhubei, who met the late Pope John XIII last March in the Vatican. It took special issue with his claim that the Vatican is changing its attitude toward communism because doing otherwise would mean losing followers in many countries of the world.

Osservatore said this is the same argument the Communists are using "to explain to their militants an attitude far different from that of a few years ago. . ."

Belgian Farmers Against Tariff Cut

BRUSSELS (UPI)—The League of Belgian Farmers said Wednesday the goverrnment's decision to back a proposed cut of Common Market levies on poultry imports is an unacceptable concession to "foreign political and commercial pressure."

The government decided Tuesday to go along with a Common Market commission proposal to reduce the present 13 cents per pound levy on poultry by 1.3 cents. Washington already has labeled the proposal as insufficient to prevent U.S. tariff reprisals on Common Market exports to the United States.

Set Columbus Day

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Wednesday designated Saturday, Oct. 12, as Columbus Day and called for appropriate ceremonies in churches, schools and other places.

The holiday commemorates the 471st anniversary of the discovery of the New World by Christopher Columbus.

Critical Shortage Of Hay Is Found In Most Dairy Farming Counties

All dairy farming areas in Western Maryland and nearby sections of West Virginia and Pennsylvania—with the exception of Garrett County—is experiencing a critical shortage of hay.

As a result the cost of hay is $12 to $15 per ton higher than normal, according to one large local distributor of farm feeds.

Hay costs $40 to $42 per ton in the present market. One farm feed dealer said they have been selling a forage extender feed which is supplementing the hay feedings. One ton of the forage extender will provide the food benefits of two and a half tons of hay, according to this source.

Garrett County dairy farmers are in a good position as they had good crops of hay during the growing season.

Due to the critical hay shortage the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has extended grazing and haying privileges on diverted croplands in Dorchester and Somerset counties in Maryland. This makes a total of 20 counties of the state receiving such assistance, including Allegany.

The continued drought in the state has resulted in shortage in forage, pasture and feed supplies and resulted in the USDA action.

Farmers in counties granted the USDA privilege have been authorized to graze livestock and harvest hay on land retired under the Conservation Reserve and in the 1963 feed grain and wheat stabilization programs.

Approval of the Allegany County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee must be obtained by all farmers wishing to utilize these emergency programs. Downward adjustments will be made in payments to farmers where these lands are grazed or harvested for hay.

USDA officials also pointed out that release of these acreages in areas where forage supplies are tightening because of a drought condition gives farmers an immediate and readily-accessible source of rough feed supplies. While the forage on these lands also is affected by drought, the growth on this land being withheld from livestock use under other program provisions in many instances can provide hay and forage for those producers experiencing difficulty because hot dry weather is depleting their forage production.

In releasing diverted acreage, time becomes an important factor because continued drought quickly damages usable forage, thus limiting or destroying its usefulness for livestock feed. To the extent that feed can be obtained from these acres, the payments due farmers for withholding the land from crop production are reduced, lessening overall government cost.

Mormon Elders Plan Mission Work Here

Two elders of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints have arrived in Cumberland for a term of missionary teachings of their church for individuals and groups of this area.

They are Elder John Poppleton of Nampa, Idaho, and Elder Joseph Wells, Sunset, Utah.

Elder Wells, who has just completed one year of electronics at Weaver College, Ogden, Utah, will return to that institution after he leaves here.

The two young men will be in this section for an indefinite period. They are residing at 811 Shriver Avenue and may be contacted by phoning 722-5307 to explain their church, the Mormon Church, to groups or individuals.

Y Will Offer Expanded Physical Education Plan

The physical education program of Central YMCA is ready for the fall-winter season, according to Lynn Patchin, physical director, who said this year's program will be the most comprehensive in years.

Along with the basic program of group activities that are regularly scheduled, the "Y" will present many new programs directed to those persons interested in special skills, Patchin said.

The program will be extended to 12 different age groups. Programs involving age groups are already designated as to time and place, he added.

With the lowering of the membership age, the "Y" now has a new class of Cadet boys, eight and nine-year-olds, who have their regular gym program on Mondays at 4 p.m., followed by a swimming class and gym again on Saturday at 9 A.M. Prep boys class (ages 10 and 11) will have their gym swim classes on Wednesdays at 4 p.m.; and Saturday class at 9:00 a.m. also.

Girls aged 8 to 11 will be at the "Y" on Thursdays at 4 p.m. and Saturday at 9:45 a.m. Junior girls will follow the same schedule. Junior boys will report on Tuesdays after school and on Saturday at 10:30 a.m.

The remaining groups will have their programs in the evening. Youth girls and women will occupy the gym and pool at the same time this year. Gym will be on Tuesday and Thursday at 7 p.m., with swimming to follow for two hours. Each will have a three-hour program per evening. Boys and men will share the swimming pool on Wednesday at 8 p.m. but will have separate gym periods.

Youth boys will utilize the gym on Tuesday at 8 p.m. while the men's program will be divided between Monday and Wednesday nights with special interest programs. Businessmen's class will meet every Tuesday and Friday at 5 p.m.

"Family Night," held every Thursday, will be extended this year in that a gym session at 8 p.m. will be added to the regular swim program.

All special interest groups are scheduled separately from the age-grouping activities and those involved in this area should contact the local "Y", Patchin said.

Parents' Club Meets Today

St. Mary's Parent's Club will hold its first meeting of the fall season today at 8 p. m. in the basement of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Rev. James U. Hobbs, assistant pastor who will serve as the moderator of the club, and the new officers will preside.

The latter are Robert J. Burkey, president; Mrs. Paul Schwenninger, vice president; Mrs. Armand Pannone, secretary; William Easton, treasurer, and Robert Snyder, recording secretary.

Burkey said there will be no classroom visitation prior to this meeting.

Parents of new first graders will be guests of honor. Refreshments will be served by the officers and class chairmen.

PRIDE IN OUR COUNTRY... It has become fashionable in some circles to deprecate the United States of America. Some of our people have been brainwashed by "intellectual" odd-balls into fearing that open pride in our country is sinful nationalism. Some have been led to believe that such words as "freedom" and "victory" are outdated. I would like to remind downgraders of America that the liberties and freedoms we enjoy today were carved for us and preserved for us by patriotic men and women who fought and died so that this Nation might live. I suggest that we would do well to recapture their spirit of patriotism. I am not suggesting bellicose or ostentatious nationalism. I am not suggesting that we arrogantly flaunt America before the world. But I am suggesting an infusion of plain, old-fashioned patriotism into the Nation's blood stream to reawaken the great spiritual and moral force of America.

Our patriotism should be based neither upon military aggression nor upon isolationism. I am talking about a patriotism which recognizes that our wars were fought for independence and freedom; which acknowledges and takes pride in our heritage and traditions but recognizes change and demands forward-looking measures to meet it; which encourages unashamed use of such old-fashioned terms as "freedom", "free enterprise", "individual initiative", "personal responsibility", "self-reliance", "independence", which makes a man stand straight and strong and proud.

88TH CONGRESS GETTING STARTED—The Congress which came into office in January is getting started. It has covered about one-third of its course, but the bulk of its work lies ahead. We face many important issues and grave problems. The cold war continues with no let-up. The unbearable cost of Government has not decreased. Unnecessary Government spending demands attention. The waste in foreign aid must be cut out. The waste in farm subsidies and needless farm problems must be eliminated. The 88th Congress must decide which of the proposed public works are worthy and necessary and which are pure "pork barrel". Taxes are too high because Government spending is too high, and that is a problem which must be resolved. The problem of civil and human rights must be faced realistically and fairly.

Neither letters received by Senators and members of the House of Representatives nor public opinion polls, such as our own questionnaire, show grass-roots support for numerous cure-alls proposed by the Kennedy Administration. In fact, the only strong sentiment seemingly held by the people is that Federal spending should be reduced. This feeling was faithfully reflected in the House vote slash foreign-aid expenditures. Even the tax-reduction proposal has not brought widespread public support; the lack of effort on the part of the Administration to set the stage for tax reduction by tightening up on Government spending makes it very difficult for those who would like to support a tax cut to do so.

So you see, the work of the 88th Congress is cut out for it! Let us hope that, throughout the balance of this year and all of next year, the 88th will faithfully reflect the wishes of the people it represents.

FOREIGN POLICY: AN INDICTMENT—Cuba! Berlin Wall! Common Market! Katanga! Indonesia! South America! Laos! Vietnam!

We see the worldwide collapse of our Government's foreign policy. The moves made by the Administration in international affairs have too often tended to undermine conservative governments and help bring leftists to power. My mail indicates that policies imposed by the Kennedy Administration are detestable to the American people.

CHICKEN - TARIFF SHOW DOWN SHUNNED — The United States and the Common Market are trying to avoid a showdown over the European tariff on American poultry. The White House postponed its September 16 deadline for retaliatory tariff increases. In Brussels the executive commission of the Common Market proposed to reduce its tariff on American chickens by 10%. The six countries making up the Common Market were asked to prepare their answer to the proposal. West Germany was first to announce its intention to deal with the issue — and this is the key, because almost all U. S. chicken exports go to West Germany. It was German chicken growers who forced the stiff tariff increase on American chickens. Now it is understood that West German manufacturers have been aroused by the threat of American retaliation against manufactured products and are bringing pressure for a compromise. As the Common Market chicken-tariff hike was nearly 200%, the proposal for a 10% reduction seems quite inadequate. I am asking our representatives to hold firm for a substantial reduction of the tariff against American poultry, much of which is exported from our own Delmarva peninsula.

NAVY ATTEMPTS TO HIDE SHIPBUILDING COST — Because a reporter for the Baltimore Sun alert, the Defense Department has made public a report showing it costs 16 to 35 percent more to build or repair Navy ships in Navy shipyards than in private shipyards. Last year we got through Congress a bill requiring the Navy to hand over no less than 35% of its repair jobs to private shipyards. The Navy then hired a consulting firm to analyze the costs, apparently in the hope it would show Navy costs were lower. The report showed that private shipyard building and repairs were cheaper. So the Navy made the report unavailable — until the Baltimore Sun's very able Helen Delich Bentley dug it out of hiding.

YOU SAW IT HERE FIRST!—My attention has been called to the fact that last week the Chicago Tribune, on its editorial page, quoted from a recent issue of "Senate Cloakroom". During the past several years my newsletter has been quoted many times by metropolitan newspapers and national magazines, as well as by weeklies from coast to coast — and this naturally makes us proud and happy.

POSTSCRIPT TO "DEAR GRANDCHILDREN" LETTER—Said the 94-year-old gentleman as he bounded up the steps two at a time: "With modern medicine doing so well at increasing life expectancy, we'd better be careful about adding to the national debt; we might have to pay it off ourselves instead of passing it along to our children."

Among U.S. women household heads, more than 79 per cent drive and own a car, or own a car even though they don't drive.

Beachcombing Can Be A Science

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Phil Mann, a 24-year-old native of New York City, has brought the ancient art of beachcombing up to date and says he makes a fair living at it.

Mann, who uses an electronic metal detector, arrived here after a 3½ month hitchhiking trip which started at Bangor, Maine. He reported he picked up $1,-746.09 in coins plus assorted jewelry from bathing beaches en route.

He hit Key West's two public beaches as soon as he arrived and found $18 and two valuable rings within seven hours.

Finnigan's Hollywood

BY JOSEPH FINNIGAN

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Jack Elam is one of television's most unique marshals. He only works at the job part time.

For years Elam was a bad guy one of Hollywood's meanest heavies. He went straight last year when he played a frontier cop in "The Dakotas," a show which has since gone to video's graveyard.

It would be quite unlikely that Elam could ever become a 100 per cent, true blue good guy. Nor would he want it that way. Villain parts can be pretty meaty sometimes.

Elam co-stars with Jeffrey Hunter in the new ABC-TV series "Temple Houston." Hunter plays "Houston," a southwest lawyer who was the son of Texas' famed Sam Houston.

A Tag Along

In his role as the attorney, Hunter travels around the frontier practicing law in circuit courts. Elam tags along, not as Hunter's sidekick but as a minor antagonist. Instead of friendship, the two seem to share a mutual tolerance for each other.

Elam describes his character on the show as "Hunter's Devil" who is always there. Jack occasionally puts aside his devil's horns in favor of a Marshall's badge when Hunter needs a lawman

"I don't play the part like a lawman though," said Elam during a prime-rib lunch. "In some of the shows I'm marshal when the episode begins and in others I get the job at the end. But I have no message in the world as the marshal."

Elam is a former accountant who left that profession to become an actor in 1949. He's a friendly guy, one who doesn't delude himself with visions of grandeur like some actors who feel their profession is akin to religion.

Asks Many Questions

When offered a role, Elam is liable to ask such practical questions as, "How much will I get paid?" "How big is my dressing room?" and "What are the hours?" Other actors ask those same questions, but they rarely admit it to the press. Usually they say something like, "I'm looking for a role with depth and a message."

Elam is nobody's messenger boy.

"When Elam was in 'Dakotas,' he said, "I'm ashamed to be seen wearing a badge, so I kind of hide it under my vest. And everytime I have to bad mouth the heavies, the words stick in my throat."

Although a law abiding person in his private life, Elam still feels the same way on television.

"I never think about the badge until somebody asks me about it," he said. "As far as I'm concerned, I'm still a heavy and I'll always be a heavy."

Elam is true to the end, smiling on the inside, snarling on the outside.

Deadline Set On Appeal To B&O-C&O Merger

The Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes has until October 1 to appeal in the U. S. Supreme Court an order dismissing a complaint that sought to turn the B&O-C&O affiliation case back to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The order was filed August 26 in Federal District Court at Detroit and was entered in accordance with the unanimous opinion of the three-judge court supporting ICC approval of B&O-C&O affiliation. The 20-page opinion was handed down August 13.

The order dismisses the complaint of the brotherhood complaint of the BMWE against the United States and ICC.

The judges held that the ICC's handling of the case and its ultimate decision were valid. The jurists said: "We are satisfied that the commission committed no errors of law, that its action was not arbitrary, capricious or an abuse of discretion."

The order, a normal legal procedure, was agreed to by the labor organizations, the Department of Justice, the ICC, the B&O and the C&O.

It continues a temporary restraining order, observed since February 1 by the two railroads, which provides for protection for employes in B&O-C&O coordinations.

The railroads report they will continue to observe the order pending possible appeal by the brotherhood to the U. S. Supreme Court. The order said that the appeal must be docketed by October.

The appeal would be the final legal round in the more than three-year history of the B&O and C&O to affiliate.

Evangelistic Crusade Set For October

Deadline Set On Appeal To B&O-C&O Merger

The Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes has until October 1 to appeal in the U. S. Supreme Court an order dismissing a complaint that sought to turn the B&O-C&O affiliation case back to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The order was filed August 26 in Federal District Court at Detroit and was entered in accordance with the unanimous opinion of the three-judge court supporting ICC approval of B&O-C&O affiliation. The 20-page opinion was handed down August 13.

The order dismisses the complaint of the brotherhood complaint of the BMWE against the United States and ICC.

The judges held that the ICC's handling of the case and its ultimate decision were valid. The jurists said: "We are satisfied that the commission committed no errors of law, that its action was not arbitrary, capricious or an abuse of discretion."

The order, a normal legal procedure, was agreed to by the labor organizations, the Department of Justice, the ICC, the B&O and the C&O.

It continues a temporary restraining order, observed since February 1 by the two railroads, which provides for protection for employes in B&O-C&O coordinations.

The railroads report they will continue to observe the order pending possible appeal by the brotherhood to the U. S. Supreme Court. The order said that the appeal must be docketed by October.

The appeal would be the final legal round in the more than three-year history of the B&O and C&O to affiliate.

Leaders Divided On University Branch Site

BALTIMORE (AP) — The positions of House floor leader and finance chairman in the Maryland Legislature were divided for the first time in the last session. The two leaders split Wednesday over immediate establishment of a new University of Maryland branch.

Del. W. Dale Hess, D-Harford, came out in a letter to Gov. Tawes for carrying out plans to locate a branch in Baltimore County.

This put him on opposite sides with Del. Marvin Mandel, D-Balto 5th, the House finance chairman and also its acting speaker, as well as the Democratic Senate president from Harford, William S. James.

Although both Mandel and James voted at the last session for a bill authorizing the university to plan a branch in Baltimore County, they recently urged it first be studied by a new advisory council on higher education.

Such a move has gained some momentum since suggested by Republican Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore. He is urging the new branch be located in the city instead of the county.

Hess told the governor that as far as residents of his county are concerned, it "would be much more practical and easier" to drive into Baltimore County than to downtown Baltimore City.

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). ## City Asked ommended that alternate chlorine feed equipment be provided as soon as possible and that an alternate dry chemical feed machine be included in plans for future system improvement.

13. The present method of feeding chlorine to the raw water line constitutes a direct cross-connection between the finished water and raw water systems. It was recommended that the cross-connection be eliminated or that the finished water line be protected by a back-flow prevention device.

14. During the survey, distribution system findings from a commercial engineering firm (Pitometer Associates) were made available, listing numerous instances of badly nedeed repairs in distribution mains, valves and metering. It was recommended that the city follow up the report, assign priorities and schedule necessary replacements or repairs as quickly as possible.

The report and recommendations result from a joint survey made here last September by staffers from the State Health Department and the U. S. Public Health Service.

The city water supply comes under the jurisdiction of the Public Health Service since it is used by two interstate carriers, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway.

Following the meeting in City Hall, the public health staffers said city officials had been most cooperative.

State Racial Conferences To Be Held

BALTIMORE (AP)—A series of meetings to improve race relations in Maryland will be called by Gov. Tawes in November, it was revealed Wednesday.

The conferences, to be patterned on those called by President Kennedy on a national level, will bring together civic and religious leaders to consider what steps should be taken to help promote relations in the racial field.

A special civil rights conference of prominent women also will be called by the governor, probably sometime in late October.

Mrs. Albert R. Fischer, chairman of the Maryland Women's Committee for Civil Rights, requested Gov. Tawes to call such a meeting after he had met with leaders of the committee Wednesday.

Tawes agreed to call the meeting, but said he did not want it to interfere with the ones being planned for November by himself and the Maryland Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations.

Spiker's Pigeon Wins Fourth Young Bird Race

Henry from the Wing Ridge Loft of R. L. Spiker won the fourth young bird race of the Allegany Racing Pigeon Club, a 175-mile flight from Athens, Ohio.

Some 260 birds were in competition and the top 24 were clocked. Weather was clear at liberation, stormy en route and overcast at home.

The winner's average speed was 1040.05 yards per minute. In second place was Fritz from Dutchman's Loft of Dale Vanderhout, 1035.9 yards.

Others in the top 10 were Hans, third, also from Dutchman's Loft, 1035.32 yards; Pixie, fourth, from Galla Loft of Charles Buskirk, 1034.92 yards; Wonder, fifth, from Pear Alley Loft of J. H. Sweitzer, 1031.72 yards; Scorn, sixth, from Oak Manor Loft of J. A. Hercsuth, 1028.2 yards; Patch, seventh, also from Oak Manor Loft, 1028.07 yards; Giggle, eighth, from Safeway Loft of David Strachan, 1026.17 yards; Pearl, ninth, also from Galla Loft, 1025.97 yards, and Primrose, tenth, Woodland Loft of Irvin Buskirk, 1024.07 yards.

The fifth race will be flown next Sunday from Chillicothe, Ohio, a distance of 225 miles.

Leaders Divided On University Branch Site

BALTIMORE (AP) — The positions of House floor leader and finance chairman in the Maryland Legislature were divided for the first time in the last session. The two leaders split Wednesday over immediate establishment of a new University of Maryland branch.

Del. W. Dale Hess, D-Harford, came out in a letter to Gov. Tawes for carrying out plans to locate a branch in Baltimore County.

This put him on opposite sides with Del. Marvin Mandel, D-Balto 5th, the House finance chairman and also its acting speaker, as well as the Democratic Senate president from Harford, William S. James.

Although both Mandel and James voted at the last session for a bill authorizing the university to plan a branch in Baltimore County, they recently urged it first be studied by a new advisory council on higher education.

Such a move has gained some momentum since suggested by Republican Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin of Baltimore. He is urging the new branch be located in the city instead of the county.

Hess told the governor that as far as residents of his county are concerned, it "would be much more practical and easier" to drive into Baltimore County than to downtown Baltimore City.

Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little PASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTEETH at any drug counter.

ommended that alternate chlorine feed equipment be provided as soon as possible and that an alternate dry chemical feed machine be included in plans for future system improvement.

13. The present method of feeding chlorine to the raw water line constitutes a direct cross-connection between the finished water and raw water systems. It was recommended that the cross-connection be eliminated or that the finished water line be protected by a back-flow prevention device.

14. During the survey, distribution system findings from a commercial engineering firm (Pitometer Associates) were made available, listing numerous instances of badly nedeed repairs in distribution mains, valves and metering. It was recommended that the city follow up the report, assign priorities and schedule necessary replacements or repairs as quickly as possible.

The report and recommendations result from a joint survey made here last September by staffers from the State Health Department and the U. S. Public Health Service.

The city water supply comes under the jurisdiction of the Public Health Service since it is used by two interstate carriers, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway.

Following the meeting in City Hall, the public health staffers said city officials had been most cooperative.

State Racial Conferences To Be Held

BALTIMORE (AP)—A series of meetings to improve race relations in Maryland will be called by Gov. Tawes in November, it was revealed Wednesday.

The conferences, to be patterned on those called by President Kennedy on a national level, will bring together civic and religious leaders to consider what steps should be taken to help promote relations in the racial field.

A special civil rights conference of prominent women also will be called by the governor, probably sometime in late October.

Mrs. Albert R. Fischer, chairman of the Maryland Women's Committee for Civil Rights, requested Gov. Tawes to call such a meeting after he had met with leaders of the committee Wednesday.

Tawes agreed to call the meeting, but said he did not want it to interfere with the ones being planned for November by himself and the Maryland Commission on Interracial Problems and Relations.

Austerity In Midst Of Plenty

In the midst of seeming plenty, General de Gaulle is calling upon France to undergo an indeterminate period of austerity. The reason: Galloping inflation.

Since World War II, France's industry has tripled its production. Its agricultural output has doubled. It has 325,000 new homes and 8,000,000 privately owned automobiles, four times prewar.

France's population hasn't outpaced this growth, but demand has, largely because Frenchmen have succumbed to the temptation of credit. Under the impetus of installment buying, prices of consumer articles have increased an average 25 per cent in the last five years. Rents are up 82 per cent. Wages and prices have been leapfrogging, with wages remaining a jump behind.

To combat the inflationary spiral, the general's austerity measures provide for tighter credit, along with ceilings on wages, prices and rents.

The effect on the general's popularity may be negligible since he has managed to sell France a doctrine of his own indispensability. But there can be no doubt De Gaulle is confronted by a severe domestic problem, including the possibility of strikes.

These Days

Disease Of 'Means-Itis'

The tendency to exalt the means at the expense of ends grows as life becomes more organized and more bureaucratic. We gather statistics, not to use them, but to keep the gatherers of statistics fully employed. Teachers are compelled to go back to school in their spare time not to broaden their cultural background, but to take boring and repititious courses that provide an excuse for tthe existence of a certification apparatus that passes on promotions and pay. And as the number of farmers in the nation shrinks, the number of people on the payroll of the Department of Agriculture swells inordinately. It's a case of twice as many bureaucrats advising half as many farmers.

This is Parkinson's law, all right, doing for social organisms what a misguided physiology once did for the dinosaurs. And now this "mean-itis," as the disease might be called, has begun to afflict the leaders of the labor movement. See, for example, the report "Labor Looks at Labor," made by ten leaders of Walter Reuther's United Automobile Workers for the Fund for the Republic's Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, Calf.

This report, in effect, bewails the fact that the rank and file of the U.S. union membership still think of a union as a means of getting better working conditions, not as an end in itself. The rank and file refuse to think of their bargaining agents as anything more than agents, which annoys the agents no end. The agents want "loyalty," in quotes which is equivalent to a lawyer asking loyalty from his client, not vice versa.

The trouble with the contempoary union movement, according to Walter Reuther's ten executives, is that its membership has more or less gotten what it needs out of its bargaining agents. "All the things we fought for," says one of the UAW officials, "the corporation is now giving the workers. What we have to find are other things the workers want which the employer is not willing to give him."

But how does an agent go about manufacturing things to revive a loyalty to him that is no longer functionally needed? We don't hear of lawyers persuading their clients to engage in new crimes merely to foster loyalty to lawyers. The International Business Machines Company has not yet been caught urging the purchase of one of its giant computers merely to increase paper work as such. Life insurance salesmen don't go around selling policies on the ground that the president of the insurance company wants a raise in pay. And where is the politician who dares openly to tell the voters that they must support him merely because he has forgotten how to make a living in private industry?

The truth about the union movement is that its success is proved to the extent that it commands less and less interest—or less and less "loyalty," if anyone wants to put it that way. The supreme compliment to Walter Reuther would be to have him work himself out of his job. When the worker is getting his fair share of productivity increases out of a corporation, and when he is cut in on the profits to the extent of his value to the company as compared to the value of a shareholder's investment, the role of the union bargaining agent must tend to become routine.

It is a heartening sign, then, that the U.A.W. leadership finds the "loyalty" of the rank and file waning. This can only mean that automobile workers have used their agents as agents are intended by nature to be used, as go-betweens in winning a case or performing a service. To the extent that the automobile worker now feels his primary concern is to the going concern of a Ford or a Chrysler company, Walter Reuther has succeeded in his life work.

The real mystery of U.A.W. leadership complaint about the waning "loyalty" of auto workers to the union is that it should be sponsored by something called the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions. Is it "democratic" to exalt means at the expense of ends? And should the Fund for the Republic be put in the position of paying the bills for spreading the disease of "means-itis". Does the Fund for the Republic claim that the dinosaur was right in hanging on to muscles that had lost their relationship to the ends of sustaining life?

Showing Of Moscow Circus In U. S. Is Sign Of Communist Policy Change

By Drew Pearson

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his second grandson, George L. Arnold Jr.)

Washington
Sept. 17, 1963

Dear Georgie,

I want to write you about two things—a circus that is showing in Philadelphia and a trip which I have just taken through Europe. In a strange sort of way the two are connected.

The circus is one you would love. If you were not way out in California I would take you to it. It has an act in which two bears put on gloves and stage a boxing match. It has some wonderful clowns and some daredevil cossacks on their horses.

As you know your grandfather is an old circus hand, and I have seen circuses all the way from Singapore to Chanute, Kans. But the reason I am so interested in this circus is because it's the Moscow circus and about fifteen years ago I first suggested that it come to the United States in order to show the American people how the Russian people can laugh just as hard as we can, and in order to promote people-to-people friendship.

Well, it took a long time, but the Moscow circus has finally come and it does make people laugh and it does show that the Russian people are just as human as we are.

The reason I say that the Moscow circus is connected in a way, with my trip to Europe, is that I went through some of the Communist countries and found the people very friendly, very human, and very anxious to know Americans better.

The Wonderful Age Of 12

This may not seem strange to you because you are only twelve years old and not old enough to hate.

But the reason it's strange that I was well received in the Communist countries is this: Only a few years ago I would not have been well-received. Only a few years ago they were calling me all sorts of names.

For instance, Pravda, the official paper of the Soviet government, wrote about your grandfather on Aug. 31, 1946: "Pearson steps out as a warmonger . . . will resort to any means to sabotage the cause of peace."

A week or so later, on Sept. 11, Izvestia, another official paper, had this to say about your grandfather: "If the magnates of monopolistic capital profiteer on wars, so also do their newspaper salesmen. Such a one is that veteran of slander, Drew Pearson . . .any occurrence in international life is transferred by the pen of Drew Pearson into a step toward conflict between East and West."

Four years later, on Jan. 22, 1950, the Soviet magazine Ogenek called your grandfather an "unwavering adherent of the maniacal plans for the establishment of world domination by American monopolies," while in June of that year, Universul, the official Communist newspaper of Bucharest, Rumania, called your grandfather "the zealous agent of Wall Street monopolies.

"The International Organization of Journalists has expelled all journalists who have compromised themselves by carrying on racial and war propaganda. Drew Pearson is included in the roll of infamy."

Well, last month I went to Bucharest, the same city where they had called me names, and the International Journalists Union gave a dinner in my honor.

I also went to Russia, where I had been called a lot of names, but where this time I was invited to broadcast over the radio to the people of southern Russia.

Communism Has Changed

The point is that I had not changed, but the outlook and policy of the Communist governments have changed.

During 1946 to 1950, at the time those Russian newspapers were calling me so many names, I was urging people-to-people friendship and the lowering of the Iron Curtain so people could get acquainted. I said that if people got to know each other they wouldn't want war. And in 1950, when some of those critical editorials were written, I was starting a campaign to float messages by balloon over the Iron Curtain to tell the Communist people that Americans wanted to be their friends and wanted people-to-people contacts. I was urging peace at the time the Moscow press was calling me a sabotager of peace.

At one time in 1948 when Gen. Eisenhower was President of Columbia, I had lunch with him and urged him to get behind the people-to-people campaign. He was skeptical.

But I kept hammering away and it was in the summer of 1951 that I finally went to Germany with your Uncle Tyler and began launching those balloons from a rain-soaked wheat field near the Czechoslovak border.

Well a lot has happened since then. Four years later, in 1953, Stalin died and things began to change in Russia. In 1955, I went to the summit conference in Geneva, where both Eisenhower and Khrushchev officially adopted the people-to-people program.

At first it worked very slowly, but now it's working pretty well, and the Moscow Circus which fifteen years ago I suggested should come to the United States is now here; while your grandfather, who was called a "sabotager of peace" and a "zealous agent of Wall Street," was welcomed cordially in Communist countries.

You are twelve years old. That is a wonderful age and a lucky year. And when you grow up you may be able to look back and say that this year—1963—was a lucky year also for the rest of the world. For, with the test ban treaty as a step, it may begin a new period when boys of 18 and 19 and 20 will no longer have to go out as did your father and your grandfather to fight wars.

Lots Of Love From
Your Grandfather.

Who Is Responsible For Birmingham Tragedy?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The tragedy of Birmingham reflects the conflicts of angry men. It emphasizes a defeat for the rule of reason and a triumph for the spirit of mobocracy.

To preach non-violence, yet to sanction street "demonstrations" which incite to violence, is to stir up the deepest emotions. Under such circumstances, men on both sides tend to feel rather than to think.

Responsibility for the recent outbreaks of violence will be attributed by each side to the other in the "integration" controversy. It will be said that, if the churches themselves had not become active participants in the public demonstrations, there would have been less resentment in the communities. It will be argued in reply that there was no other way to dramatize what was felt to be an innate injustice both in law and morality.

There is no question about the fact that the bitterness of those who have been discriminated against because of race or color produces an anger that often brushes aside pleas for a rule of reason and for the operation of a system of law. Not so many years ago, the anger of the mob caused the lynching of many an innocent man. The mob always felt sure that the suspect was guilty and cried out: "Why wait for the courts—he's guilty!" The cry today is: "Why wait for the process of law—it's too slow!"

The air is filled with threats. It is being said that, unless this or that reform is immediately granted, there will be race violence. No constructive purpose is served by such threats and, when uttered by clergymen, they are even more discouraging. For what is lacking in the controversies today is the restraint that comes from a true religious spirit. Saint Thomas Aquinas in his famous book said:

"The angry man is energetic in the pursuit of justice. But anger can destroy the reasonableness and prudence of our actions. Frequently angry men exact a greater vengeance than the injury done to them merits."

This applies particularly to the men who bombed the Negro church in Birmingham. They do not represent or reflect a majority sentiment in the community. They gave vent only to their own passions of anger, and their evil deed will bring about an adverse reaction to whatever cause they had in mind.

Who committed the crime—tossing a bomb that killed four young girls in a church during Sunday school services? Could this possibly have been the premeditated plot of any organized movement? Could it have been—as some observers are beginning to suspect—the work of that small but dangerous clique inside this country who capitalize on every public controversy? They provoke friction and violence because these will injure the image of America throughout the world—an objective sought by Communist subversives who even employ some fascists for the purpose in order to conceal the true origin of the drive.

It will be of little avail to accuse any one in public office—or the people of Birmingham—of responsibility for last Sunday's crime. This will tend only to increase bitterness all around. Maybe the perpetrators of the bombing will never be caught. Whether in the north or south, most bombings in recent years have gone unsolved because the bombs can be tossed from a speeding automobile which then vanishes, or they can be planted clandestinely during the night.

The answer to the country's race problem will not come from bombings any more than it will come from "demonstrations," however orderly they may appear to be. The right of petition under the Constitution can be effectively exercised in less spectacular ways.

Whatever Congress may do at this session will be regarded as inadequate by angry men anxious to accomplish overnight what must take a long time to achieve. For, as past experience indicates, customs and ways of life are not surrendered under threat or in an atmosphere of passion.

This country has prided itself on its constitutional system—a government of written laws. Unjust laws are not repealed by mob violence but by steady and persistent pleas in the court of public opinion. The means of communication are numerous today and are available to proponents or opponents of any legislation.

The theory that "demonstrations" are essential to the winning of public opinion fails to take into account that, in an atmosphere of anger and bitter resentment, there is no human progress if laws are passed before the electorate has really been persuaded of their justness through application of the rule of reason. Violence begets more violence. It doesn't vanish when provocative speeches are made in the name of "non-violence."

It is a time for self-examination by all sides of the current controversy. There surely are in every community men of all races who can sit down together to work out needed reforms and gradually put them into effect through city ordinances. They can also bring about the passage of the necessary state or federal laws to deal with particular barriers to the better understanding which should prevail among all races.

Even this process, however, takes time for education of the citizens and a legal determination of where private rights end and public rights begin. Time and reason can solve any difficulty, but the passions of anger will solve nothing—not even in the relations of governments or nations, as the wars of the past have tragically proved.

EQUALITY DRIVE — It didn't take the Civil Rights march on Washington to underscore the fact that the Negro drive for equality is far and away the big political question in America today. Voter reaction to the development could well dictate the outcome of presidential elections for years.

The problem is that none of the political leaders of either major party is able to access the impact of the drive on the election outcome. There are all kinds of guesses, and of course each faction is trying to make political capital of the situation. However, the cold fact remains—the position taken by each party in the coming elections could cast a long shadow that could play to their advantage or disadvantage for many years to come.

It is probable, for instance, that a strong pro-Civil Rights position by the Democrats in 1964 could cause an adverse white voter reaction in many urban areas—where there are many Negro votes—and actually cut down the normal Democratic pluralities rolled up in the cities. Conversely, a moderate GOP approach to de-segregation of public accommodations could give them significant gains in the cities and in the South for the first time since the 1952 Eisenhower landslide.

Yet, these two eventualities, should they materialize, could label the Democratic and Republican parties in the years ahead, and as integration proceeds make the pro-integration party the popular political entity in the U.S.

It is a fact that neither party is looking far ahead. They seldom do. Party politics and policies invariably are dictated by short-term considerations—the overriding necessity to win the election at hand, rather than the ones four, eight or 12 years away.

But the Civil Rights issue cannot be assessed even on this kind of short-term basis. Thus far, the Negro drive for equality has by and large struck a sympathetic chord among white voters nationally. If Negroes vote their primary interest and whites generally vote on other issues, the outcome could well benefit the Democrats, both short—and long-range.

Marshalltown

PARIS.

Jean Seberg, a refugee from the Middle West has just returned from Marshalltown, Iowa, her home town, and I asked her how things were in Marshalltown and the U. S. A. in general.

"The things I'm crazy about in America," said Miss Seberg, "are the drugstores. My God, they are beautiful. And they have everything. Except drugs, of course. I could spend $500 in an American drugstore."

This is blatant propaganda, since her father owns a drugstore in Marshalltown, Iowa. Jean used to be what she describes as "a pretty good soda jerk" in her father's drugstore and she's been sympathetic to drugstores ever since. My own feelings about drugstores are that they are the closest thing in modern society to the medieval castle, which was a completely self-sustained unit. If the Indians strike, barricade yourself in the drugstore. You could hold out for weeks, wanting nothing. Except drugs.

The French have their own, le Drugstore, on the Champs Elysees, a great hangout for the rich French kids. You have to be fairly rich to afford the sandwiches there, which are appallingly expensive even by American standards. As drugstores go, le Drugstore will never get into the American big leagues because of the quality of its ice cream, which is awful. "I've been trying to figure out some way to bring good ice cream to Paris. French ice cream is the world's worst. You don't suppose it's the cows?" said Jean.

I didn't think they could hang French ice cream on the French cows, which produce some marvelous thick cream (slightly but interestingly sour). The quality of French ice cream is one of those things that bothers anyone who lives here. Spanish ice cream is delicious. The Dutch ice cream is marvelous. Italian ice cream is not bad. Why can't the French make ice cream?

Miss Seberg has been living in Paris for years and a trip back to the United States is a voyage of re-discovery. I asked her what hit her hardest.

"Americans are much more hip than I remembered them," said Miss Seberg. "They're terribly in and terribly knowledgeable about what is going on in Europe. Their humor is perceptive, sharp, and kind. I noticed that particularly because basically the French don't have a sense of humor. The French are witty, but I don't think I've ever seen a Frenchman throw back his head and guffaw like an American."

"They sound wonderful, these Americans," I said. "What else?"

"Well, maybe I was too hard on them before. I found them less hypocritical in their moral judgments, more open."

"Better and better," I said. "What else?"

"I think American girls are on the whole prettier than French girls," she said, "but we don't know how to walk.

"There's something very embarrassed about the way American girls walk. We hunch up our shoulders as if we were ashamed of our own bodies. It's a sort of shamble. When they get older, American women put on those terribly flat foundation garments which leave them with no rear end at all. They are sort of nailed into a girdle. The back of American women is kind of terrible. Otherwise I found America pretty nice."

"Well," I said, "are you ever going back there to live or are you going to spend the rest of your life here?"

"I might very well spend the rest of my life right here," said Miss Seberg. "All my adult life has been spent in France. All my friends are here. This is really my home." Then she added, "And I hate that word expatriate. I'm still as Amereican as I ever was."

She sure is.

The Child Who Needs Help With His Speech

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Mrs. W. writes: "A 6-year-old boy cannot go to school because of aphasia. His parents have brought him to specialists and they all say the same. What can you tell me about this condition?"

Aphasia means the inability to communicate through speech. In children, language learning may be delayed for several reasons. The tot with sensory aphasia, for example, may be word deaf. He can hear but cannot understand what he hears. He is alert and often overactive and plays normally but tends to be shy. This may explain his auditory inattention. Other victims of word deafness have brain lesions and the youngster Mrs. W. writes about may be affected in this way because the specialists he saw had nothing to offer.

This condition differs from that of the deaf child who fails to hear sounds and, as a result, his speech will be defective. Other aphasic children may not be able to discriminate between letters like p and b so that different words sound alike to him.

Normal speech also is dependent upon coordinated movements of the lips, tongue, jaws, palate, larynx, and the muscles of respiration. An abnormality of the brain in the speech area may lead to motor aphasia. These children understand what is said and may wish to express themselves but do not know how to do so. Some of the speech difficulties encountered in cerebral palsied children are of this origin.

Psychogenic factors also enter the picture in aphasia. So long as some tots get what they want by gestures and grunts, they have no incentive to speak. Twins often develop a language of their own, not understood by other members of the family. Speech difficulties may arise when one language is spoken in the home and another at school.

Speech training is a highly skilled process. These youngsters must be trained in phonetics; and additional emotional guidance may help. As an illustration, a child with aphasia due to cerebral palsy is given an apple and the therapist says the word "apple" several times as the tyke looks at and fingers the fruit. Ultimately, he forms a picture of an apple and tries to say the word.

TUBERCULIN POSITIVE

A. J. writes: Does a positive tuberculin test mean the person is liable to get tuberculosis?

REPLY

Not necessarily. It indicates that at one time the individual was infected with and harbored the tubercle bacilli. It does not necessarily indicate that active clinical tuberculosis is present or ever has existed.

ARTERY HEADACHE

Mrs. T. writes: What is meant by a vascular headache?

REPLY

TOMORROW: Traveling spirochetes in syphilis.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

The town drunk tried to get into bed without disturbing his wife, but heard her clomping downstairs the moment he shut the door. He made a dive for the library, reached for a book, and was sitting under the lamp when his wife collared him. "Hello, darling," he mumbled a bit indistinctly. "I thought I'd catch up a bit on my reading tonight."

"You did, did you?" she replied grimly. "Well, you just shut up that valise and come up to bed."

"The principle of spending money to be paid by posterity, under the name of funding, is but swindling posterity on a large scale."

An anti-Administration blast by a conservative banker made in Washington the other day? Not at all. It was said by Thomas Jefferson almost 200 years ago!

Harassed by a surging mob on the last shopping day before Christmas, a clerk shook her hed sadly and paused while writing down an impatient customer's address. "It's a madhouse, isn't it?" "Not at all," replied the customer haughtily. "It's a nice private residence."

Austerity In Midst Of Plenty

In the midst of seeming plenty, General de Gaulle is calling upon France to undergo an indeterminate period of austerity. The reason: Galloping inflation.

Since World War II, France's industry has tripled its production. Its agricultural output has doubled. It has 325,000 new homes and 8,000,000 privately owned automobiles, four times prewar.

France's population hasn't outpaced this growth, but demand has, largely because Frenchmen have succumbed to the temptation of credit. Under the impetus of installment buying, prices of consumer articles have increased an average 25 per cent in the last five years. Rents are up 82 per cent. Wages and prices have been leapfrogging, with wages remaining a jump behind.

To combat the inflationary spiral, the general's austerity measures provide for tighter credit, along with ceilings on wages, prices and rents.

The effect on the general's popularity may be negligible since he has managed to sell France a doctrine of his own indispensability. But there can be no doubt De Gaulle is confronted by a severe domestic problem, including the possibility of strikes.

These Days

Disease Of 'Means-Itis'

The tendency to exalt the means at the expense of ends grows as life becomes more organized and more bureaucratic. We gather statistics, not to use them, but to keep the gatherers of statistics fully employed. Teachers are compelled to go back to school in their spare time not to broaden their cultural background, but to take boring and repititious courses that provide an excuse for tthe existence of a certification apparatus that passes on promotions and pay. And as the number of farmers in the nation shrinks, the number of people on the payroll of the Department of Agriculture swells inordinately. It's a case of twice as many bureaucrats advising half as many farmers.

This is Parkinson's law, all right, doing for social organisms what a misguided physiology once did for the dinosaurs. And now this "mean-itis," as the disease might be called, has begun to afflict the leaders of the labor movement. See, for example, the report "Labor Looks at Labor," made by ten leaders of Walter Reuther's United Automobile Workers for the Fund for the Republic's Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, Calf.

This report, in effect, bewails the fact that the rank and file of the U.S. union membership still think of a union as a means of getting better working conditions, not as an end in itself. The rank and file refuse to think of their bargaining agents as anything more than agents, which annoys the agents no end. The agents want "loyalty," in quotes which is equivalent to a lawyer asking loyalty from his client, not vice versa.

The trouble with the contempoary union movement, according to Walter Reuther's ten executives, is that its membership has more or less gotten what it needs out of its bargaining agents. "All the things we fought for," says one of the UAW officials, "the corporation is now giving the workers. What we have to find are other things the workers want which the employer is not willing to give him."

But how does an agent go about manufacturing things to revive a loyalty to him that is no longer functionally needed? We don't hear of lawyers persuading their clients to engage in new crimes merely to foster loyalty to lawyers. The International Business Machines Company has not yet been caught urging the purchase of one of its giant computers merely to increase paper work as such. Life insurance salesmen don't go around selling policies on the ground that the president of the insurance company wants a raise in pay. And where is the politician who dares openly to tell the voters that they must support him merely because he has forgotten how to make a living in private industry?

The truth about the union movement is that its success is proved to the extent that it commands less and less interest—or less and less "loyalty," if anyone wants to put it that way. The supreme compliment to Walter Reuther would be to have him work himself out of his job. When the worker is getting his fair share of productivity increases out of a corporation, and when he is cut in on the profits to the extent of his value to the company as compared to the value of a shareholder's investment, the role of the union bargaining agent must tend to become routine.

It is a heartening sign, then, that the U.A.W. leadership finds the "loyalty" of the rank and file waning. This can only mean that automobile workers have used their agents as agents are intended by nature to be used, as go-betweens in winning a case or performing a service. To the extent that the automobile worker now feels his primary concern is to the going concern of a Ford or a Chrysler company, Walter Reuther has succeeded in his life work.

The real mystery of U.A.W. leadership complaint about the waning "loyalty" of auto workers to the union is that it should be sponsored by something called the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions. Is it "democratic" to exalt means at the expense of ends? And should the Fund for the Republic be put in the position of paying the bills for spreading the disease of "means-itis". Does the Fund for the Republic claim that the dinosaur was right in hanging on to muscles that had lost their relationship to the ends of sustaining life?

Showing Of Moscow Circus In U. S. Is Sign Of Communist Policy Change

By Drew Pearson

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Drew Pearson's column today takes the form of a letter to his second grandson, George L. Arnold Jr.)

Washington
Sept. 17, 1963

Dear Georgie,

I want to write you about two things—a circus that is showing in Philadelphia and a trip which I have just taken through Europe. In a strange sort of way the two are connected.

The circus is one you would love. If you were not way out in California I would take you to it. It has an act in which two bears put on gloves and stage a boxing match. It has some wonderful clowns and some daredevil cossacks on their horses.

As you know your grandfather is an old circus hand, and I have seen circuses all the way from Singapore to Chanute, Kans. But the reason I am so interested in this circus is because it's the Moscow circus and about fifteen years ago I first suggested that it come to the United States in order to show the American people how the Russian people can laugh just as hard as we can, and in order to promote people-to-people friendship.

Well, it took a long time, but the Moscow circus has finally come and it does make people laugh and it does show that the Russian people are just as human as we are.

The reason I say that the Moscow circus is connected in a way, with my trip to Europe, is that I went through some of the Communist countries and found the people very friendly, very human, and very anxious to know Americans better.

The Wonderful Age Of 12

This may not seem strange to you because you are only twelve years old and not old enough to hate.

But the reason it's strange that I was well received in the Communist countries is this: Only a few years ago I would not have been well-received. Only a few years ago they were calling me all sorts of names.

For instance, Pravda, the official paper of the Soviet government, wrote about your grandfather on Aug. 31, 1946: "Pearson steps out as a warmonger . . . will resort to any means to sabotage the cause of peace."

A week or so later, on Sept. 11, Izvestia, another official paper, had this to say about your grandfather: "If the magnates of monopolistic capital profiteer on wars, so also do their newspaper salesmen. Such a one is that veteran of slander, Drew Pearson . . .any occurrence in international life is transferred by the pen of Drew Pearson into a step toward conflict between East and West."

Four years later, on Jan. 22, 1950, the Soviet magazine Ogenek called your grandfather an "unwavering adherent of the maniacal plans for the establishment of world domination by American monopolies," while in June of that year, Universul, the official Communist newspaper of Bucharest, Rumania, called your grandfather "the zealous agent of Wall Street monopolies.

"The International Organization of Journalists has expelled all journalists who have compromised themselves by carrying on racial and war propaganda. Drew Pearson is included in the roll of infamy."

Well, last month I went to Bucharest, the same city where they had called me names, and the International Journalists Union gave a dinner in my honor.

I also went to Russia, where I had been called a lot of names, but where this time I was invited to broadcast over the radio to the people of southern Russia.

Communism Has Changed

The point is that I had not changed, but the outlook and policy of the Communist governments have changed.

During 1946 to 1950, at the time those Russian newspapers were calling me so many names, I was urging people-to-people friendship and the lowering of the Iron Curtain so people could get acquainted. I said that if people got to know each other they wouldn't want war. And in 1950, when some of those critical editorials were written, I was starting a campaign to float messages by balloon over the Iron Curtain to tell the Communist people that Americans wanted to be their friends and wanted people-to-people contacts. I was urging peace at the time the Moscow press was calling me a sabotager of peace.

At one time in 1948 when Gen. Eisenhower was President of Columbia, I had lunch with him and urged him to get behind the people-to-people campaign. He was skeptical.

But I kept hammering away and it was in the summer of 1951 that I finally went to Germany with your Uncle Tyler and began launching those balloons from a rain-soaked wheat field near the Czechoslovak border.

Well a lot has happened since then. Four years later, in 1953, Stalin died and things began to change in Russia. In 1955, I went to the summit conference in Geneva, where both Eisenhower and Khrushchev officially adopted the people-to-people program.

At first it worked very slowly, but now it's working pretty well, and the Moscow Circus which fifteen years ago I suggested should come to the United States is now here; while your grandfather, who was called a "sabotager of peace" and a "zealous agent of Wall Street," was welcomed cordially in Communist countries.

You are twelve years old. That is a wonderful age and a lucky year. And when you grow up you may be able to look back and say that this year—1963—was a lucky year also for the rest of the world. For, with the test ban treaty as a step, it may begin a new period when boys of 18 and 19 and 20 will no longer have to go out as did your father and your grandfather to fight wars.

Lots Of Love From
Your Grandfather.

Who Is Responsible For Birmingham Tragedy?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—The tragedy of Birmingham reflects the conflicts of angry men. It emphasizes a defeat for the rule of reason and a triumph for the spirit of mobocracy.

To preach non-violence, yet to sanction street "demonstrations" which incite to violence, is to stir up the deepest emotions. Under such circumstances, men on both sides tend to feel rather than to think.

Responsibility for the recent outbreaks of violence will be attributed by each side to the other in the "integration" controversy. It will be said that, if the churches themselves had not become active participants in the public demonstrations, there would have been less resentment in the communities. It will be argued in reply that there was no other way to dramatize what was felt to be an innate injustice both in law and morality.

There is no question about the fact that the bitterness of those who have been discriminated against because of race or color produces an anger that often brushes aside pleas for a rule of reason and for the operation of a system of law. Not so many years ago, the anger of the mob caused the lynching of many an innocent man. The mob always felt sure that the suspect was guilty and cried out: "Why wait for the courts—he's guilty!" The cry today is: "Why wait for the process of law—it's too slow!"

The air is filled with threats. It is being said that, unless this or that reform is immediately granted, there will be race violence. No constructive purpose is served by such threats and, when uttered by clergymen, they are even more discouraging. For what is lacking in the controversies today is the restraint that comes from a true religious spirit. Saint Thomas Aquinas in his famous book said: "The angry man is energetic in the pursuit of justice. But anger can destroy the reasonableness and prudence of our actions. Frequently angry men exact a greater vengeance than the injury done to them merits."

This applies particularly to the men who bombed the Negro church in Birmingham. They do not represent or reflect a majority sentiment in the community. They gave vent only to their own passions of anger, and their evil deed will bring about an adverse reaction to whatever cause they had in mind.

Who committed the crime—tossing a bomb that killed four young girls in a church during Sunday school services? Could this possibly have been the premeditated plot of any organized movement? Could it have been—as some observers are beginning to suspect—the work of that small but dangerous clique inside this country who capitalize on every public controversy? "There's something very embarrassed about the way American girls walk. We hunch up our shoulders as if we were ashamed of our own bodies. It's a sort of shamble. When they get older, American women put on those terribly flat foundation garments which leave them with no rear end at all. They are sort of nailed into a girdle. The back of American women is kind of terrible. Otherwise I found America pretty nice."

"Well," I said, "are you ever going back there to live or are you going to spend the rest of your life here?"

"I might very well spend the rest of my life right here," said Miss Seberg. "All my adult life has been spent in France. All my friends are here. This is really my home." Then she added, "And I hate that word expatriate. I'm still as Amereican as I ever was."

She sure is.

The Child Who Needs Help With His Speech

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Mrs. W. writes: "A 6-year-old boy cannot go to school because of aphasia. His parents have brought him to specialists and they all say the same. What can you tell me about this condition?"

Aphasia means the inability to communicate through speech. In children, language learning may be delayed for several reasons. The tot with sensory aphasia, for example, may be word deaf. He can hear but cannot understand what he hears. He is alert and often overactive and plays normally but tends to be shy. This may explain his auditory inattention. Other victims of word deafness have brain lesions and the youngster Mrs. W. writes about may be affected in this way because the specialists he saw had nothing to offer.

This condition differs from that of the deaf child who fails to hear sounds and, as a result, his speech will be defective. Other aphasic children may not be able to discriminate between letters like p and b so that different words sound alike to him.

Normal speech also is dependent upon coordinated movements of the lips, tongue, jaws, palate, larynx, and the muscles of respiration. An abnormality of the brain in the speech area may lead to motor aphasia. These children understand what is said and may wish to express themselves but do not know how to do so. Some of the speech difficulties encountered in cerebral palsied children are of this origin.

Psychogenic factors also enter the picture in aphasia. So long as some tots get what they want by gestures and grunts, they have no incentive to speak. Twins often develop a language of their own, not understood by other members of the family. Speech difficulties may arise when one language is spoken in the home and another at school.

Speech training is a highly skilled process. These youngsters must be trained in phonetics; and additional emotional guidance may help. As an illustration, a child with aphasia due to cerebral palsy is given an apple and the therapist says the word "apple" several times as the tyke looks at and fingers the fruit. Ultimately, he forms a picture of an apple and tries to say the word.

TUBERCULIN POSITIVE

A. J. writes: Does a positive tuberculin test mean the person is liable to get tuberculosis?

REPLY

Not necessarily. It indicates that at one time the individual was infected with and harbored the tubercle bacilli. It does not necessarily indicate that active clinical tuberculosis is present or ever has existed.

ARTERY HEADACHE

Mrs. T. writes: What is meant by a vascular headache?

REPLY

Pain in the head, caused by a dilated or overstretched artery in the brain. Migraine and histamine headaches are in this category.

TOMORROW: Traveling spirochetes in syphilis.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

The town drunk tried to get into bed without disturbing his wife, but heard her clomping downstairs the moment he shut the door. He made a dive for the library, reached for a book, and was sitting under the lamp when his wife collared him. "Hello, darling," he mumbled a bit indistinctly. "I thought I'd catch up a bit on my reading tonight."

"You did, did you?" she replied grimly. "Well, you just shut up that valise and come up to bed."

"The principle of spending money to be paid by posterity, under the name of funding, is but swindling posterity on a large scale."

An anti-Administration blast by a conservative banker made in Washington the other day? Not at all. It was said by Thomas Jefferson almost 200 years ago!

Harassed by a surging mob on the last shopping day before Christmas, a clerk shook her hed sadly and paused while writing down an impatient customer's address. "It's a madhouse, isn't it?" "Not at all," replied the customer haughtily. "It's a nice private residence."

Oldtown Methodists Plan To Construct New Church

OLDTOWN — Members of the congregation of the Oldtown Methodist Church who are now worshiping in a country-style two-story frame church which was erected in 1919, are in hopes of attending services in a modern masonry edifice in the near future.

This year a goal of $5,000 has been set and the fund-raising project is well under way, according to Mr. Summers, who said the new church will be located just west of the fire hall.

Stocks Drift Lower After Earlier Moderate Advance

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks drifted lower in moderate trading Wednesday after holding a modest gain earlier in the session.

Dow - Jones industrial average dropped 2.27 to 737.86, the biggest dip since the blue chip indicator slipped 2.45 on Sept. 9. Rails lost 1.26 to 171.55 and utilities dipped 0.31 to 142.50. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index dropped 0.32 to 72.80.

Trading swelled to 5,070,000 shares compared with the 4,950,000 shares which changed hands Tuesday. Of the 1,340 issues traded, 652 declined, 15 to new lows and 382 advanced 38 to new highs.

Brokers continued to be optimistic, terming the current period of mixed and sometimes lower dealings as merely a healthy period of consolidation.

The stock exchange Wednesday reported short interest rose to 5,879,686 shares on Aug. 15, the largest since December 14, 1962 when the short interest stood at 6,436,215 shares.

Brokers consider an increase in short interest a bullish factor since shares sold short eventually must be bought back and therefore represent potential buying.

Sperry-Rand topped the market in activity, rising ¾ to 16⅜ on a turnover of 203,200 shares. Studebaker was second with a loss of ½. Brokers noted the delayed opening in Studebaker and the large blocks which traded when it finally opened.

Chrysler was third with a gain of 1¼. The exchange reported Chrysler's short interest amounted to 224,089 shares. High Voltage Engineering was fourth with a loss of 1⅛ and North American Car was fifth with a loss of 1.

Polaroid also was among the most active, jumping 2⅛ after the company denied rumors that its new color film was not doing too well and that the film probably would be on allocation at least until the end of the year.

Garrett also was active rising 1 point to 50.

On the American Exchange prices were irregular on a turnover of 1,410,000 shares compared with 1,690,000 shares Tuesday.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Rye ended sharply lower while most grain futures were mixed Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the close, wheat was off ½ to up 1⅛; corn off ⅝ to up 1⅜; oats off ⅜ to up 3¾, and soybeans off 2½ to up ½.

September deliveries fluctuated as dealers evened up positions prior to the contracts' expiration tomorrow. A new siege of export business in soybeans, corn and wheat continued to reflect poor crop conditions in Europe and Russia.

Wheat started sharply higher, but profit-taking and selling of commission houses removed gains in all months bu May. May closed with a 1-cent gain. A report that Sen. Humphrey plans to try to persuade the administration to change its selling policy to communist countries prompted a short-lived rally around noon.

September corn was up over a cent on covering by shorts who did not believe the government corn will move fast enough for delivery on nearby contracts. Export buying steadied other deliveries on word that Great Britain took about 1,000,000 bushels of corn, but prices weakened in late selling.

September soybeans firmed in evening up activity. Other contracts ended lower.

Rye slipped more than 4 cents as commission house selling met limited demand. Winnipeg was down as much as 7 cents.

Stocks Drift Lower After Earlier Moderate Advance

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks drifted lower in moderate trading Wednesday after holding a modest gain earlier in the session.

Dow - Jones industrial average dropped 2.27 to 737.86, the biggest dip since the blue chip indicator slipped 2.45 on Sept. 9. Rails lost 1.26 to 171.55 and utilities dipped 0.31 to 142.50. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index dropped 0.32 to 72.80.

Trading swelled to 5,070,000 shares compared with the 4,950,000 shares which changed hands Tuesday. Of the 1,340 issues traded, 652 declined, 15 to new lows and 382 advanced 38 to new highs.

Brokers continued to be optimistic, terming the current period of mixed and sometimes lower dealings as merely a healthy period of consolidation.

The stock exchange Wednesday reported short interest rose to 5,879,686 shares on Aug. 15, the largest since December 14, 1962 when the short interest stood at 6,436,215 shares.

Brokers consider an increase in short interest a bullish factor since shares sold short eventually must be bought back and therefore represent potential buying.

Sperry-Rand topped the market in activity, rising ¾ to 16⅜ on a turnover of 203,200 shares. Studebaker was second with a loss of ½. Brokers noted the delayed opening in Studebaker and the large blocks which traded when it finally opened.

Chrysler was third with a gain of 1¼. The exchange reported Chrysler's short interest amounted to 224,089 shares. High Voltage Engineering was fourth with a loss of 1⅛ and North American Car was fifth with a loss of 1.

Polaroid also was among the most active, jumping 2⅛ after the company denied rumors that its new color film was not doing too well and that the film probably would be on allocation at least until the end of the year.

Garrett also was active rising 1 point to 50.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Rye ended sharply lower while most grain futures were mixed Wednesday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the close, wheat was off ½ to up 1⅛; corn off ⅝ to up 1⅜; oats off ⅜ to up 3¾, and soybeans off 2½ to up ½.

September deliveries fluctuated as dealers evened up positions prior to the contracts' expiration tomorrow. A new siege of export business in soybeans, corn and wheat continued to reflect poor crop conditions in Europe and Russia.

Wheat started sharply higher, but profit-taking and selling of commission houses removed gains in all months bu May. May closed with a 1-cent gain. A report that Sen. Humphrey plans to try to persuade the administration to change its selling policy to communist countries prompted a short-lived rally around noon.

September corn was up over a cent on covering by shorts who did not believe the government corn will move fast enough for delivery on nearby contracts. Export buying steadied other deliveries on word that Great Britain took about 1,000,000 bushels of corn, but prices weakened in late selling.

September soybeans firmed in evening up activity. Other contracts ended lower.

Rye slipped more than 4 cents as commission house selling met limited demand. Winnipeg was down as much as 7 cents.

Oats ended mixed as commission houses bought and cash interests sold.

Last week I introduced a bill in the House of Representatives that would give Maryland depositors of bankrupt savings and loan institutions the right to claim their losses for income tax purposes at an earlier date than under current law.

Many months have passed since various Maryland savings and loan associations went into receivership. The delays in possible distribution of remaining funds has resulted in added hardship to many Maryland families by postponing the allowance of an income tax deduction for the loss represented by the insolvent accounts.

My bill would permits such a tax loss to be taken immediately by the taxpayer. Favorable action on this bill would ensure partial relief at the present time for the many Maryland residents who were the unfortunate victims of savings and loan bankruptcies in 1961-62.

In fical year 1964 the Federal Government will spend 14 billion dollars on scientific research-the largest single item of expenditure with the exception of that allocated for the Department of Defense. This growing expenditure was discussed at length last week when the House of Representatives voted unanimously to establish a special watchdog comittee to keep tabs on the Government's involvement in scientific research.

The 9-man House group to be known as the Select Committee on Federal Research Programs is charged with the responsibility of ensuring maximum efficiency and beneficial distribution of funds for this research program. As a Nation we are proud of our wide scientific research program. Out of research comes progess which enriches our lives and strengthens our national security.

Maryland has a particular interest in this project. In the Maryland - D. C. area over 100,000 persons are employed in research and scientific activities and some 500 research oriented firms are in operation. Johns Hopkins University and the University of Maryland are among the top 25 colleges and universities in the nation with major Federal research programs.

The new House Committee has an important and difficult task to determine: how best to administer the Federal Research Program; in what areas new expenditures are needed; how to avoid duplication or overlapping of projects; where outdated and redundant programs should be discontinued.

We shall follow closely and with much interest the deliberations and reports of the House Select Committee on Federal Research Programs.

Hon. Joseph S. Farland, who recently resigned as U. S. Ambassador to Panama, feels that our foreign aid program in Latin America is not the best the American taxpayers have a right to expect. He cites red tape, a lack of competent aid administration, excessive control from Washington, and unnecessarily elaborate planning as seriously jeopardizing our entire foreign aid program in Latin America. These accusations take on special significance when offfered by an Ambassador who has served with distinction and success in the field.

Charges of waste and inefficiency in our foreign aid program must be answered by the administration, if the Congress is to continue the program. And to continue the program is of vital importance, particularly in Latin America where the Communist threat is on our very doorstep.

Ambassador Farland has spoken many times of the great value of our Latin American foreign aid program, but he rightly adds to his support the suggestion that frills be eliminated and widespread deficiencies be corrected.

These are sensible and thought-provoking statements and demand the immediate attention of our foreign aid administrators in Washington.

Capitol Comment

by Rep. Charles Mathias

Last week I introduced a bill in the House of Representatives that would give Maryland depositors of bankrupt savings and loan institutions the right to claim their losses for income tax purposes at an earlier date than under current law.

Many months have passed since various Maryland savings and loan associations went into receivership. The delays in possible distribution of remaining funds has resulted in added hardship to many Maryland families by postponing the allowance of an income tax deduction for the loss represented by the insolvent accounts.

My bill would permits such a tax loss to be taken immediately by the taxpayer. Favorable action on this bill would ensure partial relief at the present time for the many Maryland residents who were the unfortunate victims of savings and loan bankruptcies in 1961-62.

In fical year 1964 the Federal Government will spend 14 billion dollars on scientific research-the largest single item of expenditure with the exception of that allocated for the Department of Defense. This growing expenditure was discussed at length last week when the House of Representatives voted unanimously to establish a special watchdog comittee to keep tabs on the Government's involvement in scientific research.

The 9-man House group to be known as the Select Committee on Federal Research Programs is charged with the responsibility of ensuring maximum efficiency and beneficial distribution of funds for this research program. As a Nation we are proud of our wide scientific research program. Out of research comes progess which enriches our lives and strengthens our national security.

Maryland has a particular interest in this project. In the Maryland - D. C. area over 100,000 persons are employed in research and scientific activities and some 500 research oriented firms are in operation. Johns Hopkins University and the University of Maryland are among the top 25 colleges and universities in the nation with major Federal research programs.

The new House Committee has an important and difficult task to determine: how best to administer the Federal Research Program; in what areas new expenditures are needed; how to avoid duplication or overlapping of projects; where outdated and redundant programs should be discontinued.

We shall follow closely and with much interest the deliberations and reports of the House Select Committee on Federal Research Programs.

Hon. Joseph S. Farland, who recently resigned as U. S. Ambassador to Panama, feels that our foreign aid program in Latin America is not the best the American taxpayers have a right to expect. He cites red tape, a lack of competent aid administration, excessive control from Washington, and unnecessarily elaborate planning as seriously jeopardizing our entire foreign aid program in Latin America. These accusations take on special significance when offfered by an Ambassador who has served with distinction and success in the field.

Charges of waste and inefficiency in our foreign aid program must be answered by the administration, if the Congress is to continue the program. And to continue the program is of vital importance, particularly in Latin America where the Communist threat is on our very doorstep.

Ambassador Farland has spoken many times of the great value of our Latin American foreign aid program, but he rightly adds to his support the suggestion that frills be eliminated and widespread deficiencies be corrected.

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

KITCHEN NOTES

By MARIAN KEMP, Home Economist

CORNED BEEF is good eating any time of the year. Modern corned beef comes in a vacuum-sealed wrap and of various weight pieces, all ready for your kettle.

It can be cooked a day ahead, then just heat and glaze for dinner or slice cold for sandwiches and to serve with salads. Corned Beef is so versatile it is apt to show up in most any type of menu.

The old favorite Corned Beef and Cabbage is easy to prepare, but for a change you may like to try the Spicy Corned Beef.

CORNED BEEF AND CABBAGE

4-5 lb. corned beef brisket
Water to cover
1 medium head cabbage, cut into wedges
Chopped parsley, if desired

Place meat in kettle and cover meat with water. Cover tightly and simmer 3½ to 4½ hours or until tender. Allow 45 to 60 minutes per pound. Add cabbage wedges 15 minutes before end of cooking time. Sprinkle cooked cabbage with parsley, if desired. Eight to 10 servings.

SPICY CORNED BEEF

3-4 lbs. corned-beef brisket
1 orange, sliced
1 large onion, quartered
2 stalks celery, cut in half
2 cloves garlic, quartered
1 teaspoon dill seed
½ teaspoon rosemary
6 whole cloves
3 inches stick cinnamon
1 bay leaf

Cover corned beef with water. Add remaining ingredients. Cover and simmer (do not boil) 1 hour per pound of meat, or till tender. Remove meat from liquid, while hot, brush with light corn syrup to glaze. Serve at once or chill. Six to 8 servings.

Mustard Sauce for Meat:

2 tablespoons butter
5 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons dry mustard
1 pint vinegar
1½ teaspoon tumeric powder
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Blushing Chicken

4 chicken breasts, split in half
1 teaspoon monosodium glumate
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup dry white wine
1½ cups red currant jelly
1 cup (½ pint) dairy sour cream

Wash chicken, drain and pat dry. Sprinkle with monosodium glumate. Melt butter or margarine in electric skillet. Cook chicken slowly at 360° F. to a golden brown, turning to brown evenly. Add wine to chicken. Cover and cook slowly for 15 minutes at 300° F. Melt currant jelly in the pan juices, basting chicken thoroughly. Cook 15 minutes longer, uncovered, at 300° F. Turn frequently and baste until chicken is fork tender. Add sour cream to cause and blend well until thoroughly heated. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Cultured Sour Cream Adds Tangy Flavor

Cultured sour cream gets its smooth texture, heavy body and flavor tang from a special culture scientifically induced into pasteurized, homogenized sweet cream. In recent years it has become an increasingly popular choice for imparting subtle flavor to salad dressings, sauces, cakes and pastries, and with fruits and berries as a warm weather refresher.

Around-The-Clock Chip Omelet

(Serves 4-6)

6 eggs (separated)
½ c. milk
1 tsp. bitters
Dash pepper
¾ c. crumbled potato chips
3 tblsp. butter
½ c. grated cheddar cheese

Whip yolks of eggs until frothy. Add milk, salt, pepper, bitters and potato chips. Beat whites of eggs very stiff and fold into yolk mixture. Melt butter in heavy skillet until barely browned but not scorched. Add egg mixture and heat slowly. When mixture is smooth and thick turn carefully with pancake flipper. Spoon cheese over omelet and continue to heat until cheese has melted. Good for breakfast, lunch, dinner or midnight snack.

Fresh Berries Top Ice Cream Pie

For a refreshing summer dessert, fill a cooled pie crust with vanilla ice cream and top with sweetened fresh berries or fruit, such as strawberries, raspberries, or peaches.

Barbecued Beef For Picnic Sandwich

Wherever the picnic, barbecued beef sandwiches will make a hit.

An easy way to prepare them is to brown ground beef in a frying pan. Then add the ingredients for your favorite barbecue sauce, cover and simmer 30 minutes.

If you're traveling to your picnic, put the barbecued beef in a covered container.

Place in an insulated bag or wrap in several thicknesses of heavy paper.

Quick Dessert

For a cool, quick and pretty dessert, alternate layers of ice cream or sherbert with crushed peanut brittle in parfait glasses. Or, top chilled fruit salad with whipped cream and crushed peanut brittle.

1 bay leaf

Cover corned beef with water. Add remaining ingredients. Cover and simmer (do not boil) 1 hour per pound of meat, or till tender. Remove meat from liquid, while hot, brush with light corn syrup to glaze. Serve at once or chill. Six to 8 servings.

Mustard Sauce for Meat:

2 tablespoons butter
5 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons dry mustard
1 pint vinegar
1½ teaspoon tumeric powder
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Blushing Chicken

4 chicken breasts, split in half
1 teaspoon monosodium glumate
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup dry white wine
1½ cups red currant jelly
1 cup (½ pint) dairy sour cream

Cultured Sour Cream Adds Tangy Flavor

Cultured sour cream gets its smooth texture, heavy body and flavor tang from a special culture scientifically induced into pasteurized, homogenized sweet cream. In recent years it has become an increasingly popular choice for imparting subtle flavor to salad dressings, sauces, cakes and pastries, and with fruits and berries as a warm weather refresher.

Around-The-Clock Chip Omelet

(Serves 4-6)

6 eggs (separated)
½ c. milk
1 tsp. bitters
Dash pepper
¾ c. crumbled potato chips

½ c. grated cheddar cheese

Spoon cheese over omelet and continue to heat until cheese has melted. Good for breakfast, lunch, dinner or midnight snack.

Barbecued Beef For Picnic Sandwich

An easy way to prepare them is to brown ground beef in a frying pan. Then add the ingredients for your favorite barbecue sauce, cover and simmer 30 minutes.

If you're traveling to your picnic, put the barbecued beef in a covered container.

Add Rumaki To Your Repertoire

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A small appetizer, adapted from Pacific-island cookery, gained favor among sophisticated cooks some years back. It deserves to be widely known.

It's Rumaki we're talking about, that interesting combination of chicken livers, water chestnuts and bacon.

Rumaki is great to serve along with egg roll as a preface to a Chinese supper menu. And if you want to gild the lily, offer it with the sweet fruity sauce that the Chinese cuisine usually serves as a dip with egg rolls, barbecued spareribs and roast pork.

You can buy the egg roll frozen, but you'll have to make the Rumaki. This really is simple to do. Just allow an hour or so for marinating the chicken livers and wrapping them along with the water chestnuts in the bacon. Then these can be ready in the refrigerator to broil at the last minute.

Rumaki

8 chicken livers, about ½ pound
¼ cup soy sauce
¼ teaspoon curry powder
⅛ teaspoon ginger
1 can (5 ounces) water chestnuts
12 strips bacon, about ¾ pound

Separate halves of chicken livers removing dividing membranes; cut the larger half of the livers into two so there are 24 pieces of liver in all. In a shallow dish, stir together the soy sauce, curry powder and ginger; add livers and mix well; refrigerate, covered, about an hour, turning livers once or twice again in the marinade. Halve water chestnuts; cut bacon crosswise to make 24 pieces. Wrap a piece of chicken liver and half a water chestnut in a half-strip of bacon; secure each with a toothpick. Broil 5 to 8 minutes, turning as necessary, until bacon is crisp. Drain on paper toweling. Serve at once. Makes 2 dozen appetizers.

Cranberry Spices Chicken Dish

Here's another colorful way to cook chicken 'n' cranberry sauce. Use fryer legs and thighs in making Spiced Canberry Chicken.

Spiced Cranberry Chicken

6 fryer legs and thighs
½ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ inch salad oil in large fry pan

Cranberry Spice Sauce

In paper bag mix together flour, salt and pepper. Shake chicken pieces in seasoned flour mixture to coat. Brown chicken on all sides in hot oil. Cover tightly. Reduce heat and cook gently 20-30 minutes, turning occasionally, until tender. Drain on paper towels. Serve chicken topped with Cranberry Spice Sauce.

Cranberry Spice Sauce

2 tablespoon brown sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
¾ cup Cranberry Juice Cocktail
1 lb. can Whole Cranberry Sauce
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 teaspoon ground marjoram
1 tablespoon minced onion

Mix together brown sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Slowly stir in cranberry juice cocktail until smooth. Add whole cranberry sauce, spices and minced onion. Cook over medium heat, stirring, until mixture comes to a boil. Spoon over top of fried chicken.

Ideal Filling For Baked Pear Halves

Chop semi-sweet chocolate into small pieces and fold into sweetened, vanilla-flavored whipped cream; add this fluff to the cavities of canned drained or home-baked pear halves, cold or hot.

Good-enough-for-company dessert!

Baking turnovers? You can usually cut 12 to 14 five or six inch circles out of a batch of pastry that's enough for a two-crust eight-or-nine-inch pie.

Florida Recipe For Baked Fish

2 to 4 lbs. bluefish, mullet, mackerel or snapper
4 slices onion
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
Dash pepper
3 tbs. undiluted orange juice concentrate
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 teaspoon salt

Place fish in greased baking pan. Slash in several places and insert thin slice of onion in slashes. Melt butter or margarine and mix with salt, pepper, orange juice concentrate and soy sauce. Spread over and under fish and baste during cooking period. Bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees for 20 to 30 minutes.

Sweet Potato Or Yam?

What is the difference between a sweet potato and a yam? As far as flavor is concerned, they are much alike, although usually the latter have a higher sugar content and sometimes they fairly drip with syrup before they are cooked.

The simplest way of preparing each is baking until they are tender, which can be tested by pressing one potato between the fingers. As you have probably discovered, sweet potatoes or yams bake a little more quickly than do white, or as we sometimes call them, Irish potatoes. If you like, the pulp may be removed from the skins after the potatoes have been baked, mashed, seasoned and returned to the shells.

Children like stuffed potatoes because they are ready to eat and they do not have to wait at the table either to prepare them themselves or to wait for a grown-up to do it. Most of our yam supply is now coming from Louisiana and they have been cured for use through the next three months.

Mushroom Hint

Youngsters Enjoy Chocolate Cooler

A pitcherful of Chocolate Cooler in the refrigerator just hits the spot when the youngsters come in from school or play.

Combine 1 cup chocolate milk, 1 cup cracked ice, ¼ cup heavy cream and 2 tablespoons malt. Blend until smooth. Serves 2.

You can whip evaporated milk without adding lemon juice, but for more stability it should be added. Either way, pour the undiluted milk into a freezing tray until it gets mushy then whip rapidly. Evaporated milk triples in volume when whipped.

COOK'S TOUR

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI) — A palace chef copes regularly with problems that would give a home cook ulcers.

Kurt Linsi, chef for ten years to Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, once baked, decorated then served Red Sea perch to look like a main meat dish. He said that the disguise originally was planned to put guests at ease when they ate meat while their hosts ate fish during a fasting period.

The recipe was so well-liked that it was prepared for many later meals, Linsi said in a letter from Addis Ababa.

Cuisine Basically French

The cuisine was basically French, wrote the Swiss-born chef, but state dinners always contained some native dishes.

Except for Marshal Tito, who was on a low-fat diet, state guests asked that no exception be made to usual palace menus, said Linsi. Tito and he liked chicken and some Ethiopian foods, including an oat porridge called gintje.

Linsi, who now is head chef for Ethiopian Air Lines, said the local honey wine, tej, was popular with foreign guests.

But many native foods are too highly seasoned for international tastes, he added. They are toned down for airlines passengers as they were for palace guests from abroad. The airlines' menus, like those at the palace, are basically French with some Ethiopian dishes. The latter include dapo colo, a nut-like appetizer made from flour and spices, and quanta, a seasoned, dried beef appetizer.

Shelba Salad Favorite

Linsi said another favorite on the Europe-African route is Sheba salad, a mixture of chopped tomatoes and onion, sliced meat or fish and finely sliced hot green pimento dressed with red hot pepper paste, vinegar, olive oil, tej, salt, pepper, catsup and worcestershire sauce.

Kurt Linsi often prepared this tomato chicken recipe for palace dinners.

Skin legs and breasts of 2 (2 pound) chickens. Cut legs crosswise into pieces and halve breasts. Wash pieces several times in salt water containing lemon juice. Drain and saute in butter until the liquid evaporates, but do not allow meat to brown. Cover with water or light chicken stock. Salt and pepper to taste.

In a separate pan, fry until golden, 3 large onions, chopped, and some garlic. Add 1 cup each of chopped celery and carrots and a twig of basil. Continue frying. Add 2 (4 ounce) cans of tomato puree. Stir well. Add sauce and ½ glass of red wine to chicken. Simmer, uncovered, until the chicken is tender and sauce slightly thickened. Serve with rice or noodles and toosed salad. Serves 6 to 8.

Add Character To Ice Cream

Arrange a collar of cookie halves around the edge of each plate. Place a scoop of ice cream in the center of each collar. Top with a sugar cone hat. Use red cinnamon candles or nuts to make the clown's face.

Then watch the delighted faces as you serve the inverted ice cream cones to the youngsters.

Extra Mushrooms Added To Soup

You probably use condensed cream of mushroom soup on occasion as a sauce for your family.

Sweet Potato Or Yam?

What is the difference between a sweet potato and a yam? As far as flavor is concerned, they are much alike, although usually the latter have a higher sugar content and sometimes they fairly drip with syrup before they are cooked.

The simplest way of preparing each is baking until they are tender, which can be tested by pressing one potato between the fingers. As you have probably discovered, sweet potatoes or yams bake a little more quickly than do white, or as we sometimes call them, Irish potatoes. If you like, the pulp may be removed from the skins after the potatoes have been baked, mashed, seasoned and returned to the shells.

Children like stuffed potatoes because they are ready to eat and they do not have to wait at the table either to prepare them themselves or to wait for a grown-up to do it. Most of our yam supply is now coming from Louisiana and they have been cured for use through the next three months.

Mushroom Hint

Youngsters Enjoy Chocolate Cooler

A pitcherful of Chocolate Cooler in the refrigerator just hits the spot when the youngsters come in from school or play.

Combine 1 cup chocolate milk, 1 cup cracked ice, ¼ cup heavy cream and 2 tablespoons malt. Blend until smooth. Serves 2.

You can whip evaporated milk without adding lemon juice, but for more stability it should be added. Either way, pour the undiluted milk into a freezing tray until it gets mushy then whip rapidly. Evaporated milk triples in volume when whipped.

COOK'S TOUR

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI) — A palace chef copes regularly with problems that would give a home cook ulcers.

Kurt Linsi, chef for ten years to Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, once baked, decorated then served Red Sea perch to look like a main meat dish. He said that the disguise originally was planned to put guests at ease when they ate meat while their hosts ate fish during a fasting period.

The recipe was so well-liked that it was prepared for many later meals, Linsi said in a letter from Addis Ababa.

Cuisine Basically French

The cuisine was basically French, wrote the Swiss-born chef, but state dinners always contained some native dishes.

Except for Marshal Tito, who was on a low-fat diet, state guests asked that no exception be made to usual palace menus, said Linsi. Tito and he liked chicken and some Ethiopian foods, including an oat porridge called gintje.

Linsi, who now is head chef for Ethiopian Air Lines, said the local honey wine, tej, was popular with foreign guests.

But many native foods are too highly seasoned for international tastes, he added. They are toned down for airlines passengers as they were for palace guests from abroad. The airlines' menus, like those at the palace, are basically French with some Ethiopian dishes. The latter include dapo colo, a nut-like appetizer made from flour and spices, and quanta, a seasoned, dried beef appetizer.

Shelba Salad Favorite

Linsi said another favorite on the Europe-African route is Sheba salad, a mixture of chopped tomatoes and onion, sliced meat or fish and finely sliced hot green pimento dressed with red hot pepper paste, vinegar, olive oil, tej, salt, pepper, catsup and worcestershire sauce.

Kurt Linsi often prepared this tomato chicken recipe for palace dinners.

Skin legs and breasts of 2 (2 pound) chickens. Cut legs crosswise into pieces and halve breasts. Wash pieces several times in salt water containing lemon juice. Drain and saute in butter until the liquid evaporates, but do not allow meat to brown. Cover with water or light chicken stock. Salt and pepper to taste.

In a separate pan, fry until golden, 3 large onions, chopped, and some garlic. Add 1 cup each of chopped celery and carrots and a twig of basil. Continue frying. Add 2 (4 ounce) cans of tomato puree. Stir well. Add sauce and ½ glass of red wine to chicken. Simmer, uncovered, until the chicken is tender and sauce slightly thickened. Serve with rice or noodles and toosed salad. Serves 6 to 8.

Add Character To Ice Cream

Arrange a collar of cookie halves around the edge of each plate. Place a scoop of ice cream in the center of each collar. Top with a sugar cone hat. Use red cinnamon candies or nuts to make the clown's face.

Extra Mushrooms Added To Soup

You probably use condensed cream of mushroom soup on occasion as a sauce for your family.

Dodgers Edge Cards In 13th, 6-5, Lead By Four Games

Unearned Run Gives LA Club Series Sweep

Rookie Nen Ties Game With Homer In Top Of Ninth

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Los Angeles scored an unearned run in the 13th inning Wednesday night for a 6-5 victory that gave them a sweep of their crucial three-game series with St. Louis and shoved the Cardinals four games behind the National League-leading Dodgers.

The defeat left the Cardinals with an almost impossible task in trying to overhaul the front-running Dodgers. St. Louis is five games back in the loss column with only seven games remaining, four on the road. The Dodgers have nine games left—all at home.

The winning run was set up when usually sure-footed second baseman Julian Javier stumbled fielding a grounder, threw wild to first and put the decisive run at third base.

Willie Davis led off the 13th against reliever Lew Burdette with his seventh hit in the series. After Dodger relief ace Ron Perranoski struck out trying to bunt, Javier stumbled after fielding Dick Tracewski's grounder and threw wildly to first as Davis raced to third.

Burdette then intentionally walked Dick Nen, who tied the game with his first major league hit, a home run in the ninth.

Maury Wills then rapped a grounder to Javier, whose only play was at first base as the fleet-footed Willie Davis sped across the plate with the run that probably ended the Cardinals' pennant hopes.

Perranoski hurled five innings of scoreless relief, allowing only three hits, as he won his 16th game against only three defeats.

Barber Wins 20th For Birds

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Southpaw Steve Barber won his 20th game Wednesday night in pitching the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-1 victory over the Los Angeles Angels in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

Barber, now 20-12, needed help from relief pitcher Dick Hall who hurled the last two innings.

Angel starter Aubrey Gatewood pitched no-hit ball for five innings. But in the sixth, the Orioles got to him for two runs on successive singles by Russ Snyder, John Powell and rookie Sam Bowens.

In the second inning, the Angels gave Gatewood a 1-0 lead on singles by Bob Perry, Bob Rodgers and Ed Kirkpatrick.

Barber gave up six hits and struck out six during his seven innings on the mound, and became the first 20-game winner in modern Oriole baseball history.

Rookie's Homer Beats Bucs, 2-1

Cubs' Cowan Hits First In Majors

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Rookie Billy Cowan hit his first major league home run with Ron Santo aboard in the ninth inning Wednesday night to give the Chicago Cubs a 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the final game of the season at Forbes Field.

Cowan's blow came with two out off loser Joe Gibbon, now 5-11, and followed a walk to Santo. The victory gave Don Elston who pitched the last two innings a 4-1 record. He relieved Cal Koonce, the Cub starter.

Bob Bailey's leadoff homer in the first inning had given the Pirates a 1-0 lead.

The Pirates finished the home season with a 42-39 record. They won the season series from the Cubs, 10-8.

Rating Board Names Four Coaches

Devore To Serve As UPI Selector

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four new coaches will serve on the 1963 United Press International football coaches rating board, which will begin rating the nation's major collegiate teams weekly after games of Saturday, Sept. 28.

As in the past, five outstanding coaches from each of the seven geographical sections of the country will make up the board. Their ratings are generally recognized as the most authoritative in college football.

The new board members are Hugh Devore of Notre Dame, John Ralston of Stanford, Eddie Crowder of Colorado and Johnny Vaught of Mississippi.

The first of the 1963 ratings will be released for afternoon newspapers of Tuesday, Oct. 1. The ratings will be released alternately for Tuesday morning and Tuesday afternoon newspapers each week during the season.

Each of the 35 coaches will rate the top 10 teams each week. Their selections are used only to reach a consensus and never on an individual basis. Points are awarded on the basis of 10 for a first place vote, nine for a second and so on down to one for a 10th.

This will be the 13th season that the nation's foremost college coaches have rated the teams for United Press International. The board crowned Oklahoma the champion in 1950 and again in 1955 and 1956; Tennessee in 1951; in 1953; UCLA in 1954; Ohio State in 1957; Louisiana State in 1958; Syracuse in 1959; Minnesota in 1960; Alabama in 1961 and Southern California in 1962.

United Press International again will award a permanent trophy to the football team chosen by the coaches as the best in the land.

Athletics Rally To Nip Senators

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kansas City Athletics, sparked by rookie Dick Green and veteran Jerry Lumpe, came from behind Wednesday night to edge the Washington Senators, 5-4.

The Senators, ending their home season, led 4-1 after three innings, with Jim King driving in three runs. But Green and Lumpe led off the fourth with the first of six Kansas City singles that produced three runs to tie the contest.

In the fifth, Green singled, took third on Lumpe's single and scored the go-ahead run on Norm Siebern's sacrifice fly.

White Sox Rap Boston, 8-3

Stuart Hits 41st Homer For Losers

CHICAGO (UPI) — Pete Ward hit a three run homer and Floyd Robinson a two run home run Wednesday night to give the Chicago White Sox an 8-3 win over the Boston Red Sox in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader.

Ward's blow, his 21st, was the highlight of a four run eighth inning off the star Red Sox relief hurler, Dick Radatz, who worked only the one frame. Jim Landis and Robinson were on base when Ward drove the ball into the right-field stands.

Robinson's homer, his 12th, came with Gene Stephens on base in the first. Dick Stuart, the league home run leader, got his 41st homer with Carl Yastrzemski on base. Yastrzemski, who had made only one hit in 22 times at bat here previously this season, was three for four in the game.

Lakers Threaten To Move Team Out Of Memorial Arena

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The President of the Los Angeles Lakers—climaxing a tiff over assertedly high rent—informed the operators of Memorial Sports Arena Wednesday that the team would move somewhere else after the current season.

The team would stay in the Los Angeles area, but in another arena.

Upon receiving a letter from Robert E. Short, president of the Minneapolis Basketball Corp. which operates the Lakers, Coliseum Commission Chairman Kenneth Hahn described it as "bluff and pressure tactics at their worst."

Negotiations to lower the rent, based on 20 per cent of gate receipts with a maximum of $6,500 per game, ended in a stalemate a couple of weeks ago. The commission offered a moderate decrease in overall rent.

The Lakers paid a basic rent of $184,616 plus $2,520 in office space for the 16,000 seat arena, and Short asserted the team made only a small profit despite a $1-million plus gate.

Group Seeking Title Fight For Atlantic City

Giardello-Tiger Match In Works

NEW YORK (UPI)—Officials of a new boxing group announced Wednesday a lease to promote fights at the New York Coliseum and expectations of a November middleweight title match at Atlantic City.

The group operates as two corporations: The Empire State Sports Corporation, Inc., of New York, and the Garden State Sports Corporation, Inc., of New Jersey.

Samuel P. Bartoletta of Teaneck, N.J., president of both corporations, announced at a news conference in the Coliseum that the Empire State outfit has signed a one-year lease to stage at least 12 Coliseum shows, starting Dec. 2, and has applied for a New York State license to promote.

He said the Coliseum would seat approximately 5,000 for a fight.

Murray Goodman, former press agent for Madison Square Garden boxing and now promoter for both new corporations, disclosed that the New Jersey outfit hopes to close Friday for a title fight between middleweight champion Dick Tiger of Nigeria and challenger Joey Giardello of Cherry Hill, N.J.

Their title bout probably would be staged in Atlantic City's huge 40,000-seat Convention Hall in late November, he said, if a group of 19 Philadelphia admirers of Giardello came up with a guarantee of $100,000 for Tiger on Friday, as promised.

Houston Wins Over Reds, 8-4

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Jim Maloney broke a Cincinnati strikeout record but the Houston Colts ruined his bid for his 23rd victory by rallying for eight late-inning runs to defeat the Reds, 8-4, Wednesday night.

Maloney struck out two hitters in the first inning to erase the Cincinnati mark of 233 set by Frank (Noodles) Hahn in the 1901 season.

He fanned six more in the next six innings to raise his total to 240, but Houston tallied three runs in the fifth to reduce the Reds' lead to 4-3 and chased Maloney in the eighth.

Consecutive doubles by John Weekly, Carl Warwick and Rusty Staub and a single by John Bateman with none out in the eighth tagged Maloney with his seventh defeat. Weekly hit a two-run homer off Dom Zanni in the ninth to ice the win.

Dodgers Edge Cards In 13th, 6-5, Lead By Four Games

Unearned Run Gives LA Club Series Sweep

Rookie Nen Ties Game With Homer In Top Of Ninth

Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Los Angeles scored an unearned run in the 13th inning Wednesday night for a 6-5 victory that gave them a sweep of their crucial three-game series with St. Louis and shoved the Cardinals four games behind the National League-leading Dodgers.

The defeat left the Cardinals with an almost impossible task in trying to overhaul the front-running Dodgers. St. Louis is five games back in the loss column with only seven games remaining, four on the road. The Dodgers have nine games left—all at home.

The winning run was set up when usually sure-footed second baseman Julian Javier stumbled fielding a grounder, threw wild to first and put the decisive run at third base.

Willie Davis led off the 13th against reliever Lew Burdette with his seventh hit in the series. After Dodger relief ace Ron Perranoski struck out trying to bunt, Javier stumbled after fielding Dick Tracewski's grounder and threw wildly to first as Davis raced to third.

Burdette then intentionally walked Dick Nen, who tied the game with his first major league hit, a home run in the ninth.

Maury Wills then rapped a grounder to Javier, whose only play was at first base as the fleet-footed Willie Davis sped across the plate with the run that probably ended the Cardinals' pennant hopes.

Barber Wins 20th For Birds

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Southpaw Steve Barber won his 20th game Wednesday night in pitching the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-1 victory over the Los Angeles Angels in the first game of a twi-night doubleheader.

Barber, now 20-12, needed help from relief pitcher Dick Hall who hurled the last two innings.

Angel starter Aubrey Gatewood pitched no-hit ball for five innings. But in the sixth, the Orioles got to him for two runs on successive singles by Russ Snyder, John Powell and rookie Sam Bowens.

In the second inning, the Angels gave Gatewood a 1-0 lead on singles by Bob Perry, Bob Rodgers and Ed Kirkpatrick.

Barber gave up six hits and struck out six during his seven innings on the mound, and became the first 20-game winner in modern Oriole baseball history.

Rookie's Homer Beats Bucs, 2-1

Cubs' Cowan Hits First In Majors

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Rookie Billy Cowan hit his first major league home run with Ron Santo aboard in the ninth inning Wednesday night to give the Chicago Cubs a 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the final game of the season at Forbes Field.

Cowan's blow came with two out off loser Joe Gibbon, now 5-11, and followed a walk to Santo. The victory gave Don Elston who pitched the last two innings a 4-1 record. He relieved Cal Koonce, the Cub starter.

Bob Bailey's leadoff homer in the first inning had given the Pirates a 1-0 lead.

The Pirates finished the home season with a 42-39 record. They won the season series from the Cubs, 10-8.

Rating Board Names Four Coaches

Devore To Serve As UPI Selector

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four new coaches will serve on the 1963 United Press International football coaches rating board, which will begin rating the nation's major collegiate teams weekly after games of Saturday, Sept. 28.

As in the past, five outstanding coaches from each of the seven geographical sections of the country will make up the board. Their ratings are generally recognized as the most authoritative in college football.

The new board members are Hugh Devore of Notre Dame, John Ralston of Stanford, Eddie Crowder of Colorado and Johnny Vaught of Mississippi.

The first of the 1963 ratings will be released for afternoon newspapers of Tuesday, Oct. 1. The ratings will be released alternately for Tuesday morning and Tuesday afternoon newspapers each week during the season.

Each of the 35 coaches will rate the top 10 teams each week. Their selections are used only to reach a consensus and never on an individual basis. Points are awarded on the basis of 10 for a first place vote, nine for a second and so on down to one for a 10th.

This will be the 13th season that the nation's foremost college coaches have rated the teams for United Press International. The board crowned Oklahoma the champion in 1950 and again in 1955 and 1956; Tennessee in 1951; in 1953; UCLA in 1954; Ohio State in 1957; Louisiana State in 1958; Syracuse in 1959; Minnesota in 1960; Alabama in 1961 and Southern California in 1962.

United Press International again will award a permanent trophy to the football team chosen by the coaches as the best in the land.

Athletics Rally To Nip Senators

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kansas City Athletics, sparked by rookie Dick Green and veteran Jerry Lumpe, came from behind Wednesday night to edge the Washington Senators, 5-4.

The Senators, ending their home season, led 4-1 after three innings, with Jim King driving in three runs. But Green and Lumpe led off the fourth with the first of six Kansas City singles that produced three runs to tie the contest.

In the fifth, Green singled, took third on Lumpe's single and scored the go-ahead run on Norm Siebern's sacrifice fly.

White Sox Rap Boston, 8-3

Stuart Hits 41st Homer For Losers

CHICAGO (UPI) — Pete Ward hit a three run homer and Floyd Robinson a two run home run Wednesday night to give the Chicago White Sox an 8-3 win over the Boston Red Sox in the opener of a twi-night doubleheader.

Ward's blow, his 21st, was the highlight of a four run eighth inning off the star Red Sox relief hurler, Dick Radatz, who worked only the one frame. Jim Landis and Robinson were on base when Ward drove the ball into the right-field stands.

Robinson's homer, his 12th, came with Gene Stephens on base in the first. Dick Stuart, the league home run leader, got his 41st homer with Carl Yastrzemski on base. Yastrzemski, who had made only one hit in 22 times at bat here previously this season, was three for four in the game.

Lakers Threaten To Move Team Out Of Memorial Arena

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The President of the Los Angeles Lakers—climaxing a tiff over assertedly high rent—informed the operators of Memorial Sports Arena Wednesday that the team would move somewhere else after the current season.

The team would stay in the Los Angeles area, but in another arena.

Upon receiving a letter from Robert E. Short, president of the Minneapolis Basketball Corp. which operates the Lakers, Coliseum Commission Chairman Kenneth Hahn described it as "bluff and pressure tactics at their worst."

Negotiations to lower the rent, based on 20 per cent of gate receipts with a maximum of $6,500 per game, ended in a stalemate a couple of weeks ago. The commission offered a moderate decrease in overall rent.

The Lakers paid a basic rent of $184,616 plus $2,520 in office space for the 16,000 seat arena, and Short asserted the team made only a small profit despite a $1-million plus gate.

Group Seeking Title Fight For Atlantic City

Giardello-Tiger Match In Works

NEW YORK (UPI)—Officials of a new boxing group announced Wednesday a lease to promote fights at the New York Coliseum and expectations of a November middleweight title match at Atlantic City.

The group operates as two corporations: The Empire State Sports Corporation, Inc., of New York, and the Garden State Sports Corporation, Inc., of New Jersey.

Samuel P. Bartoletta of Teaneck, N.J., president of both corporations, announced at a news conference in the Coliseum that the Empire State outfit has signed a one-year lease to stage at least 12 Coliseum shows, starting Dec. 2, and has applied for a New York State license to promote.

He said the Coliseum would seat approximately 5,000 for a fight.

Murray Goodman, former press agent for Madison Square Garden boxing and now promoter for both new corporations, disclosed that the New Jersey outfit hopes to close Friday for a title fight between middleweight champion Dick Tiger of Nigeria and challenger Joey Giardello of Cherry Hill, N.J.

Their title bout probably would be staged in Atlantic City's huge 40,000-seat Convention Hall in late November, he said, if a group of 19 Philadelphia admirers of Giardello came up with a guarantee of $100,000 for Tiger on Friday, as promised.

Ortiz 2-1 Favorite To Whip Acera

HONOLULU (UPI) — World lightweight champion Carlos Ortiz remained Wednesday a 2-1 favorite to whip Pete Acera in their rain-delayed 10-round non-title fight Wednesday night.

The humidity was 94 per cent and the temperature in the mid-80s Wednesday. The bout had been scheduled for Tuesday night but was postponed by a storm. It is set for the Honolulu Stadium.

Houston Wins Over Reds, 8-4

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Jim Maloney broke a Cincinnati strikeout record but the Houston Colts ruined his bid for his 23rd victory by rallying for eight late-inning runs to defeat the Reds, 8-4, Wednesday night.

Maloney struck out two hitters in the first inning to erase the Cincinnati mark of 233 set by Frank (Noodles) Hahn in the 1901 season.

He fanned six more in the next six innings to raise his total to 240, but Houston tallied three runs in the fifth to reduce the Reds' lead to 4-3 and chased Maloney in the eighth.

Consecutive doubles by John Weekly, Carl Warwick and Rusty Staub and a single by John Bateman with none out in the eighth tagged Maloney with his seventh defeat. Weekly hit a two-run homer off Dom Zanni in the ninth to ice the win.

Hal Woodeshick hurled scoreless relief in the last three innings to gain credit for the win.

Sport Talk with Troxell by Ted

FROSTBURG STATE COLLEGE, which begins its third season of football with Saturday's opener against Shepherd, has released a brochure for 1963 that reveals some interesting facts about the school's grid program.

For example, there are no football scholarships or grants-in-aid available at FSC and the sport is considered merely an aspect of the attainment of a quality education. The football program has only one paying job, that of laundry operator at a modest wage.

One of the hardships endured by the Bobcats is the lack of an adequate field. Frostburg plays its home games at Beall High Stadium, but must practice in the back play area of the adjoining campus school—Pullen Elementary.

This area is 40 yards wide and 50 yards long, bounded directly by the brick and glass Pullen School on two sides, metal playground equipment and two iron manhole covers on two sides, and a steep bank incline that drops abruptly 15 feet on the remaining side.

FUTURE PLANS FOR THE Frostburg State campus include a football stadium, but in the meantime it might be wise for coach Ron VanRyswyk to equip his players with emergency parachutes.

VanRyswyk explains that full field drill is impossible, and "our practice on kicking and the kicking game is mainly mental drill only."

Academic demands and the late spring climate in the Windy City prevent the Bobcats from conducting any organized spring training, and the opening game of the season comes just three weeks after the first fall practice session on September 1.

In spite of the obvious hindrances confronting VanRyswyk, his team compiled a 4-4 record last year in only its second season of varsity football.

The Bobcats have an eight-game schedule lined up again this season and the good doctor (Ed. D., Syracuse University, 1960) hopes to add a football winner to the rapidly growing Frostburg institution's list of impressive achievements.

SPORT SMALL TALK . . . The News' account of Sunday's Pen-Mar Baseball League playoff game between Cumberland and Lonaconing stated that Coney's Bob Mundeno was picked off base by Hermans' righthander Johnny Price for the fourth time this season.

A check of the records indicates that it was actually the second time, but as one Pen-Mar League official remarked, "It's no disgrace to get picked off by Price. That boy has about the best pickoff move I've ever seen."

D. C. TEACHERS COLLEGE of Washington, a football opponent of Frostburg State College the past two seasons, was forced to discontinue the grid sport this year because only 15 players turned out for the team.

Football was started at the Capital City college in 1957, then dropped in 1960 for lack of a practice field.

"We got the Cardozo High School field for practice in 1961 and all the equipment we needed but this year we didn't get the boys," coach Phil Fox announced, adding, "There are only 200 undergraduate young men who could play and many of them are employed."

Frostburg State broke even in its two outings with the Teachers, losing 8-7 on a last-minute safety in 1961 and scoring a 28-0 shutout victory last year. D. C. Teachers did not appear on the Bobcats' 1963 schedule.

IN ANSWER TO INQUIRIES concerning the Baltimore Bullets-New York Knicks exhibition basketball game at Hagerstown a week from Saturday, tickets are priced at $1.50 each and can be obtained at North Hagerstown High School where the contest will be staged.

The game is set for 8 p. m., which conflicts with the South High-Martinsburg football battle in Hagerstown that night. Paul Hoffman, Bullets' general manager, has agreed to play the game in the afternoon, but then there would be a conflict with the Hagerstown races.

At any rate, the game will definitely be played some time on September 28 and a number of Cumberland fans are planning to make the Hub City trip for a pre-season look-see at these two NBA clubs.

The North Hagerstown High gymnasium has a seating capacity of approximately 2500.

SPEAKING OF THE HAGERSTOWN race meet, publicity man Dick Collyer informs us that it could be the best in history from practically every standpoint.

Hagerstown has the rare good fortune this year of not having to compete against any other area tracks, and there will be a plentiful supply of good horses on hand. The three-week meet opens Monday, with a 1:30 p. m. post time daily.

With the nearest thoroughbred racing at Atlantic City, some 200-plus miles away, new records may be set for attendance and pari-mutuel betting handle.

Lamb Chop Made Beldame Choice

NEW YORK (UPI)—W. Haggin Perry's Lamb Chop, leading candidate thus far for the 3-year-old filly championship, was installed as the early 8-5 favorite Wednesday for the $75,000 added Beldame Stakes at Aqueduct Thursday.

A field of 14 fillies and mares was listed to start in the 25th edition of the mile and one-eighth test and if all go the race will gross $88,400. The winner's share would amount to $57,460.

Waltz Song, a 4-year-old who has taken the Delaware Handicap and Maskette this year, was the second choice at 5-2. Delhi Maid and Smart Deb, a pair of 3-year-olds, were next in line at odds of 5-1 and 6-1, respectively.

Lamb Chop, who will be ridden by Braulio Baeza, lists the Coaching Club American Oaks, Monmouth Oaks and last week's Gazelle Handicap among her 1963 successes and she was second in the Alabama.

WVU-Navy Battle Complete Sellout

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia University announced Tuesday that the WVU-Navy game Saturday is a complete sellout with about 35,000 fans expected.

WVU officials said it was the fourth sell-out in Mountaineer history. The others were in 1954 and 1956 against Pitt and in 1955 against Penn State.

Coach Gene Corum put his Mountaineer squad through a brief review of defensive and offensive patterns. Corum said he would cut short Thursday's drill because of the heat and expressed some concern that hot weather Saturday could hurt the Mountaineers.

Anderson Quits Tennis Following Beating By Olmedo

WEMBLEY, England (UPI) — Mal Anderson, 28-year-old Australian, took a 6-1, 6-2 beating from Alex Olmedo in the quarter-finals of the professional tennis tournament Wednesday night and said he would retire from tennis.

"I'm finished," Anderson said. "I'm not going to be made to look like a mug again."

In his dressing room he said: "I've forgotten how to play the game. Alex was good, but when I can get only three games off any player, it's time to pack up. I shall play in just one more tournament."

Anderson then revealed that he would have to give up the game through eye trouble shortly. "My doctors gave me another 18 months play at the most," he said.

Anderson is the second of the professional troupe this week to announce his retirement. Tuesday night, Tony Trabert, manager of the group, announced he would be taking up a business appointment in November.

McHale Says Braves Not Committed To Any City

Club's Board Will Consider Several Offers

Plan To Remain In Milwaukee Is Outlined

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — President John McHale said Wednesday the Milwaukee Braves "have no commitment to any city—and that would include Milwaukee — for the 1964 season."

McHale said the club's board of directors in the near future will consider offers of several cities to move the franchise which was brought here from Boston in 1953.

"Offers have been made to move the Braves and these offers have not yet been taken up by the board," McHale said. "They will be considered by the board, as will a decision to remain in Milwaukee."

Visits County Executive

McHale's comments came shortly after a visit with county executive John Doyne, who had outlined two things the city and county would have to do to keep the Braves.

Doyne said there would have to be a campaign to sell between nine and ten thousand season tickets and the selling of a radio and television pact for about $1.25 million.

McHale said the Braves would realize only $525,000 from such a radio and television deal, with the rest going to production costs and so forth.

McHale called the Doyne's goals "Herculean tasks" but added that the situation in Milwaukee is not "insurmountable." He said that's what Doyne meant when he pictured the current situation as "gloomy."

Offers "Admirable"

McHale said the "offers" discussed by himself and Doyne Wednesday were "admirable."

Sources close to the situation said they doubted such offers could be fulfilled, however.

McHale said the figures discussed were what it would take for the Braves to "break even" if they remained in Milwaukee. He said the discussions were partly on the economics of baseball.

Night Grid Games Out In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — An end to night high school football games for the rest of the season was ordered by the Milwaukee City High School Conference Wednesday after assaults on students and vandalism resulted from season-opening games last Friday.

Alvin Westgaard, assistant superintendent of schools, said no thought had been given to abandoning football. All games will be played Saturday afternoon.

The decision was made after school officials met with police who sought cooperation in curbing attacks on students which left at least two girls injured Friday night.

Milwaukee thus joined other major cities such as Chicago, Detroit, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Philadelphia and St. Paul, which took similar action only two weeks ago.

Ex-Champ Patterson To Make Comeback

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI)—Former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson will start his comeback campaign in a fight at Stockholm, Jan. 6, Swedish promoter Edwin Ahlqvist disclosed Wednesday night.

He said no opponent has been picked yet for Patterson's first fight since his "repeat" first-round knockout by champion Sonny Liston at Las Vegas, Nev., on July 22.

After Floyd's bout in Stockholm's Johanneshovs' Ice Stadium, he probably will next fight Germany's Karl Mildenberger in Berlin, Ahlqvist said, and then England's Henry Cooper in London.

Twins Need More Solid Pitching To Win '64 Flag

Another Hitter Like Rich Rollins Sought By Mele

By BOB MARTEL
United Press International

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (UPI) —When Sam Mele became manager of the Minnesota Twins he sought out Chicago White Sox skipper Al Lopez and Chicago coach Tony Cuccinello for advice.

Whatever Lopez and Cuccinello told Mele it penetrated, because the former New York University basketball star brought his club home second in his first full season at the helm.

Today, Mele has his club in another battle, but it isn't for the American League pennant which the New York Yankees have tucked safely away. Minnesota is fighting for the second-place spot along with Lopez' White Sox.

While the Yankees were celebrating the winning of their fourth consecutive American League pennant last Friday night, Mele sat in his office, silently sipping on a can of beer.

"Sam, what's it going to take for the Twins to catch the Yankees next season," he was asked.

"For one thing," he said, "we'll have to have more solid pitching. We need another starter.

"We also could use some help in the bullpen. I have to think of where we would have been without Bill Dailey."

Although Mele wouldn't say it, he's had only three consistently good pitchers this season in Camilo Pascual, Dick Stigman and Lee Stange. Pascual was out for almost a month with an injury and Stange spent part of the season in the minors.

Jim Kaat has been a disappointment and Jim Perry, obtained from Cleveland for Jack Kralick, has not lived up to expectations.

"We have a lot of home run power on this club," Mele said. "What we need is another good hitter like Rich Rollins."

The Twins' pilot will have the task of fitting rookie Tony Oliva, one of these good hitters, into the lineup next season. Oliva is an outfielder who has been up among the hitting leaders in every league he has played in.

"Oliva will be playing for us next season," Mele said. "I'm not certain whom we'll shuffle to make room for him."

There is a good possibility that either Harmon Killebrew or Bob Allison will be installed at first base to make room for Oliva in the outfield.

"If we are going to win a pennant," Mele said, "we've got to start winning those one-run games. We've only won 12 of 38 this season.

Mets Sign Pitcher To Bonus Contract

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Mets Wednesday signed 20-year-old Fred Rescigno, son of a former Pittsburgh Pirates pitcher, to a modest bonus contract.

Young Rescigno, a 6-foot-3, 225-pound righthander, was signed to a contract with the Mets' farm club in the New York-Pennsylvania League. He comes from Elmhurst, Long Island, and attended St. Michael's College in Vermont for one year.

Rescigno's father, also Fred, pitched for the Pirates in 1943, '44 and '45.

Ebihara Wins Flyweight Title

Kingpetch KO'd In First Round

TOKYO (UPI)—Hiroyuki Ebihara, the knockout king of the little men, won the world's flyweight championship Wednesday night when he kayoed the veteran Pone Kingpetch of Thailand in the first round of their title fight at Metropolitan Gymnasium.

Ebihara, who has knocked out 24 opponents in 41 bouts, knocked down Kingpetch twice with lefts and the little man from the Thailand was counted out at 2.07 of the opening round as a howling crowd of 12,000 raised the roof with their cheers.

Immediately after the bout, Ebihara said he would be glad to give Kingpetch a return bout at Bangkok "at any time."

Ebihara's manager, Masaki Kaneshira, said he had a "gentlemen's greement" with Pone for the return title match.

The 23-year-old Ebihara had entered the ring a heavy favorite, because Kingpetch had appeared sluggish in his workouts. He went right to work on the titleholder and first knocked him down with a left to the jaw. Kingpetch got to his feet unsteadily, but it appeared he lost all his steam with that one punch. He landed only one blow during the fight, a light left to the face.

Hartack Slayer Pleads Guilty To Lesser Charges

CHARLES TOWN, W.Va. (AP) — Mrs. Frances Clara Brant, 47, pleaded guilty Wednesday to malicious and felonious assault with intent to kill in the fatal shooting of William J. Hartack Sr., father of jockey Bill Hartack.

She remained free on bond pending the processing of her application for probation.

The maximum penalty on the plea could be one to five years in prison.

Mrs. Brant, of Winchester, Va., was indicted Tuesday on the more serious charge of voluntary manslaughter.

Sport Talk with Troxell by Ted

FROSTBURG STATE COLLEGE, which begins its third season of football with Saturday's opener against Shepherd, has released a brochure for 1963 that reveals some interesting facts about the school's grid program.

For example, there are no football scholarships or grants-in-aid available at FSC and the sport is considered merely an aspect of the attainment of a quality education. The football program has only one paying job, that of laundry operator at a modest wage.

One of the hardships endured by the Bobcats is the lack of an adequate field. Frostburg plays its home games at Beall High Stadium, but must practice in the back play area of the adjoining campus school—Pullen Elementary.

This area is 40 yards wide and 50 yards long, bounded directly by the brick and glass Pullen School on two sides, metal playground equipment and two iron manhole covers on two sides, and a steep bank incline that drops abruptly 15 feet on the remaining side.

FUTURE PLANS FOR THE Frostburg State campus include a football stadium, but in the meantime it might be wise for coach Ron VanRyswyk to equip his players with emergency parachutes.

Academic demands and the late spring climate in the Windy City prevent the Bobcats from conducting any organized spring training, and the opening game of the season comes just three weeks after the first fall practice session on September 1.

The Bobcats have an eight-game schedule lined up again this season and the good doctor (Ed. D., Syracuse University, 1960) hopes to add a football winner to the rapidly growing Frostburg institution's list of impressive achievements.

SPORT SMALL TALK . . . The News' account of Sunday's Pen-Mar Baseball League playoff game between Cumberland and Lonaconing stated that Coney's Bob Mundeno was picked off base by Hermans' righthander Johnny Price for the fourth time this season.

A check of the records indicates that it was actually the second time, but as one Pen-Mar League official remarked, "It's no disgrace to get picked off by Price. That boy has about the best pickoff move I've ever seen."

D. C. TEACHERS COLLEGE of Washington, a football opponent of Frostburg State College the past two seasons, was forced to discontinue the grid sport this year because only 15 players turned out for the team.

Football was started at the Capital City college in 1957, then dropped in 1960 for lack of a practice field.

"We got the Cardozo High School field for practice in 1961 and all the equipment we needed but this year we didn't get the boys," coach Phil Fox announced, adding, "There are only 200 undergraduate young men who could play and many of them are employed."

Frostburg State broke even in its two outings with the Teachers, losing 8-7 on a last-minute safety in 1961 and scoring a 28-0 shutout victory last year. D. C. Teachers did not appear on the Bobcats' 1963 schedule.

IN ANSWER TO INQUIRIES concerning the Baltimore Bullets-New York Knicks exhibition basketball game at Hagerstown a week from Saturday, tickets are priced at $1.50 each and can be obtained at North Hagerstown High School where the contest will be staged.

The game is set for 8 p. m., which conflicts with the South High-Martinsburg football battle in Hagerstown that night. Paul Hoffman, Bullets' general manager, has agreed to play the game in the afternoon, but then there would be a conflict with the Hagerstown races.

At any rate, the game will definitely be played some time on September 28 and a number of Cumberland fans are planning to make the Hub City trip for a pre-season look-see at these two NBA clubs.

SPEAKING OF THE HAGERSTOWN race meet, publicity man Dick Collyer informs us that it could be the best in history from practically every standpoint.

Hagerstown has the rare good fortune this year of not having to compete against any other area tracks, and there will be a plentiful supply of good horses on hand. The three-week meet opens Monday, with a 1:30 p. m. post time daily.

Lamb Chop Made Beldame Choice

NEW YORK (UPI)—W. Haggin Perry's Lamb Chop, leading candidate thus far for the 3-year-old filly championship, was installed as the early 8-5 favorite Wednesday for the $75,000 added Beldame Stakes at Aqueduct Thursday.

A field of 14 fillies and mares was listed to start in the 25th edition of the mile and one-eighth test and if all go the race will gross $88,400. The winner's share would amount to $57,460.

Waltz Song, a 4-year-old who has taken the Delaware Handicap and Maskette this year, was the second choice at 5-2. Delhi Maid and Smart Deb, a pair of 3-year-olds, were next in line at odds of 5-1 and 6-1, respectively.

Lamb Chop, who will be ridden by Braulio Baeza, lists the Coaching Club American Oaks, Monmouth Oaks and last week's Gazelle Handicap among her 1963 successes and she was second in the Alabama.

WVU-Navy Battle Complete Sellout

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia University announced Tuesday that the WVU-Navy game Saturday is a complete sellout with about 35,000 fans expected.

WVU officials said it was the fourth sell-out in Mountaineer history. The others were in 1954 and 1956 against Pitt and in 1955 against Penn State.

Coach Gene Corum put his Mountaineer squad through a brief review of defensive and offensive patterns. Corum said he would cut short Thursday's drill because of the heat and expressed some concern that hot weather Saturday could hurt the Mountaineers.

Anderson Quits Tennis Following Beating By Olmedo

WEMBLEY, England (UPI) — Mal Anderson, 28-year-old Australian, took a 6-1, 6-2 beating from Alex Olmedo in the quarter-finals of the professional tennis tournament Wednesday night and said he would retire from tennis.

"I'm finished," Anderson said. "I'm not going to be made to look like a mug again."

In his dressing room he said: "I've forgotten how to play the game. Alex was good, but when I can get only three games off any player, it's time to pack up. I shall play in just one more tournament."

Anderson then revealed that he would have to give up the game through eye trouble shortly. "My doctors gave me another 18 months play at the most," he said.

Anderson is the second of the professional troupe this week to announce his retirement. Tuesday night, Tony Trabert, manager of the group, announced he would be taking up a business appointment in November.

McHale Says Braves Not Committed To Any City

Club's Board Will Consider Several Offers

Plan To Remain In Milwaukee Is Outlined

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — President John McHale said Wednesday the Milwaukee Braves "have no commitment to any city—and that would include Milwaukee — for the 1964 season."

McHale said the club's board of directors in the near future will consider offers of several cities to move the franchise which was brought here from Boston in 1953.

"Offers have been made to move the Braves and these offers have not yet been taken up by the board," McHale said. "They will be considered by the board, as will a decision to remain in Milwaukee."

Visits County Executive

McHale's comments came shortly after a visit with county executive John Doyne, who had outlined two things the city and county would have to do to keep the Braves.

Doyne said there would have to be a campaign to sell between nine and ten thousand season tickets and the selling of a radio and television pact for about $1.25 million.

McHale said the Braves would realize only $525,000 from such a radio and television deal, with the rest going to production costs and so forth.

McHale called the Doyne's goals "Herculean tasks" but added that the situation in Milwaukee is not "insurmountable." He said that's what Doyne meant when he pictured the current situation as "gloomy."

Offers "Admirable"

McHale said the "offers" discussed by himself and Doyne Wednesday were "admirable."

Sources close to the situation said they doubted such offers could be fulfilled, however.

McHale said the figures discussed were what it would take for the Braves to "break even" if they remained in Milwaukee. He said the discussions were partly on the economics of baseball.

Braves Halt Losing Spin

Rally To Defeat San Francisco, 6-4

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves, faced with a record losing streak, rallied for three runs in the eighth inning Wednesday to defeat the San Francisco Giants, 6-4, and take their first victory in the last nine games.

Roy McMillan's two-run double and a run scoring single by Ty Cline off reliefer Billy O'Dell provided the margin that kept the Braves from establishing their longest losing streak since coming to Milwaukee in 1953. The victory went to righthander Bob Shaw who worked the last two innings.

The Braves had hit Jim Duffalo, San Francisco's first reliefer, for two runs in the seventh to tie the score at 3-3.

Willie Mays' 36th homer of the year in the second inning produced the Giants' first run and San Francisco added single runs in the fifth and sixth inning.

Starter Jack Sanford worked the first six innings, giving up Milwaukee's first run in the first. Manager Alvin Dark apparently took him out because of the heat and humidity.

There will be five different classes in the tournament—one for juniors 10 years or younger, an open professional class, amateur class. Eastern Shore Championship, and Maryland State Championship.

Leon Enfield, a dairy farmer from Frederick and state champion the past two seasons, will be defending his title in a field that will include two other former champions—Miss Mary Lou Bartram of Jessup, three-time winner, and Waldon Burtner of St. Marys County, two-time champion.

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—They aren't giving the Little Brown Jug's record-winning heat time of 1:58 3-5 much of a chance of surviving through Thursday.

The 11-horse field of top 3-year-old pacers—10 colts and a filly—will meet at about 1:50 p.m., EST, on the Delaware Fairgrounds' one-half-mile track. At stake are a gross purse of $68,294 and the prestige of winning the second leg of harness racing's triple crown for 3-year-old pacers.

Pre-race standouts in the field are Overtrick, Meadow Skipper and Country Don. All are capable of record performances on the fast Delaware track. The standard they'll be shooting for was set in 1960 by two horses—Bullet Hanover and Munch Hanover—in separate heats.

Meadow Skipper won the first test in the triple crown, upsetting favored Overtrick and turning in a 1:58 4-5 in the Cane Futurity at Yonkers Raceway.

Liston Flies Home From London Tour Amid Flurry Of Rumors

Champ Claims Daughter Ailing; Writer Differs

LONDON (AP)—World heavyweight champion Sonny Liston broke off a successful exhibition tour of Britain Wednesday and flew home amid a flurry of contradictory rumors.

Liston told newsmen he was flying to the bedside of his 12-year-old daughter, Eleanor, who he said was ill at home in Denver, Colo.

But Walter Bartleman, boxing writer of the London Evening Standard, claimed that Liston took off in a rage after a quarrel with adviser Jack Nilon.

The incident created some consternation back in the United States, where it never had been publicly revealed before that the heavyweight king had any children at all.

Nilon said Liston had two daughters—Mary, 17, and Eleanor, 12, both living in Denver.

In Denver, Mrs. Liston, who said she knew nothing of her husband's return, said the champion had only one daughter, actually a stepdaughter, Eleanor, 12.

Eleanor is healthy and attending school, Mrs. Liston added.

In Chicago, Liston's aide, Ben Bentley, said Sonny had confided to him after the second Floyd Patterson fight last July that he had two daughters.

Liston is listed in Ring, the official boxing book, as having been born May 8, 1934. This would make him 29.

Bentley said Liston was 30.

"He could have been 15 or 16," Bentley said, "but he never talked about any earlier marriage to me."

Bartleman, who said Liston and Nilon had a spat, said when he approached Nilon on the matter, the latter said:

"There is positively no truth at all in such an allegation."

He explained why he took a later plane by saying: "I had to clear up all our outstanding commitments."

Nilon said Liston would be back to fulfill scheduled exhibition appearances at Birmingham and Blackpool plus a show on British television.

Braves Halt Losing Spin

Rally To Defeat San Francisco, 6-4

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The Milwaukee Braves, faced with a record losing streak, rallied for three runs in the eighth inning Wednesday to defeat the San Francisco Giants, 6-4, and take their first victory in the last nine games.

Roy McMillan's two-run double and a run scoring single by Ty Cline off reliefer Billy O'Dell provided the margin that kept the Braves from establishing their longest losing streak since coming to Milwaukee in 1953. The victory went to righthander Bob Shaw who worked the last two innings.

The Braves had hit Jim Duffalo, San Francisco's first reliefer, for two runs in the seventh to tie the score at 3-3.

Willie Mays' 36th homer of the year in the second inning produced the Giants' first run and San Francisco added single runs in the fifth and sixth inning.

Starter Jack Sanford worked the first six innings, giving up Milwaukee's first run in the first. Manager Alvin Dark apparently took him out because of the heat and humidity.

Liston is listed in Ring, the official boxing book, as having been born May 8, 1934. This would make him 29.

Bentley said Liston was 30.

The champion's aide was at a loss to explain if Sonny fathered his 17-year-old daughter at the age of 13.

"He could have been 15 or 16," Bentley said, "but he never talked about any earlier marriage to me."

Bartleman, who said Liston and Nilon had a spat, said when he approached Nilon on the matter, the latter said:

"There is positively no truth at all in such an allegation."

He explained why he took a later plane by saying: "I had to clear up all our outstanding commitments."

Nilon said Liston would be back to fulfill scheduled exhibition appearances at Birmingham and Blackpool plus a show on British television.

Net Amateurs Not Anxious To Turn Pro

Trabert Troupe Can't Land Talent

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Trabert and his pro tennis troupe are finding it tough to land new talent —a necessary ingredient to the success of the racket-swinging road show.

"I pick up maybe $5,000 a year, maybe a little more," said Ronnie Barnes, the attractive Brazilian who surprised everybody by gaining the semifinals of the United States National Championships recently at Forest Hills.

"But, me? I am small tortillas. Roy Emerson and Chuck McKinley—they have big names and in much more demand. They make me look like—what you call it?—a piker."

Barnes is 23. He has been playing the amateur tennis circuit since he was 15. He goes from the Caribbean to the French Riviera, Britain, Scandinavia, the U.S. Eastern grass court circuit and, when it starts getting cold, down to his native South America.

The tennis "shamateur" is one of international sports' tired cliches. Payoffs—above-board and under-the-table — are routine. Everybody knows it. Players and officials accept it. Nothing is ever done about it.

Roy Emerson is perhaps the world's No. 1 amateur tennis tourist. No longer in school, he follows the circuit and the sun—Australia, Europe, United States and back to Australia—for almost 12 months of the year.

All of Emerson's income — and it's reported considerable—stems from the racket game. While he has never said so, he figures to pick up about $8,000 a year from playing in the various tournaments. He draws close to $10,000 as a representative of a tobacco firm. He lives well.

The U.S. rules state that a player may ask only "proper, reasonable and moderate expenses"—not to exceed $28 a day. The international code is rather flexible. It is based on local living conditions.

EVANSTON, Ill. (UPI) — Tommy Myers, Northwestern University's brilliant quarterback, set a new NCAA record in his initial varsity football season in 1962 when he completed 15 consecutive passes.

Mets Lose To Phils, 5-1, In Finale At Polo Grounds

Loss Is 105th In Two Seasons At Old Ball Park

NEW YORK (UPI) —The New York Mets played their last game at the famed Polo Grounds and ended their home season by losing a 5-1 decision to Chris Short and the Philadelphia Phillies.

It was the Mets' 105th loss in two years at the old ball park formerly occupied by the New York Giants, who moved to San Francisco after the 1957 season.

Artistically, the Mets' two years in the Polo Grounds was a failure but financially they were a success. The Mets this season drew 1,080,104 paid customers, an increase of 157,574 over 1962.

Only 1,752 fans attended the finale and there were no special ceremonies to mark the last major league baseball in the park which first was opened in 1911.

Short, bringing his season record to 8-11, held the Mets to nine hits and missed a shutout when Jim Hickman hit his 17th homer leading off in the fourth inning.

Craig Anderson, who lost 16 straight games for the Mets last year and recently was recalled from Buffalo, suffered the defeat. Anderson blanked the Phils for three innings but was tagged for three unearned runs in the fourth.

An error by Ron Hunt opened the gates and Clay Dalrymple and Roy Sievers followed with singles. After Cookie Rojas forced Sievers, Bobby Wine tripled home two runs.

Jack Nicklaus Will Defend Portland Title

Ex-Champ Casper Is Co-Favorite

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) —Jack Nicklaus, as popular as ever here after striking out in the Seattle Open last week, defends his Portland Open golf championship in the $30,000 event opening Thursday.

The Masters and PGA champion delighted a gallery during a practice round. He looked for familiar landmarks from last year in his habitual study of the 6,444-yard Columbia - Edgewater layout, and chatted easily with the crowd.

They praised the lush condition of the course, which most agreed would play longer than last year when Nicklaus won with a 19-under-par 269 including a two-stroke penalty for slow play.

"I think it will take about a 272 to win this year," Nicklaus said.

Heavy rains during the past week have softened the course and the pros won't get the long roll they're accustomed to on the mountain and desert courses.

The field will include 10 of the top 20 money winners on the 1963 tour — Nicklaus, Bruce Crampton, Bobby Nichols, Casper, Don January, Tommy Aaron, George Bayer, Mason Rudolph, Doug Ford, Jay Hebert, Paul Harney.

Nicklaus will be hot after the $4,700 first money here in an effort to catch Palmer in the money-winning derby, with Palmer now leading $101,555 to $83,465. Big Jack may have suffered a letdown after his $50,000 victory in the World Series of golf when he failed to make the cut in Seattle, but he had no excuses here.

"I just didn't play very well in Seattle," he said. "I just didn't get organized or something."

LEADS NATION

Net Amateurs Not Anxious To Turn Pro

Trabert Troupe Can't Land Talent

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Trabert and his pro tennis troupe are finding it tough to land new talent —a necessary ingredient to the success of the racket-swinging road show.

The amateurs are having it too good.

"I pick up maybe $5,000 a year, maybe a little more," said Ronnie Barnes, the attractive Brazilian who surprised everybody by gaining the semifinals of the United States National Championships recently at Forest Hills.

"But, me? I am small tortillas. Roy Emerson and Chuck McKinley—they have big names and in much more demand. They make me look like—what you call it?—a piker."

Barnes is 23. He has been playing the amateur tennis circuit since he was 15. He goes from the Caribbean to the French Riviera, Britain, Scandinavia, the U.S. Eastern grass court circuit and, when it starts getting cold, down to his native South America.

The tennis "shamateur" is one of international sports' tired cliches. Payoffs—above-board and under-the-table — are routine. Everybody knows it. Players and officials accept it. Nothing is ever done about it.

Roy Emerson is perhaps the world's No. 1 amateur tennis tourist. No longer in school, he follows the circuit and the sun—Australia, Europe, United States and back to Australia—for almost 12 months of the year.

All of Emerson's income — and it's reported considerable—stems from the racket game. While he has never said so, he figures to pick up about $8,000 a year from playing in the various tournaments. He draws close to $10,000 as a representative of a tobacco firm. He lives well.

The U.S. rules state that a player may ask only "proper, reasonable and moderate expenses"—not to exceed $28 a day. The international code is rather flexible. It is based on local living conditions.

SETS RECORD

EVANSTON, Ill. (UPI) — Tommy Myers, Northwestern University's brilliant quarterback, set a new NCAA record in his initial varsity football season in 1962 when he completed 15 consecutive passes.

Mets Lose To Phils, 5-1, In Finale At Polo Grounds

Loss Is 105th In Two Seasons At Old Ball Park

NEW YORK (UPI) —The New York Mets played their last game at the famed Polo Grounds and ended their home season by losing a 5-1 decision to Chris Short and the Philadelphia Phillies.

It was the Mets' 105th loss in two years at the old ball park formerly occupied by the New York Giants, who moved to San Francisco after the 1957 season.

Artistically, the Mets' two years in the Polo Grounds was a failure but financially they were a success. The Mets this season drew 1,080,104 paid customers, an increase of 157,574 over 1962.

Only 1,752 fans attended the finale and there were no special ceremonies to mark the last major league baseball in the park which first was opened in 1911.

Short, bringing his season record to 8-11, held the Mets to nine hits and missed a shutout when Jim Hickman hit his 17th homer leading off in the fourth inning.

Craig Anderson, who lost 16 straight games for the Mets last year and recently was recalled from Buffalo, suffered the defeat. Anderson blanked the Phils for three innings but was tagged for three unearned runs in the fourth.

An error by Ron Hunt opened the gates and Clay Dalrymple and Roy Sievers followed with singles. After Cookie Rojas forced Sievers, Bobby Wine tripled home two runs.

Jack Nicklaus Will Defend Portland Title

Ex-Champ Casper Is Co-Favorite

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) —Jack Nicklaus, as popular as ever here after striking out in the Seattle Open last week, defends his Portland Open golf championship in the $30,000 event opening Thursday.

The Masters and PGA champion delighted a gallery during a practice round. He looked for familiar landmarks from last year in his habitual study of the 6,444-yard Columbia - Edgewater layout, and chatted easily with the crowd.

Nicklaus, the year's second leading money winner to absentee Arnold Palmer, and Bill Casper, three - time winner of the Portland tournament, were the favorites in the field of 149 pros and 10 amateurs.

Most of them arrived early this week for practice rounds in crisp fall sunshine and to play in Wednesday's $3,000 Pro-Amateur tournament.

They praised the lush condition of the course, which most agreed would play longer than last year when Nicklaus won with a 19-under-par 269 including a two-stroke penalty for slow play.

"I think it will take about a 272 to win this year," Nicklaus said.

Heavy rains during the past week have softened the course and the pros won't get the long roll they're accustomed to on the mountain and desert courses.

The field will include 10 of the top 20 money winners on the 1963 tour — Nicklaus, Bruce Crampton, Bobby Nichols, Casper, Don January, Tommy Aaron, George Bayer, Mason Rudolph, Doug Ford, Jay Hebert, Paul Harney.

Nicklaus will be hot after the $4,700 first money here in an effort to catch Palmer in the money-winning derby, with Palmer now leading $101,555 to $83,465. Big Jack may have suffered a letdown after his $50,000 victory in the World Series of golf when he failed to make the cut in Seattle, but he had no excuses here.

"I just didn't play very well in Seattle," he said. "I just didn't get organized or something."

Card Of Thanks

I take this means to thank my friends, neighbors, city officials and members of the lodges to which I belong, for their kindness extended to me during my recent bereavement the death of my husband Daniel H. Arnold. I also wish to thank those who sent flowers and food, donated cars, the pallbearers, and the pastors, Rev. Louis Emerick, and Rev. William E. McGrew.

His wife
Margretta Arnold

In Memoriam

In memory of Anthony LaPorta who passed away two years ago today, September 19, 1961.
The chair you sat in, and the place you filled,
Still hold your memory, though your voice be stilled;
And we who knew you, know you still, and share,
The peace you know, who have passed over there.
Sadly missed by Wife and Daughter

Card Of Thanks

I take this means to thank my friends, neighbors, city officials and members of the lodges to which I belong, for their kindness extended to me during my recent bereavement the death of my husband Daniel H. Arnold. I also wish to thank those who sent flowers and food, donated cars, the pallbearers, and the pastors, Rev. Louis Emerick, and Rev. William E. McGrew.

His wife
Margretta Arnold

In Memoriam

In memory of Anthony LaPorta who passed away two years ago today, September 19, 1961.

The chair you sat in, and the place you filled,
Still hold your memory, though your voice be stilled;
And we who knew you, know you still, and share,
The peace you know, who have passed over there.
Sadly missed by Wife and Daughter

Public Opinion Anybody's Guess

BALTIMORE (AP)—What does the public think about you, a group of Baltimore municipal employes was asked Wednesday.

"They think we're stupid."

"They think we're after a bribe."

"They think we're intimidators."

Now why, the building inspectors were asked, does the public feel that way.

"It's because they're ignorant," replied one.

"And can human nature be changed," rhetorically asked Dr. Wilmer V. Bell who was conducting a seminar on that very subject.

He compared people to an atom. "They cannot be changed, but we can work with it."

Public Opinion Anybody's Guess

BALTIMORE (AP)—What does the public think about you, a group of Baltimore municipal employes was asked Wednesday.

"They think we're stupid."

"They think we're after a bribe."

"They think we're intimidators."

Now why, the building inspectors were asked, does the public feel that way.

"It's because they're ignorant," replied one.

"It's human nature," said a layman philosopher.

"And can human nature be changed," rhetorically asked Dr. Wilmer V. Bell who was conducting a seminar on that very subject.

He compared people to an atom. "They cannot be changed, but we can work with it."

City Asked To Improve Water Supply

14-Point Plan Recommended For Improvement

Two public health engineers yesterday discussed with officials of the City of Cumberland a report which gives the municipal water supply a provisional rating and makes recommendations for the prompt correction of 14 deficiencies.

The report was presented at a meeting held yesterday afternoon and attended by Thomas D. McKewen and Frederick K. Pyne, public health engineers; James E. Mullis, Water Department clerk; G. Ray Light, water commissioner; C. R. Nuzum, city engineer; Herbert B. Stallings, water superintendent, and Albert R. Nixon, filter plant foreman.

During the session, the engineers discussed the report and made plans for a second meeting to be held October 9 at 10 a. m. in City Hall.

Expires January 1

The report noted that the Cumberland municipal water supply was given a provisional classification on January 1, 1963, to expire January 1, 1964, adding "It is anticipated that within a year a program will have been inaugurated whereby the deficiencies noted herein have been corrected or are in the process of being corrected."

The 14 deficiencies noted, along with recommendations follow:

1. The City of Cumberland has no active plumbing control program and no program for the systematic inspection, detection and removal of existing cross-connections or back-flow and back-siphonage possibilities in the distribution system. It anticipated that definite progress toward a working plumbing control system will be made during the provisional period.

Ask Analyses

2. There is no information on the concentration of most of those chemical substances with listed limits in the U.S.P.H.S. drinking water standards. It was recommended that analyses be made at intervals set by the State Health Department.

3. The Maryland Health Department is exploring the possibility of establishing a certification program for water plant bacteriological laboratories. Until the program is developed, recommendations attached to the report should be used as a guide for laboratory equipment and technique.

4. It is recommended that the City of Cumberland upgrade the requirements for the position of water plant operator. If not already in existence, definite position qualifications and job descriptions should be established and adhered to. It was also recommended that the plant operator attend courses offered by health and water agencies.

Urge Engineer

5. It appears from survey findings that there is a definite need for the creation of a supervisory position employing the full-time services of an individual well-rounded in water treatment and distribution maintenance. It is recommended that the city hire a full-time water supply engineer and that he be given authority and responsibility for the supervision of water collection, treatment and distribution.

6. Only one 36-inch line supplies water to the treatment plant. The gatehouse intake valves on this line cannot be used to effectively cut off the flow of the raw water to the plant.

City authorities should consider the consequences of a rupture in this single raw water feedline. Not only will a great deal of water be lost because of inoperable valves but the plant and the city would be without water until the line could be repaired or replaced.

It was recommended that immediate plans be made to provide an alternate raw water line from Lake Gordon to the treatment plant and to begin the immediate replacement or repair of the valves in the Lake Gordon gatehouse.

Repairs Urged

7. Noting there was no record of recent ground of elevated water storage reservoirs, the report recommended that all storage facilities be inspected and repaired this year.

8. Both the Fort Hall and Ridgedale reservoirs are open water storage facilities. It recommended that both be abandoned, replaced or renovated and covered, and that in the meantime, the water from the reservoirs be automatically rechlorinated.

9. It appears that 12 of the water plant filters need repairs or replacement of wash water valves and underdrain collection laterals. It was recommended that all filter underdrains and valves be inspected and that repairs, as indicated, be made.

10. Water plant meters, gauges and chemical feed equipment have not been calibrated recently. It was recommended that such calibrations be made and up-to-date calibration charts be kept on hand.

11. The plant has only one wash water pump. It is recommended that long-range planning include providing an alternate wash water pump.

Alternates Urged

12. No alternate chemical feed equipment is provided. It was rec-

Substitute Carrier Faces Theft Charge

Federal Grand Jury Action Awaited

A 20-year-old substitute mail carrier working out of the main Post Office has been released under $1,000 bond pending action of the Federal District Court grand jury in Baltimore on a charge of embezzlement of funds dispatched by mail.

James Allen Lowery of 707 Baker Street waived his right to a preliminary hearing Tuesday before U. S. Commissioner James Alfred Avirett. He then was released under bond.

The temporary carrier had been employed at the Post Office several months. He was a former student at Fort Hill High School and was a veteran of Navy service.

Lowery was charged specifically Monday with embezzling $6.40 from a letter which had been enclosed in an envelope addressed to the former First National Bank and Trust Company. Mr. Grapes identified the six $1 bills and 40 cents in change by markings he had placed on them himself.

Circulation At Library Totals 20,352 In August

The Allegany County Library had an August circulation of 20,352 books but Rollin P. Marquis said that total for his first month as librarian was 668 less than the 21,020 volumes of August 1962.

It was generally assumed that the arrival of a new librarian to succeed Miss Mary G. Walsh who retired, would tend to focus more attention on the library and consequently provide a stimulus to circulation.

August circulation was spotty. Three of the branches reported declines while the other three circulated more books last month than in August a year ago.

The main library in Cumberland was the leader with an August circulation of 6,202 books but that was far below the 7,478 books of the previous August.

Second in circulation last month was the bookmobile, with 4,200 but that was 461 fewer books than August a year ago.

Library branches at Frostburg, LaVale and Penn Avenue all reported increased circulation last month. Frostburg advanced from 3,391 in August 1962 to 3,709; LaVale was up from 1,716 to 2,453 and Penn Avenue jumped from 1,558 to 2,252. In last place was the Westernport library with an August circulation of 1,536 compared with 2,216 in August 1962.

More than half of the books circulated last month were juvenile fiction. There were 10,222 in that classification. Other totals last month include 4,403 adult fiction, 3,504 juvenile non-fiction and 2,223 adult non-fiction.

There were 321 new book borrowers registered in August. They included 188 at the main library, 49 at Frostburg, 38 at the bookmobile, 35 at LaVale and 11 at Westernport.

Some 439 magazines were circulated out of three libraries. They included 183 from Penn Avenue, 156 from the main library and 100 from Frostburg.

Red Cross Sets Meeting For Gray Ladies

Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, has scheduled a meeting for all active and inactive Gray Ladies September 26 at 12:30 p.m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

Mrs. Sara G. Lindsay, executive secretary, said each member of the Gray Lady group is asked to bring a friend who might be interested in becoming a volunteer in this service of the Red Cross.

The chapter plans to hold its fifth Gray Lady course soon, and interested women may contact the local office for information about the meeting, which will be a Dutch-treat luncheon.

Reservations for the luncheon must be made by noon Wednesday, September 25.

Mrs. Lindsay said members will sign up for the fall schedule at the local hospitals and Allegany County Infirmary.

She will explain the Gray Lady service and answer questions regarding work done by the volunteers at the hospitals and infirmary.

Both Neighbors Should Use Spring Water

Judge Harris To File Decree

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday informed McCoole neighbors involved in a dispute over the right to use water from the so-called "Chicken House" spring that they both should be able to use the water.

Calvin A. Landis and Erma L. Landis, his wife, brought the equity action against Charles H. Winkler and Florence A. Winkler, his wife. All are from McCoole. The Landises said that the deed for the service station lot they acquired November 9, 1956, carried a covenant which provided that they could get their water for this lot from a spring on adjoining property.

The Winklers obtained title to the adjoining property by deed dated October 5, 1959. It was charged in the bill of complaint that the Winklers refused to allow the Landises to use water from the spring and destroyed and cut the water line.

Judge Harris informed the disputants from the bench that they both should be able to use the spring water peacefully. He said he would file a decree in the case in the near future.

Westernport Building Is Hit By Fire

Red Men's Home, Two Apartments Are Threatened

Five volunteer fire companies last night responded to a blaze which caused considerable damage to the Riverside Lunch, 132 Maryland Avenue, Westernport, and an unoccupied upstairs apartment, and threatened the building next door, including two upstairs apartments and a beauty parlor.

Threatened by the fire which was discovered about 7:12 p. m. was the home of Blackhawk Tribe 131, Improved Order of Red Men, as well as a beauty shop and apartment occupied by Mrs. Hazel Cutter and another apartment occupied by James Mills.

Fire Chief Paul Michael of Potomac Fire Company No. 2 of Westernport said the fire, which originated in a storage room to the rear of the lunch room and tavern, apparently was caused by spontaneous combustion.

Flames Spread

The flames destroyed the storage room and ate their way up the side of the building into the second floor apartment and through the roof. The interior of the tavern was damaged considerably by fire and water.

The blaze was discovered by Donald Ross, an employe of the Riverside Lunch, which is operated by William Rhodes of Riordan Road, Westernport. About the same time Robert Rosier, a trustee of the Red Men, detected smoke, saw the flames and ran upstairs to alert those occupying the apartments over the Red Men's home.

Firemen from Potomac Fire Company No. 2, Westernport, Tri-Towns Fire Company No. 1, Barton Hose Company, McCoole and Keyser responded to the fire. McCoole and Keyser volunteers returned to their stations when it was learned the fire was being brought under control.

Firemen were on the scene late last night wetting down the smoldering fire, and someone was to stand watch all night in case the fire flared up.

Apartment Empty

The apartment over the lunch room was occupied until about three weeks ago by the Albert Shoemaker family which moved to McCoole.

The damaged building is owned by Michael Decesare of McCoole and his brother, Peter, who lives in New York State.

Collector Mails 300 New Bills

Some 300 new Allegany County real estate, personal property and corporation tax bills for property substantially complete as of July 1 were mailed yesterday by Francis G. Philpot, county tax collector.

The total assessed valuation of the 300 properties involved is $1,682,470. On the basis of a $2.05 rate for half of 1963, these 300 new bills should bring the county about $17,245 in new tax revenue.

These bills all involved improvements which were in their early stages at the beginning of 1963 but were substantially completed when the second half of the year started July 1.

Finan Takes Issue With Prayer Rule

BALTIMORE (AP)—Atty. Gen. Thomas B. Finan took issue Wednesday with the Supreme Court ruling that praying and Bible reading cannot be part of the daily program in public schools.

"Despotism can govern without faith in God, but liberty never," Finan said at a luncheon of the Sons of American Revolution.

He said the high court opinion amounted to "constitutional absolutism."

"I don't believe the founders of this country ever intended that acknowledgement of God would be prohibited from public schools when they adopted the language of our constitution," Finan said.

"The founders, who were all religious men, wanted the people of this nation to choose their own religion, but prohibited, in the First Amendment, the setting up of an official specific religion for the United States."

Finan noted that other federal suits involving religion and use of the word God have been filed and may reach the Supreme Court.

He predicted the court then "may very well change its present trend toward eliminating acknowledgement of a Supreme Being."

Cabin Lodge Destroyed By Flames

Deep Creek Lake Establishment Burns To Ground

Cabin Lodge, a well-known business establishment with dining room along U. S. Route 219 on Deep Creek Lake for the past 30 years, burned to the ground early yesterday morning.

Volunteer firemen of Oakland, 10 miles south of the lodge, were called about 3 a. m. and arrived on the scene about 15 minutes later.

However, the fire had such a start that firemen were unable to save the one-story log frame building, and stood by to keep the flames from spreading to nearby buildings including a souvenir shop and motel.

The owner, Mrs. Louise Fry, lives about a mile from the destroyed building. She had insurance on the property, authorities said.

Fire Chief Harold Schell said the volunteers got their call through the sheriff's office at Oakland but when the firefighters arrived on the scene the blaze was beyond control.

They stood by and kept a nearby bottled gas tank colled off and also made certain the flames did not spread to nearby buildings. The firemen were out until about 5 a. m. and returned home.

There was no highway traffic moving at the time the fire was discovered and there was no wind, said Chief Schell.

Mrs. Fry said she and two clerks had closed the business establishment about midnight and everything was normal following a routine check of the building.

She said her husband, Edwin A. Fry, built the lodge 31 years ago and they had been running the business until his death in 1949. She continued to operate the lodge the year around, closing only on Christmas.

County Road Trucks Bids Are Accepted

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners, upon recommendation of Harry T. Skelly, superintendent of county roads, accepted the bids of the Kowell Motor Sales Inc., Frostburg, for a cargo van and four one-half-ton pickup trucks for the roads department on Tuesday.

The difference in the low bid and that of Kowell Motors for the four trucks was $73.54 per unit, and Mr. Skelly said the Ford trucks meet the specifications and are best suited for his department.

He recommended that bids for two four-wheel-drive trucks be rejected and re-advertised due to the difference in bidders' specifications on the same truck.

A letter of appreciation was received from Old Rail Post 6025, VFW, at Mt. Savage.

Commander Carl J. Neder expressed appreciation for the board's kindness in authorizing the closing and use of a portion of Columbia Avenue last month during the VFW's three-day street carnival.

An automobile belonging to the company, while parked along the southerly side of Route 135, was damaged about 12:45 p. m. January 31. The declaration states that the car was struck by an automobile owned by William O'Haver and driven by Juanita O'Haver which ran off the highway while traveling east on Route 135. The bill also charged that Garrison was guilty of reckless driving which interfered with vehicular traffic on the highway.

City Asked To Improve Water Supply

14-Point Plan Recommended For Improvement

Two public health engineers yesterday discussed with officials of the City of Cumberland a report which gives the municipal water supply a provisional rating and makes recommendations for the prompt correction of 14 deficiencies.

The report was presented at a meeting held yesterday afternoon and attended by Thomas D. McKewen and Frederick K. Pyne, public health engineers; James E. Mullis, Water Department clerk; G. Ray Light, water commissioner; C. R. Nuzum, city engineer; Herbert B. Stallings, water superintendent, and Albert R. Nixon, filter plant foreman.

During the session, the engineers discussed the report and made plans for a second meeting to be held October 9 at 10 a. m. in City Hall.

Expires January 1

The report noted that the Cumberland municipal water supply was given a provisional classification on January 1, 1963, to expire January 1, 1964, adding "It is anticipated that within a year a program will have been inaugurated whereby the deficiencies noted herein have been corrected or are in the process of being corrected."

The 14 deficiencies noted, along with recommendations follow:

1. The City of Cumberland has no active plumbing control program and no program for the systematic inspection, detection and removal of existing cross-connections or back-flow and back-siphonage possibilities in the distribution system. It anticipated that definite progress toward a working plumbing control system will be made during the provisional period.

Ask Analyses

2. There is no information on the concentration of most of those chemical substances with listed limits in the U.S.P.H.S. drinking water standards. It was recommended that analyses be made at intervals set by the State Health Department.

3. The Maryland Health Department is exploring the possibility of establishing a certification program for water plant bacteriological laboratories. Until the program is developed, recommendations attached to the report should be used as a guide for laboratory equipment and technique.

4. It is recommended that the City of Cumberland upgrade the requirements for the position of water plant operator. If not already in existence, definite position qualifications and job descriptions should be established and adhered to. It was also recommended that the plant operator attend courses offered by health and water agencies.

Urge Engineer

5. It appears from survey findings that there is a definite need for the creation of a supervisory position employing the full-time services of an individual well-rounded in water treatment and distribution maintenance. It is recommended that the city hire a full-time water supply engineer and that he be given authority and responsibility for the supervision of water collection, treatment and distribution.

6. Only one 36-inch line supplies water to the treatment plant. The gatehouse intake valves on this line cannot be used to effectively cut off the flow of the raw water to the plant.

City authorities should consider the consequences of a rupture in this single raw water feedline. Not only will a great deal of water be lost because of inoperable valves but the plant and the city would be without water until the line could be repaired or replaced.

It was recommended that immediate plans be made to provide an alternate raw water line from Lake Gordon to the treatment plant and to begin the immediate replacement or repair of the valves in the Lake Gordon gatehouse.

Repairs Urged

7. Noting there was no record of recent ground of elevated water storage reservoirs, the report recommended that all storage facilities be inspected and repaired this year.

8. Both the Fort Hall and Ridgedale reservoirs are open water storage facilities. It recommended that both be abandoned, replaced or renovated and covered, and that in the meantime, the water from the reservoirs be automatically rechlorinated.

9. It appears that 12 of the water plant filters need repairs or replacement of wash water valves and underdrain collection laterals. It was recommended that all filter underdrains and valves be inspected and that repairs, as indicated, be made.

10. Water plant meters, gauges and chemical feed equipment have not been calibrated recently. It was recommended that such calibrations be made and up-to-date calibration charts be kept on hand.

11. The plant has only one wash water pump. It is recommended that long-range planning include providing an alternate wash water pump.

Alternates Urged

12. No alternate chemical feed equipment is provided. It was rec-

Federal Grand Jury Action Awaited

James Allen Lowery of 707 Baker Street waived his right to a preliminary hearing Tuesday before U. S. Commissioner James Alfred Avirett. He then was released under bond.

The temporary carrier had been employed at the Post Office several months. He was a former student at Fort Hill High School and was a veteran of Navy service.

Lowery was charged specifically Monday with embezzling $6.40 from a letter which had been enclosed in an envelope addressed to the former First National Bank and Trust Company. Mr. Grapes identified the six $1 bills and 40 cents in change by markings he had placed on them himself.

Circulation At Library Totals 20,352 In August

The Allegany County Library had an August circulation of 20,352 books but Rollin P. Marquis said that total for his first month as librarian was 668 less than the 21,020 volumes of August 1962.

It was generally assumed that the arrival of a new librarian to succeed Miss Mary G. Walsh who retired, would tend to focus more attention on the library and consequently provide a stimulus to circulation.

August circulation was spotty. Three of the branches reported declines while the other three circulated more books last month than in August a year ago.

The main library in Cumberland was the leader with an August circulation of 6,202 books but that was far below the 7,478 books of the previous August.

Second in circulation last month was the bookmobile, with 4,200 but that was 461 fewer books than August a year ago.

Library branches at Frostburg, LaVale and Penn Avenue all reported increased circulation last month. Frostburg advanced from 3,391 in August 1962 to 3,709; LaVale was up from 1,716 to 2,453 and Penn Avenue jumped from 1,558 to 2,252. In last place was the Westernport library with an August circulation of 1,536 compared with 2,216 in August 1962.

More than half of the books circulated last month were juvenile fiction. There were 10,222 in that classification. Other totals last month include 4,403 adult fiction, 3,504 juvenile non-fiction and 2,223 adult non-fiction.

There were 321 new book borrowers registered in August. They included 188 at the main library, 49 at Frostburg, 38 at the bookmobile, 35 at LaVale and 11 at Westernport.

Some 439 magazines were circulated out of three libraries. They included 183 from Penn Avenue, 156 from the main library and 100 from Frostburg.

Both Neighbors Should Use Spring Water

Judge Harris To File Decree

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday informed McCoole neighbors involved in a dispute over the right to use water from the so-called "Chicken House" spring that they both should be able to use the water.

Calvin A. Landis and Erma L. Landis, his wife, brought the equity action against Charles H. Winkler and Florence A. Winkler, his wife. All are from McCoole. The Landises said that the deed for the service station lot they acquired November 9, 1956, carried a covenant which provided that they could get their water for this lot from a spring on adjoining property.

The Winklers obtained title to the adjoining property by deed dated October 5, 1959. It was charged in the bill of complaint that the Winklers refused to allow the Landises to use water from the spring and destroyed and cut the water line.

The plaintiffs seek an injunction to restrain the defendants from interfering with and molesting the water line to the spring.

Judge Harris informed the disputants from the bench that they both should be able to use the spring water peacefully. He said he would file a decree in the case in the near future.

Red Men's Home, Two Apartments Are Threatened

Five volunteer fire companies last night responded to a blaze which caused considerable damage to the Riverside Lunch, 132 Maryland Avenue, Westernport, and an unoccupied upstairs apartment, and threatened the building next door, including two upstairs apartments and a beauty parlor.

Threatened by the fire which was discovered about 7:12 p. m. was the home of Blackhawk Tribe 131, Improved Order of Red Men, as well as a beauty shop and apartment occupied by Mrs. Hazel Cutter and another apartment occupied by James Mills.

Fire Chief Paul Michael of Potomac Fire Company No. 2 of Westernport said the fire, which originated in a storage room to the rear of the lunch room and tavern, apparently was caused by spontaneous combustion.

Flames Spread

The flames destroyed the storage room and ate their way up the side of the building into the second floor apartment and through the roof. The interior of the tavern was damaged considerably by fire and water.

The blaze was discovered by Donald Ross, an employe of the Riverside Lunch, which is operated by William Rhodes of Riordan Road, Westernport. About the same time Robert Rosier, a trustee of the Red Men, detected smoke, saw the flames and ran upstairs to alert those occupying the apartments over the Red Men's home.

Firemen from Potomac Fire Company No. 2, Westernport, Tri-Towns Fire Company No. 1, Barton Hose Company, McCoole and Keyser responded to the fire. McCoole and Keyser volunteers returned to their stations when it was learned the fire was being brought under control.

Firemen were on the scene late last night wetting down the smoldering fire, and someone was to stand watch all night in case the fire flared up.

Apartment Empty

The apartment over the lunch room was occupied until about three weeks ago by the Albert Shoemaker family which moved to McCoole.

The damaged building is owned by Michael Decesare of McCoole and his brother, Peter, who lives in New York State.
